On information furnished the secret service operatives, they later arrested Seth Thomas, alleged to be a partner of Hoppis, who was caught at his home, 756 San Jose avenue.

"I do not believe that very much counterfeit coin was circulated by Hoppis," declared Secret Service Agent Moffitt.

"His work is amateurish, and we would certainly have been on his trail had he disposed of much bad coin. Embonpoint Is Taboo in Next Partheneia Cast

Not any and every woman student in the university can find a place this year in the cast of the Partheneia masque at the University of California. With as much care as the spear carriers are chosen for a musical comedy will the lassies who play in the university women's annual spring masque be selected. Announcement was made this morning by Miss Vinnie Robinson, who is one of the leaders in the arrangements, of what is to be demanded of the players.

She who plays Queen Elizabeth must be tall and slender, and the applicant with red hair will receive preference. Merrywit may be of average height, but must also be slender. Mystic Stranger must be tall, but "not necessarily slender." Humphrey must be "tall and rather slender, masculine voice and able to ride astride and manage a horse." Except for the chorus of serving women, who may be of "any height and build," most of the other players must be slender. Embonpoint is taboo in this cast.

Miss Mary Van Orden wrote the Partheneia which was chosen for this year, entitling it "The Queen's Masque." Its story details a competition held before the virgin queen, the successful competitor of which produces her offering before the court. Though no definite date has been set for the production, it will take place probably the second week in April in the glade near the Faculty Club.

WOMAN IS KILLED BY JITNEY

Identity of Well Dressed Victim Remains Mystery

Monogram Is the Only Clew; Dies in Hospital

"C. N.," engraved in monogram on a gold signet ring, is one of the most tangible clews with which the police and morgue officials are working today in hopes of establishing the identity of the tall, well-dressed and apparently refined young woman who died at the emergency hospital at 1 o'clock this morning after being struck down by a jitney bus driven by Jack Summers, 368 Watt street, last evening at Twenty-second and Broadway.

The young woman was crossing Broadway from the west side of the street. The bus was loaded with passengers and driving north. Summers saw the woman and endeavored to stop his car, but it skidded on the wet pavement and the mud guards on the front of the auto struck her and flung her to the pavement. She was picked up and rushed to the hospital, but did not regain consciousness and her death resulted from a fractured skull.

CARRIED $165.

In a rudely-fashioned cloth belt which she wore about her waist the deceased carried $165 in gold and greenbacks. She also carried a Hampton watch and long gold neck chain. The watch case bore the number 3528954 and the works 1162144. There was no handbag nor purse found, although if one had been carried it is believed that is might have been cast aside at the time she was struck.

The woman was neatly dressed in a new brown suit and wore a black plush turban hat, with a black feather. She had on a white waist, high top black buttoned shoes and a new pair of sandal rubbers. She wore a black silk petticoat.

The unidentified woman had dark hair, was 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighed about 130 pounds. She was about 30 years of age. Her eyes were brown.

As the result of the accident which caused the young woman's death her clothing was torn almost to shreds. Beyond the wound upon her head the victim apparently sustained no broken bones. Her skull was badly fractured at the base.

John Summers, driver of the jitney bus that ran down the woman, came to the police station to surrender himself last night. The police decided that they would not book him and that he should be permitted his freedom until the coroner's jury shall have had time to bring in a verdict as to the death of the woman. Summers gave his address as 3607 Watts street. He declared he had made every effort to avoid the accident.

Estate of John Martin Settled

In a decree of settlement of accounts and final distribution of the estate of John Martin recorded here today, is wound up the financial affairs of the estate inherited by Isabella J. Martin and her putative son, John R. Martin. In addition to their equal interests in property at Twenty-first and West streets, where Mrs. Marin plotted the destruction of Superior Judge Ogden's home, there is considerable mining and other stock. The stock includes ten shares of the capital stock of the Trinity and Shasta Telephone and Telegraph Company; 1000 shares of capital stock in the Trinity Quicksilver Mining Company and property owned by the Taggart Quicksilver Mining Company in the Cinnabar district. The value of the stocks is not given. The decree was issued by Superior Judge J. E. Barber of Shasta county. John Martin died in 1892 and left an estate valued at $100,000, most of which was left to Mrs. Martin, who is now confined in the Napa Insane Asylum. "Baby John" Martin is engaged in mining in Trinity county.

Supreme Court Delays Frank Case Argument

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The Supreme Court today advanced the Leo M. Frank habeas corpus appeal for oral argument to February 23, in accordance with the joint request of Frank's counsel and attorneys for the state of Georgia. Frank is under conviction for the murder of Mary Phagan, a factory girl.

Aged Man, Grateful, Leaves Money for County Infirmary

Gratitude of an aged and friendless man who received treatment at the County Infirmary a short time ago will provide the aged inmates of the institution with several pleasures. A. J. Johnson, an aged man, treated there during a serious illness some time ago, and later inheriting a fortune on the death of a rich relative, has turned over to Dr. C. A. Wills, the superintendent, $800, to be spent for the good of the inmates. Dr. Willis this morning applied to the county supervisors for permission to spend this and other money received from an insurance company, in payment for care of an inmate injured in an accident, in purchasing a motion picture machine for the hospital's assembly room, a small automobile in which aged and infirm patients may be given rides, and several other comforts.

PRENTICE AND WIFE IN COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1. — Although she was knocked down and painfully hurt by an automobile, Mrs. John A. Prentice hurried but little abashed to Police Judge Sullivan's court this morning to stand beside her husband when he was brought forward to answer to three felony charges which had been perferred against him.

When the attorney and clubman was brought forth from the dock, Mrs. Prentice, who had been whispering to him through the bars, stood by his side, while his attorney, Louis V. Crowley, asked for a continuance until tomorrow. Although Prentice was booked on the charges on Saturday night, no complains have yet been sworn to against him, and it is expected that these will be on file before tomorrow. Following the brief court proceedings, Prentice was removed to the city prison, where his wife and lawyer consulted with him.

Mrs. Prentice was leaving a car at Third and Market when she was struck by a jitney bus, severely bruised and her clothes smeared with mud from contact with the wet pavement.

LOYAL TO HIM.

"I have lived a thousand years since Saturday night," she said, as with one arm on her husband's shoulder she stood in the crowded courtrom. "I intend to stay loyally by my husband. I believe he is innocent. I believe a wife's duty is to be brave

Attorney Leaves His Fortune to Student

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Bruce C. Basford, a student at the University of California, will receive a legacy of $150,000 from the estate of his guardian, Roger Johnson, as the result of the provisions of a will filed for probate in the superior court today. Johnson, a well-known local attorney, who died recently, had for years acted as parent and advisor for Basford, and in leaving him his entire estate, testifies to his fondness for his ward.

In his will, Johnson declares that he left his property to Basford instead of his brothers and sisters because they are all well-to-do and have plenty of money of their own.

Californian Admits $40,000 Robberies

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—Ernest J. Shandan, said to be from San Diego, Cal., arrested here on a charge of larceny in New York, admitted today that he had committed robberies in New York which netted him about $40,000, according to the police. Shandan said, according to the police, that his arrest was brought about by a woman. He had made gifts to two women and one of them, the police said, became jealous and told of his movements.

Daring "U-21" Stands Guard Off Ports of Kingdom

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—Reports to the Overseas News Agency from Paris say that the French torpedo boat 219 has been sunk off Nieuport, Belgium.

It is reported also through the same source that German airships have succeeded in throwing some bombs on the French town of Bailleul, nine miles east of Mazebrouck, and near the Belgian frontier.

PATROLS ENGLISH SEA.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 1, 2:28 p. m.—A message received here this afternoon from Southport reports that a German submarine, supposedly the U-21, was seen off there early this morning.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 1, by wireless to Sayville.—Exploits of the German submarine U-21 in the Irish sea have awakened a lively satisfaction in Germany and they are generally looked upon as inaugurating a serious campaign of submarine warfare on British commerce. The demonstration that German submarines can operate on the west coast of England is considered of utmost importance, German naval critics believing it is likely to make the British policy of starving out Germany recoil on Great Britain.

LLOYDS RAISE RATES.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 1, 1:30 p. m.—The German submarine raid in the Irish sea caused a commotion at Lloyds and insurance rates stiffened generally. The Atlantic rate is ordinarily $1.25 per cent, but the underwriters are now asking $2.50, and in some cases $3.75. What little business is being transacted, however, is believed to be at the lower figure.

ALL FRANCE INDIGNANT.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—The sinking of the British steamer Tokomaru in the English channel off Havre by a German submarine, said to have been done without previous warning to enable the crew to escape, has provoked an outburst of indignation in the French press. All refer to the interview credited to Admiral von Tirpitz, the commander-in-chief of the German naval forces, in which a

Bundy Is Sentenced Again to Be Hanged

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—Louis Bundy, a white youth, and Burr Harris, a negro, whose appeals for new trials served only to carry them past the date originally set for their execution, were re-sentenced to death today by Judge Frank R. Willis, in the criminal department of the Superior Court. They will be hanged April 23. Harris at Folsom and Bundy at San Quentin.

Court Clerk Ends Life; Cuts Wrists

CINCINNATI, Feb. 1. — Frank Loveland, clerk of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, committed suicide by cutting his throat and wrists at his home here today. Ill-health is believed to have been the cause.

GERMANS MASS ATTACK AGAINST POLISH CAPITAL

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, via London, Feb. 1.—Russian military authorities believe Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is planning another thrust at Warsaw, and that, in fact, he already is developing a general attack along the Warsaw front. Especial significance is attached to the violence with which the Germans are resuming their attacks in the Wyszogrod district at the junction of Bzura and Vistula rivers and further south near Bolimow.

In East Prussia the Russians are gradually extending their lines northward. The most recent development is the raid across the frontier north of Tilsit, where are well-filled German granaries.

Detached engagements at various points in the mountains and among the foothills southward are intended by the Russians to frustrate the evident intention of the Austrians to carry the fight to the open plains of the upper San.

The occupation by the Russians of Tabriz, while of little importance stragetically, is considered of significance here, on the theory that it will impair Turco-German prestige in Persia. The operations in the campaign against Turkey, according to statements today, are on the Turkish and Persian soil.

Occupation of Tabriz was preceded by a battle at Sophian, several miles northwest of the city, which was defended by Kurds. They were attacked by Cossacks, who charged repeatedly, engaging the Kurds hand to hand. The Turks retreated toward Maragha, fifteen miles away.

KAISER HOLDS OFFENSIVE

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Heavy fighting has been resumed along the Warsaw front in Poland after a long period of comparative inactivity. An official communication from Petrograd describes battles along the Vistula, near Borjimow, where, it is said, the Germans were dislodged with bayonets from trenches they had captured, two companies of their soldiers being almost annihilated. The Germans later undertook an attack on the Russian advance trenches and gained one position.

The view that Germany has entered definitely on a policy of destroying England's maritime commerce by the use of submarines is corroborated by German newspapers which speak of the sinking of British merchantmen during the past few days as a course of action, which it is hoped will produce striking results. Five vesseis have been torpedoed; three in the Irish Sea and two in the English channel.

The Berlin official report of today asserts that the Germans have made progress in northern and central Poland.

In France and Belgium, as is shown by the French and German reports, there was no important fighting yesterday.

The Overseas News Agency of Berlin announced that reports had been received from Paris that a French torpedo boat had been sunk off the Belgian coast.

GREEK ARMY AIDS SERVIA

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—A dispatch to the Balkan Agency from Athens says: "Greece, with all her forces, will come to the aid of Servia in every fresh invasion of Servia by the Austro-German armies. The greatest activity prevails now in military quarters."

RUSSIAN PORT IS SHELLED

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—Official dispatches received in Berlin today from Constantinople announce that the Turkish fleet on January 26th successfully shelled a Russian military place on the west coast of the Black Sea.

COMBAT AT BRITAIN'S DOOR

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 1, 12:20 p. m.—Once again British interest in military activities on the continent has been overshadowed momentarily by the fact that Germany has brought the combat to Great Britain's front door. What is regarded here as the new German policy of a submarine blockade of British ports is temporarily effectually, at least in the case of Belfast, where sailings have been suspended. Liverpool authorities, however, announce that no interruption in the trade of that port is contemplated.

The two British merchant steamers torpedoed by Germans off Havre are the largest commercial vessels that have as yet fallen victims to German submarines; the three sunk in the Irish sea were small coasters.

Belief expressed yesterday that the raider could not remain for more than a few hours in waters so far removed from his base has been exploded by news that the mail steamer Leinster encountered a German submarine off Dublin on Saturday, twenty-four hours after the sinking of the three coasters. Therefore, it would seem probable that the raider renewed his supplies of food and fuel from the coaster Linda Blanche before sending her to the bottom.

Reports of Russian operations over a vast area continue to come from the continent. The Russian occupation of Tabriz, in Persia, has been confirmed, and the Russian army, which pushed the Turks out of this provincial country of Persia, after their brief stay there, is sweeping to the south and west.

In the Carpathians sharp fighting took place Sunday in the forests where the Russians are striving to retain command of the passes which keep the way open behind. Berlin says the situation in all parts of the Carpathian theater of war is favorable.

In France and Flanders the situation shows no striking change, although hard fighting has continued for twenty-four hours near LaBassee and in the Argonne.

The allied armies will be largely reinforced in the next fortnight.

The resignation of George Lebour, member of the Reichstag and Social-Democrat leader from the legislative committee of the Socialist faction in the Reichstag, has given rise to rumors of a split in the German Socialist party.

GERMANS RENEW ATTACKS

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y., Feb. 1.—The official statement issued today by the German general army headquarters says: "To the south-west of Mlawa, northwest of the river Vistula (northern Poland), the Russians were driven out of some places which they had occupied the day before. On the German front (central Poland), south of the Vistula, the Germans gained further ground. To the south of the Pilica river (Russian Poland) the German attacks were renewed."

J. P. MORGAN QUIZZED BY BOARD

He Testifies to Holdings Before Industrial Relations Commission.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—J. P. Morgan made his first appearance as a public hearing as a spokesman for the vast financial interests of the Morgan company this afternoon. Mr. Morgan took the stand in the investigation now in its third week, which is being conducted here by the federal commission on industrial relations into the great philanthropic foundations and the causes of industrial unrest. He qualified as a witness at the conclusion of the testimony of John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Mr. Morgan was asked to describe his connection with corporations. He named those of which he was a director, but said he was unable to recall the full list of those in which he held stock as they were too many.

He was a director, he said, of the International Mercantile Marine Company, but did not know the number of its employes. Neither was he able to tell the number of men employed by the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, the United States Steel Corporation or the Pullman Company, in all of which he is a director.

The only reports which he received from those companies were in relation, he said, to their financial condition and prospects. He said that he always tried to attend the meetings of the directors of the corporation with which he was connected.

Frequently other directors came to his office and talked over with him various matters concerning affairs of the companies.

"I am on tap," said Mr. Morgan.

NOT VISITED PLANTS.

During the last year, the witness said, he had not inspected any industrial plants, although during the last five years he had inspected various steel plants.

"I have not inspected the Northern Pacific Railroad," said Mr. Morgan, with a chuckle, "but I have traveled on some of the ships owned by the International Mercantile Marine."

"To what extent are stockholders in a corporation responsible for the labor conditions in that corporation?" Chairman Walsh asked.

"I do not think a stockholder has any responsibility," Mr. Morgan replied.

"What is the responsibilty of a director for the conditions among the laborers?"

"The directors are not at all responsible, I should say."

"Who is responsible?"

MITCHELL TESTIFIES.

John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, and now a member of the State Workmen's Compensation Commission, said that the Rockefeller plan of settling labor troubles in Colorado was "simply absurd."

"No good can come out of such a plan," said he. "The unorganized men can be depended upon to select to represent them only whom the bosses want. They may not be directly influenced to do this; but there will be an indirect influence which they cannot resist.

"We have undergone such a thing before. The slogan 'we might as well starve idle as starve working' will naturally be raised again just as it was during 1900 in the Anthracite fields."

Mr. Mitchell's reference was to the plan of collective bargaining suggested to the Rockefeller interests by W. L. MacKenzie King, former commissioner of labor of Canada, who was recently employed by the Rockefeller foundation to conduct an investigation into industrial relations.

LEGISLATIVE BENEFITS.

Mr. Mitchell thought the referendum and recall were of advantage to labor.

Speaking of compensation for workingmen, Mr. Mitchell said it was effective in more ways than one.

"When," said he, "it costs more to kill a man than it does to save him, the employers will save their workers."

Mr. Mitchell said that where men are unorganized the death rate is higher and the wage rate lower than where organization exists.

He said he did not know just how much the "partial control" of financial interests over the industries had affected the workers. It, however, appeared, he said, that the financial institutions were able to "control the situation." He cited as an example the settlement of the anthracite strike of 1902, when J. P. Morgan & Co. suggested a satisfactory solution, after one offered by the railroads had been turned down.

Referring to wages in the Pennsylvania anthracite region, he said they were about forty per cent higher now than before the settlement of the strike.

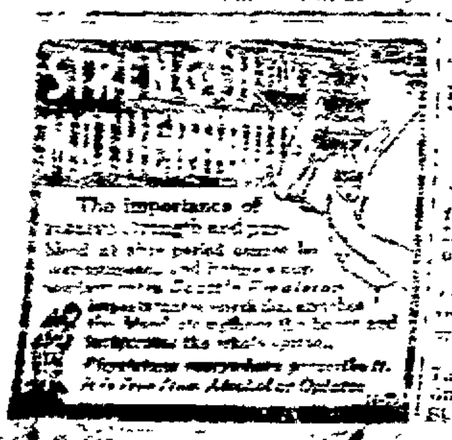

NO CHARITY WANTED.

"Working people do not want benefactions or charity. They want independence and the right to bargain collectively," he said.

Mr. Mitchell said he believed certain improvements had resulted in bettering the condition of the workers. As an example he pointed to the United States Steel Corporation.

"On the other hand," Mr. Mitchell continued, "the great combinations have done much harm to the workingmen. For instance, many of the big corporations refuse to treat with organized labor. This is a great mistake."

Mr. Mitchell said that it was the [illegible] was permitted to finish the reading of testimony he had not concluded while on the stand Saturday, but which had been placed in the record. In this he had accused The Associated Press of partiality to the capitalistic side of labor controversies in the handling of news.

CRITICISES A. P.

"I do not believe," said Mr. Pinchot, after finishing the statement, "that the Associated Press will carry on its wire dispatches concerning my testimony here about it. There is a by-law in the Associated Press which provides that any member printing news derogatory to the Associated Press will be disciplined and is subject to losing its franchise."

Commissioner Walsh asked the witness if he knew of any instance of a member of the Associated Press being disciplined for the violation of the alleged by-law. Mr. Pinchot replied that Mr. McCormick, editor of the Chicago Tribune, had been so disciplined some years ago. The commissioner then asked the witness if he knew of any public record of such a by-law. To this Mr. Pinchot replied that last year Clarence Shearn, in filing a complaint against the Associated Press in behalf of the New York Sun, had included the alleged by-law in the papers.

The witness said that he himself had a copy of the by-law. After being asked by the commissioner to produce it, he was excused.

and optimistic regarding any trouble like this that may come to her husband. I don't know anything about Mr. Prentice's business, but I do know how good he has been to me. I've only been in his office once, but I believe him to be honest, and I think that everything will be straightened out just as he says it will."

Mrs. Prentice has regained much of her composure, although tears glistened occasionally in her eyes, and her smile was a sad one. Her hysteria of Saturday night had passed and she had evidently been prevailed upon to look on the bright side of things.

PRENTICE IS CALM.

Prentice, retaining his composure, and smiling in the midst of what would seem to be insurmountable difficulties, is being accused right and left of transactions which do not bear the light of day. So far, only three charges have been lodged against Prentice, one accusing him of drawing a check on a bank in which he had no funds, and two others alleging the obtaining of money under false pretences.

This morning, after spending a somewhat restless night in the city prison, the attorney was taken before Police Judge Sullivan, to whose court the cases were assigned. It is believed that, following investigation of the police, further accusations will be made.

Prentice, besides drawing the alleged $7500 check on the National Bank of Jamestown, which was returned marked "No funds," is said to have victimized Jacob J. Rauer of a local collection agency out of $35,000. Nevertheless, Rauer has declared he will not prosecute, as he has received large sums and several assignments by way of restitution.

CHARGES ACCUMULATE.

Among the other charges which are being made against Prentice are that he assigned to J. M. Duke, a real estate man, in the Merchants' Exchange building, a violin which he claimed to be worth $10,000 as security for a loan. The instrument has been attached, but its value has not been ascertained. It may be that Duke will find his security intact, but as it is charged that a ring given to Rauer containing a ruby and said by Prentice to be worth $7500, proved to be a clever imitation valued at $75, Duke's chances of recovering his money are believed to be slim.

A number of citizens of Porterville have about $15,000 invested in the "If I Can" mine at Jamestown. They say they have had trouble with Prentice over an alleged illegal assessment.

Mrs. A. J. Del Isle of Houston, Tex., claims Prentice owes her $300 which he borrowed from her husband.

Mulcahy Placed on Trial for Assault

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Richard E. Mulcahy, western representative of Hutton & Co., stock brokers of New York, residing at the St. Francis Hotel, was placed on trial this afternoon before Police Judge Oppenheim on a charge of assault to do great bodily harm. The accusation grows out of a fracas in the lobby of the St. Francis on January 2, when Mulcahy broke his cane over the head of Charles H. Marshal, financial writer and editor, who, with his wife, Mrs. Carolyn Marshal, had just left the Saturday afternoon dansant.

Mrs. Marshal swore to the complaint resulting in Mulcahy's arrest. A story of a financial transaction resulting from the defalcation of Chas. Baker, assistant cashier of the Crocker National Bank, published in a weekly magazine led to the trouble between the two men.

"Suicide" Is Verdict in Mysterious Death

By Associated Press.

REDDING, Feb. 1.—A coroner's jury decided today that John Armanino committed suicide by battering out his own brains with a hatchet. How he could have dealt himself so many and such severe blows on the head without losing consciousness the jury did not attempt to explain. Armanino was found dead in his cabin near Sisson, the hatchet beside him. It was known that he had been failing mentally for months.

PRESIDENT TO MEET MAGNATE

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Continuing his plan of getting at first hand information about conditions from leading business men, President Wilson on Wednesday will see E. B. Thomas of New York, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Within the last few months the President has talked with the representatives of many railroads, banking institutions and industrial corporations.

TO BUILD ON PROTESTED SITE

Woodyard Ordinance Passed to Final Reading Makes First Appropriation.

The city council today settled the woodyard controversy by giving final reading to the ordinance appropriating $1000 as the first payment on the property, and accepting the contract to purchase the property of A. Livingstone in Eighth street, east of Harrison. In so doing, the commissioners overruled the protest presented some days ago against placing the woodyard [illegible] at this location.

The council also gave final passage to the ordinance appropriating $7000 to erect a two-story brick building on the site. The plans will be drawn immediately for the building, and it is estimated that it can be ready for occupancy in less than a month.

The commissioners considered a score of other sites offered in the past few weeks, but found none of them suitable. Some were in locations where the protests would have been legitimate on the ground that they were actually residential in character. Other sites were too far removed from the district in which the unemployed naturally congregate. In other cases the prices were too high, the terms unreasonable, or the site too small in area.

The site purchased is on the north side of Eighth, 75 feet east of Harrison. It is 75x125 feet in area. There will be room for a substantial brick building, with reading-room in the front on the lower floor, eating-room, kitchen and washroom at the rear, and dormitories on the second floor. The woodyard where the men will be given work will be behind.

The ordinances were passed by the affirmative votes of Mayor Mott and Commissioners Anderson and Turner. Commissioner W. J. Baccus was absent. Commissioner John Forrest voted against the purchase of the site and was excused from voting on the appropriation of money for the building.

The woodyard directors have received over 125 applications from men of family in Oakland who are out of work and in needy circumstances, whose rent is unpaid and who have no food in the house. The applications have been investigated by the police and have been found bona fide. The men will be provided for as far as possible from the appropriation of $2000 recently made by the city council.

Farmers Blamed for High Cost of Living

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1.—The "holding-out" tactics of Aemrican farmers was blamed for the high cost of living by Frank B. Connolly of San Francisco, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers, in an address here. The government should cease its investigation of grocers and turn such attention to farmers instead, he said. "Millers are offering $1 40 a bushel for wheat and are able to get very little of it," he continued, "although the farmers' granaries and elevators are bulging with vast supplies.

"The farmer is the government's pet. He was the first to be exempted from the new Clayton anti-trust bill, and it would be impossible to punish him under the anti-trust laws, if it should be proven that there is an agreement to hold wheat."

RAIN! NOTHING BUT RAIN IN SIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Rain, rain, rain. Nothing but rain can be observed on the horizon, according to Forecaster G. H. Willson of the United States Weather Bureau, and a new storm which seized California in its grip early Sunday morning has spread over the entire Pacific Slope. San Francisco received the heaviest and steadiest rain of the year for the 24 hours ending at 5 o'clock this morning. The rain gauge showed 1.09 inches, while Oakland for the same period received but .82.

The showers were heaviest in the upper Sacramento valley and along the rim of the coast line. The rain did not extend south of the Tehachipi mountains, and Los Angeles and San Diego enjoyed fine weather yesterday. The prediction is for an extending of the rain into the southern country today.

The bar at Humboldt bay has also been rough and considerable delay to shipping has resulted.

The heavy rains seem likely to continue at least today and tonight. Reports from the various stations in California show the following rainfall during the past 24 hours:

Oroville	1.80
Point Reyes	1.29
Red Bluff	1.18
Tamalpais	1.15
Eureka	1.68
San Francisco	1.09
Oakland	.84
San Luis Obispo	.12
Fresno	.24

SEA BECOMING CALMER.

The bar at the Golden Gate, which was breaking badly during the 24 hours previous, became somewhat calmer at noon, and by that hour all of the coasters waiting to enter or leave port were able to proceed.

Captain Murray of the schooner Annie Johnson reported heavy seas, which caused considerable damage to his vessel late Saturday night. He was towed in yesterday with his vessel minus a gaff and several sails. He had anchored for 24 hours about 10 miles off port.

DAMAGE FROM STORM.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Telegraph and telephone companies were hampered today by a sleet storm, which extended widely in all directions from Chicago. Ice-coated wires broke and communication to many cities was cut off.

Railroads were also hampered by the storm, which in the vicinity of Chicago was principally rain. Street traffic was difficult for pedestrians because of the slippery walks. Many minor injuries were reported to the police.

STORM SUBSIDES.

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—Calm and sunshine yesterday replaced the rain and wind, which continued from Wednesday night until early Saturdays. High tide at the beach towns from Santa Monica down the coast to Balboa, which it was feared would increase the serious damage done to shipping and amusement piers, subsided without doing damage.

Most of the pools spotting the surrounding country for three days have vanished.

All over Southern California the heavy rains are reported to have caused little damage and much good.

WIND DOES DAMAGE.

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 1. — Eastern Texas and parts of Arkansas and Oklahoma yesterday suffered from a severe windstorm, which in many localities assumed the nature of a tornado. No one was killed, so far as is learned, but many minor injuries were reported. Traffic and communication lines have been hampered.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 1.—Moderation of the elements has caused a cessation of damage over the state, and the danger of serious loss by floods has diminished. The rise of rivers has been checked. Lakes formed by the rain which began falling Wednesday have nearly all disappeared.

FLOOD THREATENED.

SETTING ASIDE SHIP BILL, DEMAND

Senator Clark Startles His Colleagues by Presenting Motion.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Senator Clarke of Arkansas, Democrat, and president pro tempore of the Senate, startled his colleagues late today by announcing that the Senate should proceed to the consideration of other business and moving that the government ship purchase bill be recommitted to the commerce committee for revision.

In making his motion Senator Stone said he wanted the Senate to adjourn, to the end that the Democrats may have a conference and that the Republicans and their allies a caucus.

The motion to adjourn was voted down, 49 to 36, whereupon Senator Stone moved to lay Senator Clarke's motion to recommit the bill on the table. Senator Stone's motion to table was defeated, 44 to 42. Democrats opposed to the shipping bill again voting with the Republicans.

The Democrats who voted with the Republicans to overrule the chair were Senators Bankhead, Bryan, Camden, Clarke of Arkansas, Hardwick, Hitchcock, O'Gorman, Smith of Georgia and Vardaman.

Senator Fletcher made a point of order against the motion on the ground that the yeas and nays already had been ordered on the caucus substitute for the ship bill and was sustained by Vice-President Marshall. Senator Clarke appealed from the decision and a roll call was ordered on the appeal.

REPUBLICANS ASSAILED.

The chair was overruled by a vote of 46 to 37.

This made the Clarke motion in order, whereupon Senator Stone moved that the Senate adjourn, and another roll call was ordered.

Senator Reed then took the floor and assailed the Democrats who had voted with the Republicans.

"I wonder if our old friend, the shipping trust, is to have an opportunity tomorrow morning to congratulate itself, as it has done many times in the past," he said. "It has been very busy circulating briefs among the members of the Senate."

Senator William Alden Smith, during the debate today, arraigned the administration for "extravagance" and, under questions by Senator Bristow, turned to Mexican affairs. He reiterated his previous charge that American troops were ordered out of Vera Cruz by Carranza and asserted the official records of the state department would show it.

CRITICISES AGENTS.

"There has not been an emissary sent by this government to Mexico City in the last two years who has not fallen squarely into the arms of Henry Clay Pierce and the Waters-Pierce Oil Company," said he.

No government in Mexico has been recognized by foreign nations since Huerta, he said, because of the "spleen, pique, malice and madness of our government."

As the day wore on, with Senator Smith holding the floor, the sergeant-at-arms and his deputies rounded up absentees and eighty-nine Senators assembled, the largest number present at any time during the session.

Late in the day Senator Smith switched to a discussion of the shipping bill, declaring there was a well-organized propaganda among appointees and probable appointees of the President in favor of the bill.

Preparations for continuing the siege were apparent at the outset. Both sides arranged for relays of speakers throughout the day and night and tomorrow. The Senate assembled at 10 o'clock, but so many Senators were late it was more than a half hour before a quorum was present.

"We propose to keep the Senate in continuous session," declared Majority Leader Kern.

ENLIGHTEN REPUBLICANS.

Senator Stone from the Democratic side announced he proposed to give the Republicans some enlightenment tomorrow if he could find an opportunity "to wedge in on the Republican speeches."

Prospects of a closure rule, if the relentless opposition of Republicans should continue, were being discussed in Democratic circles.

When Senator Smith of Michigan resumed his speech Senator Walsh challenged his statement that there were 500,000 unemployed men in New York City.

"In the last election," said Senator Walsh, "the total vote in the city for governor was 481,000 odd, so the Senator means to say that there are more unemployed in the city of New York than there are voters."

Senator Smith insisted his figures included aliens, unnaturalized citizens and tramps from other states as well as citizens of the city. He declared there were 150,000 unemployed in Chicago.

The White House got tangible evidence of activity of the Democrats when a request arrived for permission to install cots in the President's room for Democratic Senators to keep near the chamber day and night for a roll call. The President read[illegible] agreed.

Senators Sherman, Weeks, Pa[illegible] and others kept up a running fire [illegible] questions with the Michigan Sen[illegible] and the shipping bill was entirely [illegible] nored in the argument.

WAR BEGINS ON BRITISH TRADE

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via Amsterdam and London, Feb. 1, 9:45 a. m.—The German newspapers comment extensively on the German submarine raid in British home waters.

"We hope the commercial war now taken up by German submarines in British home waters," says the Tages Zeitung, "will strike at the root of British trans-oceanic trade."

Captain Persius, the naval expert of the Berliner Tageblatt, has this to say of the event in his paper.

"Especially remarkable is the theater of new action. Hitherto the most advanced point where our submarines displayed activity was in the westerly outlet of the channel, but henceforward the English merchant navigation will have to reckon with other German submarine dangers which it can only avoid when it stops traffic."

The Post says sarcastically: "We see that England's attempt to cut off the supply of victuals by hindering foreign trade promises great success."

All the papers express enthusiasm over the doings of the submarine as ushering in the attack upon Great Britain's commerce heralded by Admiral von Tirpitz. Attention is called particularly to the fact that "U-21" is operating a thousand miles from her base, which is a greater radius of activity than hitherto was believed possible. The argument is advanced that what already has happened to the coasters may now happen to the great English liners.

STORMS NO PERIL.

By Associated Press.

DUBLIN, via London, Feb. 1, 9:09 p. m.—"Rough weather has no terrors for the German submarines," declared the captain of the steamer Leinster, in telling of his boat's narrow escape from a German submarine when off the Kish light vessel, opposite the mouth to Dublin bay.

"When we sighted her Sunday afternoon outside the entrance to Dublin bay the weather was so rough that not a single passenger was on deck," the captain said. "The submarine approached us while she was submerged, but she arose less than a mile away. She signaled us to halt or we would be fired upon, but I ordered full speed ahead, changing our course every few miles.

"Our pursuer took the weather well, but we got the engines up to 24 knots speed and soon outdistanced her."

BELFAST SHIPPING WAITS.

By Associated Press.

BELFAST, via London, Feb. 1, 9:48 a. m.—Reports of the German submarine activity in the Irish sea, followed by the sinking Saturday of three British merchant steamers by the German undersea boat U-21, has created a deep impression in shipping circles in Belfast. Nine steamers which ply across the north channel have been held in port and fourteen colliers are remaining at anchor.

INSURANCE RATES RAISED.

By Associated Press.

LIVERPOOL, via London, Feb. 1, 1:27 p. m.—The insurance rates on coasters have been raised from 5 to 20 shillings per cent as a result of the German submarine raid.

SHIP IS PURSUED.

By Associated Press.

DUBLIN, via London, Feb. 1.—The steamer Leinster, from Holyhead to Kingstown, reports that she was chased by a German submarine for 15 minutes off the Kish light vessel, but succeeded in escaping. The Kish light vessel is opposite the mouth of Dublin bay.

RAIDS CONTINUE.

LONDON, Feb. 1. — The German submarine U-21, the "under-water Emden" of the Kaiser's fleet, continued her raids today on British shipping and sank two more vessels in the English channel—the Toko Maru and the Icaria. The submarine's toll for two days is now five steamers, having sunk the Ben Cruachen, the Linda Blanche and Kilcoan yesterday in the Irish sea in the vicinity of Liverpool.

One of the ships sunk yesterday, the Toko Maru, was bound from New Zealand to England. Her cargo consisted in part of clothing and a contribution of $7500 for the Belgian refugees. The crew of the Toko Maru was rescued by the trawler Semper and taken to Havre.

The crew of the Kilcoan was landed on the Isle of Man by the coasting steamer Gladys.

The U-21 easily made her escape and shipping interests, confident that she has returned to her base, ordered a resumption of normal traffic today. She is the same vessel which last September torpedoed in the North Sea the British cruiser Pathfinder with a loss of 246 lives and later destroyed two British steamers off Havre. She found numerous vessels in the waters to which she has centered her activities.

In addition to the three vessels she is known to have sunk, at least five other steamers were chased by her. These include the steamer Graphic, with 100 passengers and a crew of 40, and the smaller boats Atreus, Ava, Kathleen and Lavmion. All these vessels escaped by zigzag flight.

Official War Statements

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 1, 2:57 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out an official report on the war which reads:

"The day of January 31 was marked as had been January 30, by artillery fighting which was particularly spirited in all the northern region.

"To the southeast of Ypres the Germans endeavored to attack our trenches to the north of the canal, but this movement was immediately checked by the combined fire of our artillery and infantry.

"Along the entire Aisne front from the junction of this river with the Oise as far as Berry-Au-Bac our batteries were successful at certain points in demolishing trenches in course of construction as well as shelters for machine guns and in silencing several mine throwers as well as certain artillery detachments of the enemy.

"In champagne, to the northeast of Mesnil-Les-Hurlus, we perfected our organization in a little forest which we took possession of the day before yesterday.

"January 31 was relatively calm in the Argonne where the Germans seem to have suffered heavily in the recent fighting.

"There is nothing of interest to report from Wpsevre district in Lorraine and in the Vosges."

DESPERATE FIGHTING.

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, Feb. 1.—A communication issued late last night by the general staff of the Russian army reports some further progress in East Prussia and desperate fighting on the left bank of the Vistula. In the region around Dorjimow the Russians claim to have recaptured a trench lost to the Germans on the preceding day and declare that counter-attacks of the Germans were repulsed everywhere except in one of the Russian saps, which the Germans captured. The statement follows:

"In the forests to the north of Gumbinnen and Pilballen our troops, continuing the conflict, have made progress at some points.

"On the left bank of the Vistula on January 30, a desperate combat was under way. In the regioin of Borjimow the Germans, who captured one of our trenches on the preceding day, were attacked by us after nightfall. In an extremely tenacious struggle we succeeded, with the aid of a bayonet charge in dislodging the enemy from the trench. We almost annihilated two entire companies of Germans, captured three officers and more than sixty soldiers and also took a rapid firing gun.

"In the course of the day the enemy made a new attempt to drive us from our advanced trenches, but was everywhere repulsed after a bloody struggle except in one of our saps, where some elements of the enemy succeeded in reestablishing themselves.

"An examination of prisoners disclosed the fact that the Germans in their attack of the 28th upon a part of our trenches at Borjimow had employed four regiments of infantry, some of which were cromposed of seasoned men."

The Russians officially announce the occupation of Tabriz, Persia, in a communication from the staff of the army in the Caucasus. The official statement says:

"In the fighting below Tabriz the Turks lost four field guns, provisions, munitions and many prisoners. Having been cut off from Tabriz and suffered heavy losses, they took to flight. On January 30 we occupied Tabriz.

"Other fronts are without material change."

"In the Carpathians:

"The fighting continues along the front between Mount Dukla and Mount Wyczkow. Generally speaking our positions along this front are secure. As to the left wing, the front between Nikmia, Polianka and Lotovisk we are progressing satisfactory and every way we take some prisoners.

"In Bukowint there has been nothing more important than encounters between advance guards."

BELGIAN RELIEF WORK NOT ENDED

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Discovery that the shipping office temporarily opened by the Rockefeller foundation to facilitate the dispatch of food cargoes to Belgium had been closed, led to the publication of a report yesterday that the foundation had abandoned its relief work.

This was denied in a statement issued by the foundation last night. While it was true that the shipping office was closed, it was said, its functions have been merely taken over by the New York Belgian relief commission, which had funds to meet transportation charges, so that the foundation resources could be wholly available for the purchase of supplies.

"The foundation has been co-operating with the commission, according to this understanding, for nearly two months," the statement read. "So far from having abandoned Belgian relief, the foundation's war relief commission still is in Europe actively co-operating with the American relief organization in Belgium."

Referring to Germany, Count Tisza said:

"If ever there were two allies who can have absolute confidence in each other this is a case now. We witness the glorious exploits of our German allies with enthusiasm."

LONDON, Feb. 1.—"We are here very near Adam and Eve's abode, the Garden of Eden," writes a lance corporal with the British forces fighting the Turks in the country back of the Persian gulf.

"It is very hot and the country is no place for a white man. We live on bread, tea and dates. The greatest hardship is the scarcity of water. I have not had a shave or a wash for seventeen days.

"We captured two forts and a telegraph office yesterday without the loss of a man. The Turks lost forty. Some of the methods of the Turks in action are curious. A favorite trick of theirs is to fall down in close action as if dead and then, after the line of British has passed them, they get up again and fire at them from behind.

"While retreating the Turks frequently discard numerous articles of clothing, lest they should impede their flight. Before their retreat has lasted long they have on nothing but their shirts and ammunition belts. No matter how hot the fighting is one cannot refrain from laughing at the spectacle of several hundred men running at top speed with their long shirts flapping around their bare legs."

KAISER SUFFERING FROM AN ATTACK OF CHILLS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Copenhagen says:

"Emperor William suffered from a chill, owing to the severe weather. He will remain in Berlin until the weather is more favorable."

The correspondent of the Daily News says a slight indisposition caused by the severe weather in Northern France compelled the return of the Kaiser to Berlin. His entry into the German capital was kept secret and no one observed him.

ROLPH SHIP IS SUNK BY GERMANS

Vessel Flies the British Flag and Is Shelled to Bottom.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—The ship Drummuir, owned by Hind Rolph & Company of San Francisco but flying the British flag under a Canadian register, was captured and towed to quiet waters off the South American coast, stripped of cargo and sunk by a fleet of German warships on December 6 of last year, according to advices received from Captain J. O. Eagles, her master.

Six days after the sinking of the vessel, with her crew prisoners aboard the German steamer Seydlitz, the fleet of eight vessels was all but annihilated in an encounter with British vessels off the Falkland Islands. The Seydlitz, owing to her speed, escaped destruction at the hands of the British. In this battle the German cruiser Nurnberg was beached to save capture.

The Drummuir was valued at $75,000 and her cargo at $100,000. As the vessel was towed up under the lens off Argentine or Chile to be stripped of her cargo and was within the three mile limit, it is thought probable that either of the governments will demand from Germany reparation, besides the cost of the vessel and cargo.

"I tried to save my ship," says Captain Eagles in one of his letters, by interviewing the admiral and explaining to him that the vessel was American property and that he was not harming British commerce. I also tried to impress upon him that he was destroying the property of a friendly nation.

"The admiral pointed to the fact that the vessel flew the British flag, however, and was under Canadian register, and must, therefore, be sunk. Accordingly after stripping the vessel of everything of value, even to my personal belongings, the Germans towed her off the coast about six miles and shelled her."

LOTS DEEDED FOR BOULEVARD ROUTE

City Must Pay for Construction Under the Terms of Gift.

Superintendent of Streets Perry F. Brown filed with the council today three deeds to property to be used for the construction of the Skyline boulevard, the deeds having been placed in escrow by the Villa Site and Development Company on an agreement by the city to appropriate funds for the improvement and construction of the boulevard.

Brown filed a letter with the council, estimating that it will cost the city $12,000 to do this work on a stretch of road between the Tunnel and Snake roads. The letter was referred to Mayor Mott to investigate and recommend action to the council. The commissioners agreed several months ago to appropriate funds for this work.

The deeds will be placed in escrow for ninety days, during which time the council will obtain data and appropriate the necessary funds, if this course shall be considered advisable. Brown's letter follows:

"I have in my care the deeds covering land necessary for the Skyline Boulevard from the Tunnel road to the Snake road. These deeds are accompanied by letters from the Villa Site and Development Company, signed by F. C. Havens, president, and S. J. Taylor, secretary.

"I have completed surveys of this road and estimates of work and find that the grading will require the excavation of 25,612 cubic yards of earth and rock. This provides a roadway eighteen feet wide, a portion of the work being the widening of the present graded portion of the road. Estimating this at the prices bid for similar work in this vicinity on the state highway, which is 45 cents per cubic yard, the excavation will cost $11,525. There will be some incidental drainage work, and I estimate that $13,000 will be necessary to do the work required by the letter offering the deeds."

BATTLE OFF HOOK IS GUN PRACTICE

Salvos Prove Other Than What They Sounded Like.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Swedish steamship Bar, which arrived here from London and Cardiff, laden with chalk, heard heavy cannonading to the southeast of the Ambrose Channel lightship. The booming of the unseen guns grew louder and louder.

First the tops and then the hull of a four-funnelled British cruiser rose above the horizon. The captain of the Bar thought at first the cruiser was engaged in battle with a German vessel, but, upon closer view, a canvas target, sawing on the waves, was sighted several miles to leeward, and it was seen the Britisher was supervising the time of target practice.

Permit to Construct Denied Marin Co. R. R.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—The State Railroad Commission today refused permission to the Marin County Electric Railways to begin construction on a one-mile line from the terminus of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad in Mill Valley to the Cascade, a point near Fairfax. The corporation showed that it had received stock subscriptions to the amount of 210.7 shares of a par value of $51,000, but had received, in actual cash only $802. As the estimated cost of the road was $35,000, the commission declined to allow work to be started, declaring that the funds must first be in sight for its completion.

Rev. E. H. McCollister of Santa Cruz delivered the sermon yesterday morning at the third anniversary of St. Peter's church of Rock Ridge. Rev. Edgar F. Gee, rector of the church, conducted the services. Just three years ago Father Gee founded the church, which is becoming a powerful factor in that community. Leslie Taylor, soloist of St. Paul's Episcopal church of this city, sang a number of sacred selections. The anniversary opened with the celebration of corporate communion. The church was filled with members of the congregation and their friends.

Oscar Breiling to Manage Campaign for F. W. Bilger

Evidences of the activity of the campaign for city offices are gradually coming to the front. The headquarters of Frank W. Bilger are now open in the Central Bank building and today former Assemblyman Oscar W. Breiling is in charge of the office force. Mr. Breiling is one of the best known political campaigners in the local field and has long been identified with the business and financial interests of Oakland, having been for some time one of the officials of the West Oakland Bank.

"I shall keep regular office hours," said Mr. Breiling this morning, "and will be on deck to meet everybody interested in the campaign of Mr. Bilger. I anticipate a very active period between now and the primaries in April. We are very optimistic at this time as there is a gradually increasing flow of popularity toward Mr. Bilger. We have outlined our plan of campaign and shall be a busy crowd from now till the votes are counted."

OPIUM LAW DECLARED CONSTITUTIONAL

The constitutionality of the opium act of 1909 which makes it an offense against the United States to have opium in five-pail tins in possession, was sustained by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in a decision rendered today. There are eleven cases in which the claim has been set up that the law is in conflict with the state law, and some of these have been taken to the United States Supreme Court.

The case decided today was that of Max Steinfeldt, sentenced last April to serve a term in the Alameda county jail for having only one can of opium on his person. He was taken into custody under the second section of the opium act. He declared in his appeal that he was not liable under the United States law, as he had no part in the smuggling of the opium into the state, but had merely obtained it after it had come through other hands. It was declared that the regulation of the opium traffic with the state was a matter for the police power of the state itself to supervise. The contention was made that opium was property and was taxable under the state law. The court took a contrary view and held that the possession of the opium was a violation of the federal statute.

One of the important cases which may fall under the provisions of this decision is that involving a dozen customs officials and Chinese who were arrested as the members of an alleged opium ring in the fall of 1913. They have taken an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

DEAD MAN'S TEETH SOLVE MYSTERY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—That the decomposed body found last Friday on the Southern Pacific right-of-way near Lordsburg, N. M., is that of Edgar Behlow of this city, who has been missing since last October, was made almost certain yesterday by identification through a description of dental work telegraphed to Lordsburg by Behlow's relatives here.

Mrs. Edgar Behlow, who is living with her sister, Mrs. Eugene Pissis, 1040 Lombard street, is prostrated with the news of the discovery of this body.

Edgar Behlow had been a sufferer from tuberculosis, and went to Arizona for his health. He was in New Mexico early in 1914, and spent last summer in the woods in Mendocino county. In October word came from him that he was going to Arizona.

After his disappearance that month detectives were sent to try to trace him.

The coroner of Grant county, N. M., has wired to San Francisco that death was due to pulmonary hemorrhage. Operative Walter of the Southern Pacific declares that there was a bullet hole in the body.

The clothing is said to correspond closely to the kind Edgar Behlow wore.

Player Limit Rule to Come Before Clubs

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The principal questions that are expected to be considered by the American League owners at their meeting here on Wednesday are the player limit rule, similar to that passed by the National league, abolition of the draft rule from all Class AA clubs and the adoption of a schedule for next season. President Ban Johnson has been here since Sunday.

WOMAN INDIGENT HAS $800 HIDDEN IN SHOE

ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 1. — Although she had been a public charge as an inmate of the Orange City Home at Livingston since last August, it was brought to light that since that time Mrs. Margaret Mulligan, 70 years old, had been carrying in her shoe $820 in bills.

A bill of $53.10 for her board since the admission to the home was promptly presented. She agreed to pay it and to reimburse St. Mary's Hospital, Orange, for care and treatment received last summer.

Then she made arrangements to be taken into the Home of Divine Providence at Ridgewood, where she will pay to be taken care of the remainder of her life.

TWO PLEAD GUILTY TO JOBBING FRAUD

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1.—Pleas of guilty were entered in the federal district court here today by two defendants in the so-called Great Western Jobbing frauds.

It was charged that merchandise, sold on credit to one of a chain of stores, would be shifted to another store, and that then the first store would avoid payment by going into bankruptcy. Those who pleaded guilty today were Charles L. Greenfeldt, Julius Steindhardt and Meyer Rotman. Greenfeldt, it was understood, has agreed to testify for the prosecution. After the pleas of guilty had been entered several other defendants went to trial. They were Samuel Brown, Harry Cohan, Alfred Goldberg, Samuel Bernstein, Jacob Lipman, Jacob Lobowitz, Maurice Garfinkel, and will be tried separately. Homer Hall, the government special prosecutor, is outlining the case to the jury, said the government would show the defendants were merchants who were in a conspiracy to defraud; that they conducted stores in various cities, notably St. Louis, East St. Louis, Kansas City, Louisville, Baltimore and Philadelphia; that they made false financial statements to manufacturers, wholesalers and credit associations and that they had a system for interchange of credit references.

The stores at first, he said, made small purchases from wholesalers and made payments, thus insuring future credit. Then large orders were placed, he stated, and when these large orders were filled the merchandis was shifted to other stores, the original consignee failed and the promoter disappeared.

VILLA'S INJURY IS DENIED BY AGENT

Small Fighting Reported Near Mexico City; Shipments Stopped.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—That the reports of serious wounding of General Villa, as received from Mexico, are untrue, was the statement received today by the state department from the office of American Agent Carothers at El Paso. Reports from Douglas, Arizona, state that Fort Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas on the Mexican side, is officially closed to shipments destined to territory where Villa holds sway, and General Calles, the Carranza commander, has declared that the avoidance of duplicate duty is the cause of this action. It is expected that a shortage of supplies in mining camps will follow.

Carranza's forces are expected this week to bring to an early conclusion the offensive campaign against the Villa and Zapata forces. Many Zapata men, it is declared, have transferred their allegiance to Carranza.

General Villa, it is reported in El Paso, was seen by passengers arriving from Aguas Calientes, where his headquarters are. Preliminary fighting, with but small results, is reported between Aguas Calientes and Mexico City.

Any foreigner at Tampico found aiding the enemy in any way will be promptly executed, is the substance of a decree issued by General Pablo Gonzales, military commander of Carranza forces at Tampico, according to a message to the State Department from American Consul Bevan today.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Standard Oil Company steamer Perfection, which arrived today from Tampico with oil barges in tow, was forced to pay an export tax on the cargo by the Carranza forces in possession of the city, before she was permitted to depart, according to her commander.

PARLIAMENT MEMBER IN BRITISH CASUALTY LIST

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Among the missing in a casualty list just made public is Major Arthur C. Morrison-Bell, member of parliament, for Honiton division of FDevonshire.

Major Morrison-Bell was former aide de camp to the Earl of Minto, governor-general of Canada, and served in the Canadian contingent in South Africa, having charge of the Maxim gun section.

Also mentioned as missing in the list are the Hon. John Beresford Campbell, eldest son of Baron Statheden Campbell, and six other guard officers.

The offer of the American commission for relief in Belgium to purchase the cargo of the steamship Wilhelmina has attracted widespread attention in England. It is regarded generally as a possible happy ending of the Wilhelmina incident, which threatens to arouse the resentment of the British public.

The report that the steamship Dacia probably would not sail has eased the tension so far as it concerns that phase of the controversy over contraband, and discussion in England at present centers on the ship purchase bill now before congress at Washington, and the Wilhelmina affair.

If the American commission is not able to purchase the Wilhelmina's cargo it unquestionably will be bought by the British government.

A dispatch to the Post from Berne, Switzerland, says that according to news received from Berlin it has been decided that a number of cargoes of foodstuffs are to be sent in American ships as gifts to the German civilian population from German friends in America.

Albert Ballin, the German steamship agent, who recently took over the management of the entire railroad system of Germany, is said in the dispatch to have received advices to this effect.

TEA CLUB.

The Tea club of Alameda which met at the home of Mrs. Henry H. Meyers, listened to an instructive and entertaining talk by Mrs. Marcella H. Krauth, city librarian, on "The History and Development of the Short Story." Mrs. Krauth took the history, from the earliest ages when the story teller was the inspiration for deeds of heroism, to the later era, when the French developed the highest form of the short story.

The development was traced with illustrations, such as the ballad of "Alice Brand," one of the cantos from Scott's "Lady of the Lake," the point of the comparison of the short story to the ballad or drama, being brought out. The mastery of the art of the French in condensed fiction was exemplified by Guy de Maupassant's story "The Necklace," which with the folk tale of earlier ages and an Indian legend were read by the speaker.

TELLS OF SHORT STORY.

In beginning the development of the short story, Mrs. Krauth gave her foundation or basis the definition of Pitkin, and proceeded then from the French to American writers, comparing Edgar Allen Poe, as the greatest American exponent of the art with them. She also quoted Poe's criticism of Hawthorne, who did not conform to his ideals in his short stories. These and many other enlightening points were made by the speaker, who had her subject well in hand and gave out her ideas in a clever and convincing manner.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB.

The Shakespeare club of Alameda will be entertained by Mrs. Sidney de Witt Allen Wednesday afternoon next, when Ibsen's "Peer Gynt" will be read. The following meeting will be given to a lecture by an authority on the drama and will be held at the home of Mrs. Walter G. Tibbitts.

Anderson was selected as delegate and Mrs. George Ross as alternate for the representation of the club at the district federation in Berkeley this month. Mrs. Henry Rosenthal gave a talk on the growth and manufacture of cotton under the head of "King Cotton," and a short program of readings and music were given by Mrs. G. H. Anderson and Mrs. Frank Dunleavy. Mrs. Anderson will be the next hostess on Monday, February 8.

State Fourth in Electric Output

California is given recognition for the fourth largest electrical industry in America. The Electrical World, the largest technical journal of the country, in its issue of January 23, 1915, prints the following:

The accompanying table gives statistics for 1914 on the output, peak load and load-factor of the large generating systems of the country.

DATA ON LARGE GENERATING SYSTEMS.

Niagara Falls Power Company	131,529	Jan. 5	906,513,620	78.7
Pacific Gas and Electric Company	124,000	Oct. 29	658,298,000	60.6
Pennsylvania Water & Power Co.	74,000	Dec. 17	277,200,000	42.5

*Commonwealth Edison Company.

"No data received.

Of particular interest are the data on the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's system. The output of that company last year was greater than the combined output of the Philadelphia, Boston and Brooklyn Edison companies, and the load-factor on the system was over 60 per cent, which is a much better showing than that of any of the other companies listed, with the exception of the two companies at Niagara Falls.

Apparently the diversity of the loads along the Atlantic seaboard does not vary greatly, since the annual load-factors of the Boston, New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia companies are not far apart. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, with its greater territory and greater diversity of load, including, as it does, agricultural, mining, manufacturing, civic, railway and domestic service and with hydro-electric and steam stations, uses its generating equipment to excellent advantage in carrying that load.—Electric World.

Kaiser Praises His Landwehr Soldiers

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via Amsterdam and London, Feb. 1, 9:50 a. m.—Emperor William in a speech to a Landwehr battalion made before it left general field headquarters, said:

"I congratulate you, comrades. Your wish to go to the front has been fulfilled. I thank you for the good work you did here.

"I am very much satisfied with you, for I know what my Landwehr is worth. Everywhere the Landwehr has fought splendidly. It did so in the East, and recently in the Vosges it was the Landwehr, who, with the boldest bravery and contempt for danger, stormed an important height, throwing the enemy off.

"Behave likewise, comrades. My wishes accompany you."

Afterward, the emperor learned that the battalion was leaving for a place near the crown prince's army. He again addressed the men, saying smilingly:

"Give my salutations to my son."

Cashier Is Missing, Bank Vault Locked

By Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 1.—State officials received word today that W. J. Armstrong, cashier of the Bowie Bank and Trust Company of Bowie, near the New Mexican border, had disappeared, leaving the bank safe locked. All efforts so far to unlock the safe and thus ascertain the condition of the bank have failed. The state had $2600 on deposit with the bank. Armstrong, according to advices received here, boarded an east-bound train at a small station eight miles east of Bowie.

WILL FIGHT TO END ON HOSTILE TERRITORY

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via The Hague and London, Feb. 1.—"We will stay on hostile territory until the army is vanquished or has collapsed," was the assertion made by Emperor William in personally conferring the Iron Cross on a German soldier, according to a report printed by a Cologne newspaper.

A Munich wool expert who visited Northern France on behalf of the Bavarian government has reported that 1,000,000,000 francs ($200,000,000) worth of raw and finished material fell into the hands of the Germans in the larger French industrial cities.

These materials included wool, hides, metal and leather. Hundreds of bolts of cloth intended by the French government for military uniforms were found at Lille alone. The German military authorities are reported to be running many factories in the occupied districts.

Covernor Commutes Choukalas' Sentence

By Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—Louis Choukalas, who killed two of his countrymen in Inyo county and was sentenced to be hanged next Friday at Folsom prison, has had his punishment commuted by Governor Johnson to life imprisonment. The report of physicians that Choukalas is mentally unbalanced and the fact that the man pleaded guilty and was to be hanged on his own testimony, were moving factors in the governor's action.

When sentenced, Choukalas understood that he was to be hanged January 5 instead of February 5. He wrote a farewell letter more than a month ago to his mother in Greece, telling her that he was to be executed on the earlier date.

Horses Dyed Blonde Return Bottle Green

LONDON, Feb. —Chemical blonde horses are not wanted in the British army. It was thought at first that white horses could be utilized at the front by dyeing them a khaki blonde. But the results have been far from satisfactory. A battery of twenty-four white horses was treated to a coat of yellow lately and sent on duty for ten days in rough weather. On their return they were all a beautiful bottle green. No dye has yet been discovered that will hold its color on a horse that is being worked.

LAWYERS ARGUE M'DONOUGH CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Contending that his refusal to testify before the Alameda county grand jury was based upon the right as an attorney to guard the interests of his clients, George McDonough, the Oakland lawyer, appeared before the District Court of Appeals this morning on a writ of habeas corpus. He was represented by Judge A. L. Frick and Chief Deputy District Attorney Burpee of Alameda county appeared for the State.

McDonough was sent to the county jail for contempt of court by Superior Judge Graden last Monday because he declined to tell the grand jury who had put up $10,000 cash bail for James Higgins, one of the convicted primary election fraud officers, and who had retained him to defend Higgins, Charles L. Gale and Edward C. Wiles.

There was considerable argument this [illegible] as to whether an attorney had the right to refuse to state who had hired him to appeal in a legal action. Attorney Burpee cited numerous authorities to show that a lawyer must give such information when it is demanded of him, but Judge Frick called the attention of the court to the fact that while certain text books did foster this view the decisions upon which they were based took a contrary position and were in instances in conflict.

The court is load up numerous decisions and it is expected that a decision will be rendered either this afternoon or tomorrow. McDonough is at liberty on $100 bail.

The court took an adjournment at noon until 2 o'clock tomorrow, at which time a decision may be looked for.

TROOPS CALLED OUT TO QUELL NEUTRALITY RIOT

By Associated Press.

ROME, Feb. 1.—Troops with fixed bayonets had to be called out yesterday to re-establish order at a meeting which had been organized by senators, members of the chamber of deputies and other prominent persons with the purpose of forwarding a movement in favor of Italy maintaining neutrality in the war.

A large number of persons—mostly Republicans—who are against the maintenance of neutrality, gathered at the the entrance to the hall and attacked the neutralists. Deputy Bruno Belmonte, leader of the neutralists, had his ears boxed and someone spat in his face. He defended himself with his cane. During the disorder cries of "shame," "Prince von Buelow has bought you, you supporter of Austria," rose from the anti-neutralists.

Finding the police insufficient, troops were called out and restored order.

After this incident the anti-neutralists attempted to approach the Austrian embassy, crying: "Down with Austria!" "down with Germany," "long live France!" and "long live the Czar!" The troops again had to be called upon to disperse the crowds.

DEFENDS SANITARY BILL.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: Referring to your editorial in THE TRIBUNE of January 30, entitled "Samples of Legislation Proposed," you refer to Assembly bill No. 36, introduced by Hon. George Gelder of the Fortieth Assembly district, Berkeley, Cal., relating to sanitary conditions in hotels. In this editorial it is stated that it is difficult to discern the reasons for encumbering the statute books with these provisions.

This bill, I am sure, was referred to in this manner due to a misapprehension on the part of the editor. From past experience I am led to believe that THE TRIBUNE aims to publish nothing but correct information on all subjects and I would respectfully request that you give this proposed act further consideration.

Assembly Bill 36 was introduced in the California State Legislature January 8, 1915, by Hon. George Gelder at the urgent request of the legislative committee of the California Division of the Travelers' Protective Association of America, which is a national organization composed of 50,000 commercial travelers. In our opinion this bill should receive the hearty support of THE TRIBUNE and every other newspaper of California. It merely charges the State Board of Health to compel hotel keepers to furnish decent accommodations to the traveling public. This bill is very mild, indeed, when compared to legislation of similar character passed in other states. You will agree with me that it is not at all unreasonable to demand that a room in a hotel should be free from vermin, bed bugs, dirt, filth, etc., and that guests should be supplied with sheets and pillow slips that had not been used by previous occupants of a room. The provision compelling sheets to be 98 inches in length may not be understood at first sight, but the object of a sheet of this length is to permit enough to fold over to cover the blankets and bed covering which would protect a guest from rubbing his face against bed covering which might have been previously used by an occupant suffering from tuberculosis, loathsome diseases, etc.

The good hotels of the state have adopted bed sheets 98 inches and longer, and have complied with everything that is specified in this proposed act. This bill will only affect such hotels as absolutely require legislation to compel them to do what common decency requires.

If upon consideration you find that my statement is correct will you kindly give this letter the same publicity that you gave the editorial above mentioned. I am,

Very respectfully yours,

HARRY T. MOORE,
State Secretary, California Division Travelers' Protective Association of America.

FAIR OFFICIAL TO MAKE HOME HERE

General Manager of Poultry Exhibits and Official Judge Prefers Oakland.

W. S. Russell, general manager of the Poultry Exhibits and Official Judge of Poultry for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, is the first fair official to make his home in Oakland. Russell arrived here a few days ago from his home in Ottumwa, Iowa, and registered, with his family at the Hotel Sutter, where he will make his home during the fair.

"I saw at a glance the advantages that Oakland has for the resident," said Russell this morning. "Though I have not had time to see Oakland as it should be seen, owing to a rush of affairs in my department at the fair grounds, I noted the excellence of Oakland's schools and my children are already enrolled and attending school here.

"The run to the fair grounds will be a short one when the new ferry service is inaugurated, and while I am a busy man in need of time, I prefer Oakland to San Francisco as a residential city."

While the tantative plans for the poultry exhibits were laid calling for a series of exhibitions during the course of the year for which awards were to be made, Russell has arranged to have the poultry exhibit a continuous one, with grand season prizes. This will not interfere with the exhibits as arranged, he explains, and will furnish the occasional poultry fancier a treat.

PHILIPPINE COLLIER IS FINISHED AT SHANGHAI

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The new army collier constructed at Shanghai, China, for Philippine service, is completed and ready for delivery, according to advices just received at the War Department.

In answer to criticisms that the collier should have been built in the United States, War Department officials point out that the contract was awarded by the Philippine government after competitive bidding. It also is pointed out that it was economical to have the collier built in the Orient, as she could have hardly crossed the ocean on her 600-horsepower and speed of four to six knots.

The collier is a light craft, hardly above the harbor tug class, and coal will be transferred from her to army transports as needed. While the collier could cruise from Manila to Nagasaki, she will not have much sea service, except under extraordinary conditions.

CRUISER SAN DIEGO ARRIVES WITH VICTIMS

By Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 1.—The United States cruiser San Diego arrived here yesterday from Mexican waters, bearing the bodies of Charles W. Peterson and Ralph B. Glidden, latest dead as a result of a boiler explosion on the ship. After funeral services aboard the San Diego, the bodies were placed on the auxiliary Saturn, which also had those of the first seven to die. The Saturn sailed yesterday afternoon for Mare Island, where the bodies will be sent to the men's homes. Three others, injured in the explosion, will recover.

Captain Ashley H. Robertson of the San Diego attributed the explosion to a blocked strainer pipe in the main feed tank, which shut off the water from eight boilers. Two exploded and the other six were saved only by heroic work of the men on duty. A board of inquiry will be convened today and probably will require ten days to complete its work.

Noted Domestic Science Expert Coming

Kate B. Vaughn Will Give Series of Lectures Before Oakland Housewives on Cookery

Women of Oakland have been reading and hearing much about the work of Kate B. Vaughn, a very charming and capable Southern woman, who has been lecturing in nearby cities in the interest of better foods and better homes, and they will welcome with pleasure the announcement that she has been secured by THE TRIBUNE to give a very entertaining and instructive series of home economics lectures and practical cookery lessons in this city the week of February 8.

A helpful program, consisting of six lectures and cookery lessons, has been arranged. It is comprehensive in its nature and will appeal to the best cooks of the city as well as to the novices. All classes of housekeepers attend Mrs. Vaughn's lectures and are highly pleased with her course of instruction, and also with her splendid collection of famous Southern recipes, which she gives away to every woman who attends her classes. They also like Mrs. Vaughn because of her pleasing personality and her sincerity of purpose. Her work serves not alone to interest women in good cooking and to make them better cooks, but she inspires homemakers with new courage and with the desire to make more of their home life and do more for their families than they have ever done before.

Her lectures and cookery lessons here, under the auspices of THE TRIBUNE, are to be entirely free, and all women are invited to attend. Her lecture subjects are of vital interest to actual housewives and deal with the everyday problems they must solve in their kitchens. A recognized authority on the food question, Mrs. Vaugh is always in demand. She has helped thousands of women in their homes, and as she has traveled this season from city to city where she lectured last year, she has met everyday women who come expressing their gratitude for the help rendered by her in making their homes happier, their housework easier and their cooking better.

Mrs. Vaughn will actually cook every afternoon, explaining fully just why she does thus and so, and the delicious foods prepared by this famous Southern cook will be served by the members of her classes. She will give away the recipes by which she cooks and will also give away some fine and very beautiful cakes.

THE TRIBUNE bespeaks the cooperation of the progressive women of the city in making this Better Goods, Beteir Homes, campaign a real issue and something that will be remembered and felt in the city for a long time to come.

DEFER SHIP PURCHASE ISSUE FOR NEW BILL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—The United States government does not intend to be drawn into any negotiation or discussion with foreign governments as to whether or ot it has the right to buy belligerent ships, until the bill pending in the Senate is enacted into law and there is a decision as to whetner the purchases are to be made.

Believing that no foreign power has any ground for supposing that in purchasing ships any unnatural act would be committed, no protests are expected in advance of action by the American government.

This was made clear on the highest authority today after the return of Secretary Bryan to the capital. It became known also, although the secretary himself declined to make any statement, that neither he nor any other official of the American government had asked for or received the views formally or informally, of belligerent governments on the pending shipping bill.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITORS INCREASE

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — More than 100,000 persons have been added to the list of postal savings bank depositors since the European war began, increasing the total deposits of the system at the rate of nearly $3,000,000 a month.

Officials think this means that thousands of foreigners working in this country are holding on to their earnings instead of sending money orders to their native lands, as in times past.

Figures made public today by the Postoffice Department showed that the total amount on deposit with postal savings banks on December 31 was $59,200,000 to the credit of 497,000 persons.

Until the war began, the deposits of the system had increased steadily at the average rate of $1,000,000 a month.

By Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 1.—Charles O. Revelle, Missouri state superintendent of insurance, last night issued a reply and challenge to Rufus M. Potts, Illinois state superintendent of insurance, who had issued a statement declaring he understood the report of the Missouri Insurance Commission on proposed remedial insurance legislation was written by a representative of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Mr. Revelle branded as "unqualifiedly false" this statement and challenged Mr. Potts to bring about an investigation, saying "if the charge is found to be true, I will immediately resign and pay all costs of the investigation, giving bond therefor, and if found incorrect you resign and pay all costs of investigation."

CONDUCTOR SHOT PURSUING BANDIT

Stockton, Feb. 1. — Eugene Fassett, an Ophir street car conductor, was shot last night while trailing a robber who had just attempted to relieve him of his money at the end of the line. As the robber covered the conductor the motorman fired several shots at the bandit, who immediately hastened from the scene. Police officers, who were stationed near by, gave chase. In trailing the robber, the conductor was shot through the thigh. One of the officers, not recognizing the conductor in the dark and seeing him running, commanded him to halt. The conductor, thinking the officer had observed the robber, paid no attention to the command and the officer fired. The robber was also firing as he ran and it is not known as yet who shot the carman. The robber escaped.

Holberton, manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric company's San Francisco office, has been re-appointed a deputy sheriff of San Mateo county, and thereby has outmaneuvered the Boy Scouts of Redwood City, according to reports from that county seat. Recently Holberton objected to the lads in pointed hats and sawed off breeches carrying on their drills over a part of his extensive estate near Redwood City, and he made a pretense of arresting one of their leaders. The boys set up a clamor for the arrest of "the rich gasman," as Holberton is known thereabouts. They made the point that he had flashed an out-of-date deputy sheriff's star and had impersonated an officer.

ELEVEN CONVICTS ARE PAROLED BY BOARD

FOLSOM, Cal., Feb. 1.—Eleven men will soon emerge from the doors of the Folsom penitentiary to begin life anew, as the result of the action of the Board of Prison Directors, which has announced the granting of eleven paroles, and consideration of five more at a future date, probably this week.

Director Charles Sonntag of San Francisco was taken ill with an attack of grip while at the prison, and returned to his home.

The board, acting on authority granted by the State Legislature, has decided to reduce the price of jute bags manufactured by prisoners at San Quentin from 8½ cents to 6 cents. This is slightly lower than the present market price for Calcuttas.

There are at present about 2,000,000 jute bags at San Quentin ready for delivery. They have been accumulating because the Legislature two years ago decreed they be not sold for less than 8½ cents, and for several months past the market price has been less than that.

The price of 6 cents is to stand until April 1, after which it will be changed by the prison directors as often as necessary to meet market fluctuations.

"The officers and crew had just finished breakfast when the explosion occurred. The ship was virtually stationary seeking a pilot. The vessel tilted over immediately and soon had a heavy list.

The captain ordered the boats out and in fifteen minutes every one was away but saved virtually nothing. The general opinion of the crew was that she had been torpedoed but no sign of a submarine was seen."

YOUNG ELOPERS PUZZLE COURT

What to Do With Them May Be Solved by Marriage of Pair.

Probation and juvenile court officials are puzzled as to what will be the proper action to take in the case of the two youthful elopers, Lloyd Shelmadine and pretty Marie Meador, who were captured Saturday in Hollister after touring the country for a week in a buggy alleged to have been stolen from Fruitvale. The couple, who are only 16 years of age, stopped at several hotels and when arrested had only 15 cents left in funds to carry them further on their journey. They told the sheriff that they thought they would see something of the world and "strike out on their own hook."

There is a possibility that the recommendation may be made that the two be permitted to marry. They have been of good character previous to the present escapade. Both are being held at the local detention home.

Shelmadine, who worked in a dairy conducted by his mother, 2863 Ford street, may be charged on a warrant sworn to by Bernhard Scherhade, proprietor of the Fruitvale stables, for taking the horse and buggy. The young man took the rig, stating he would return it in the evening. He failed to return.

Marie Meador lived with her mother at 1045 East Tenth street. Her contribution to the necessaries of the trip was a large horse pistol and some cartridges. The two stopped two nights at San Jose and one at Hollister.

The adventurers told the sheriff at Hollister that they had determined to get married and fearing parental interference had traveled as far as possible before applying for a license.

Why Advocate Race Murder?

It sounds strange to read that Judge George D. Alden, of the historic and classical city of Boston, should address an audience in the following terms:

> Wealthy people have too few children, poor families have too many children. In other words there is too much prosperity among the rich and too much posterity among the poor. Education teaches the fallacy of having more children than can be cared for. With wider education among the poor I believe that this menacing condition will cease to exist.

It is equally surprising to read that Henrietta Rodman, leader in the "mother teacher" fight in New York, endorses this view by declaring that fully eighty per cent of the families in America are large beyond proportion, and that "Miss" Florence Guernsey, president of the New York Federation of Women's Clubs, declares that no man or woman have the "social right" to have more children than they can support.

What sore of doctrine is this that advocates pre-natal murder, for repression of child birth is nothing more or less than murder, even when resolved to its finest analysis. There is no one competent to say otherwise. It is forbidden by divine law and by human. If Scripture is true, Infinity slew with His own hand Onan for the offense. It is not wealth in money, or lands, or cattle, or mining stocks, or anything else of material value that constitutes a State, it is the men and women, the "bold peasantry" of which Goldsmith wrote in his "Deserted Village." Why should the State suffer diminution of population in useful beings because the fathers and mothers of one class are too wealthy and the fathers and the mothers of others too fertile?

Do not these advocates of destruction recognize the economic aspect of the situation? The remedy lies not in the limiting of human fecundity, but in the better distribution of wealth through equitable laws devised by men and women entirely great. The earth is amply able to support all her children in comfort providing proper adjustments are made. There are areas on the globe yet untouched by the plow that will in generations to come be the homes of hundreds of millions. Why, our own California, with practically three millions, has room and opportunity for twenty millions more and at some remote period will have them!

Then why advocate limiting the human race? There is no good reason for these arguments and those making them are arguing from selfish standpoints, pure and simple. Far better to wipe out wealth than to wipe out humanity, for humanity can produce wealth at will, but wealth cannot produce humanity. These chirrupers alluded to are looking at this good and grand old world of ours with smoked glasses constructed crosswise.

Oakland's "committee of six" appears to be all right on general oratory, but when it comes to talking the audience out of enough cash to pay the rent not even the fervent appeals of Jones can produce the money.

A measure has been introduced in the Kansas legislature providing that spectators shall be barred in juvenile hearings and in cases where sex is an issue private hearings shall be had and newspapers shall have no right to print that sort of news. We don't know how it is down in Kansas, but out here the papers do not have to be legislated against concerning news that is fit to print. But we infer that the average Kansas newspaper man has more knowledge of what should be printed in the columns of the journal on which he is employed than the entire membership of the law-making body. No newspaper man wants to injure the prospects of a boy or girl who has gone astray and would be hampered in reforming by undue publicity, but there are instances where their elders deserve being held up to public comment for their inability and misconduct and can be so exposed with good results to others. Star chamber sessions never accomplished as much reform as publicity, therefore leave it to the reporters that know what to do in each case.

After reading that one gallon of gasoline will bale four tons of hay, milk three hundred cows, mix thirty-five yards of cement, plow three-fifths of an acre and produce enough electricity to light eight lamps for thirty hours, some of us reared on farms can conjure up a lingering thought that if mother had known about the possibilities of gasoline on churning day there would have been more opportunity for fishing for pickerel.

President Wilson again predicts a return of prosperity. If he continues to indulge in prophecy we would not be surprised to see him hit it some day.

Government Improves Service.

For some time the government has been issuing daily reports of trade conditions in various countries, obtained through consuls and consular agents. These reports have been of value to shippers, manufacturers and producers generally because of the practical nature of the suggestions made in connection with statements of fact. But there was one drawback. Owing to the state of affairs in the office of the public printer at Washington these reports were a week old. Copy for Saturday had to be in the office on the Monday previous. As a result by the time certain cabled information and emergency matter appeared it was stale and had lost much of its value.

But a change has been made. The secretary of the department of commerce made an investigation, obtained the support of the public printer and hereafter these reports will be printed on the day they are received.

It is stated that hereafter this service will be a live, up-to-the-minute review of business conditions the world over and that patrons of the service will be greatly benefited thereby. That it has proven of value, even in its imperfect state, is vouched for by several manufacturers east and as the price of the publication is a negligible one when compared to the returns, its usefulness following this improvement will be readily perceived.

Notwithstanding the law against prize fighting, it is noticed that the knock-out punch is still being delivered in Dreamland Rink and that a four-round bout is as productive of results between semi-professionals as the twenty-round goes were between professionals.

It may sound like a small thing to ask citizens of a nation to cook their potatoes without peeling them first, but when it is considered that one-fourth of the nutriment is lost in peeling it will be noted that if the national supply would last three months peeled, it would last four unpeeled, and that is quite an item.

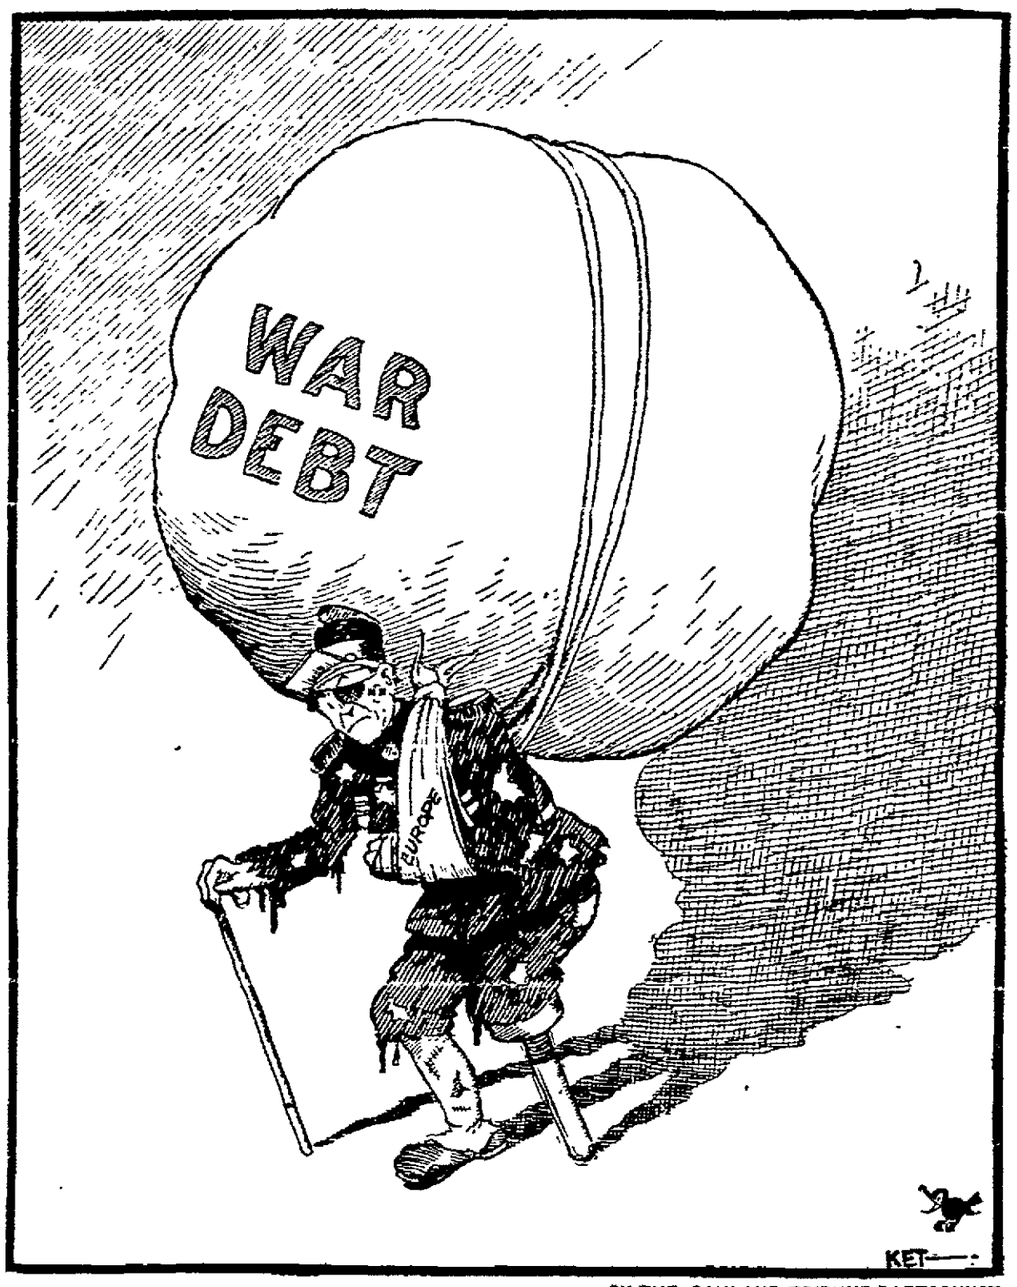

Governor Lister of Washington Saturday pardoned fifty convicts in the state lumber camp. No, this is not at all like the Cole Blease pardons; these men were honor convicts who made good and at a rate of fifty cents per day paid them for work, some had as high as $100 to their credit.

The recent storm may have damaged property in the southern part of the State, but here the only thing wrecked was the opinions of a few pessimists.

Al Jennings' life is to be shown in the "movies." Incidents in the career of the once famous bandit will be flashed on the screen for the benefit of the admiring audiences. But why not film something on George Washington, or some other nearly as great man, instead of picking out a self-confessed criminal?

If the Book of Revelations be extended to a few more chapters our railroad commission will be known as the Get Rich Quick Commission.

THE AFTERMATH

—BY THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE CARTOONIST.

"CAESAR OR GOD"

The carpenter of Nazareth was in every respect a complete antithesis of the Caesars, and that which he gave to the world is inherently as opposed to that which Rome gave to the world as one thing can be opposed to another. And Jesus himself recognized this when he declared, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

If this means anything it means that the possession of these things which by nature belong to Caesar presupposes a loss of those things which by nature belong to God; in other words, that Caesar is on one side and that God is on the opposite side. If the Church has fallen upon evil days, the reason is not difficult to find. Throughout the ages churchmen have tried to reconcile in theory and in practice these irreconcilables, to bridge a chasm that in its very nature is unbridgable and eternal.

From the very beginning the Church has found itself in the dilemma, Caesar or God, and she has held firmly to both horns. And holding thus fast to a contradiction, she has died.—Edwin Davies Schoonmaker in the Century Magazine.

NAPOLEON III

Short and stocky, he moves with a queer, sidelong gait, like a gouty crab; a man so wooden looking that you would expect his voice to come rasping out like a watchman's rattle. A complexion like crude tallow—marked for death, whenever death wants him—to be taken some time in half an hour, or left, neglected by the skeleton king, for years, perhaps, if properly coddled. The mustache and imperial which the world knows, but ragged and bristly, concealing the mouth entirely, is moving a little nervously as the lips twitch. Eyes sleepily watchful—furtive, stealthy, rather ignoble, like servants looking out of dirty windows and saying "nobody at home," and lying as they say it. And withal a wonderful phlegm. He stands there as still and impassive as if carved in oak for a ship's figurehead. He looks not unlike one of those rude, inartistic statues. His legs are too short, his body too long. He never looks well but on a throne or on a horse, as kings ought.—From the diary of John Hay, edited by W. R. Thayer for Harper's Magazine.

RETORT COURTEOUS

On the best of authority it is said that something like this happened not so very long ago in a Southern college town. One of the negro janitors had been burning the dead grass on the campus preparatory to making a fall planting of grass seed. As he was finishing his work, a group of students came along and a brilliant young fellow remarked:

"Well, well, Smoke, the campus is just like your face now, isn't it?"

"Yah, yah," chuckled the janitor, "yes, sah, yes, sah, hit is, sah, hit is; but bimeby de grass will all come out an' den hit'll look all fresh and green, yes' lak yo' face does, sah, yes, sah."

EQUITABLE SETTLEMENT

Mr. Golden had a new office boy. A few days after his arrival some money was missed from the cash drawer. Calling the new boy into the private office, Mr. Golden said severely: "There is $10 gone from my cash drawer, Albert. Now, you and I are the only people who have keys to that drawer."

"Well," said the boy cheerfully, "s'pose we each pay $5 and say no more about it!"—Harper's Magazine.

Optimistic and Otherwise

NOT FOR BATH ALONE, HORATIO.

Commenting on the fact that an oil magnate traveled 740 miles from Southern California to the bay in order to get a bath, the Santa Ana Blade thinks the story is a good advertisement of California's cleansing qualities. It is evident that the southern writer did not peruse the story as closely as he might have done. Said millionaire stated he came for the purpose of getting a bath "and massage." One can bathe almost anywhere, but when he requires rubbing, pounding, thumping in the ribs, scraping with a coarse towel and other exercise peculiar to those who massage millionaires, the delegate from the oil districts has to travel north to get what he needs.

SNYDER LOYAL TO THE CANNERY.

Jo V. Snyder, late candidate on the Democratic ticket for lieutenant-governor, editor of the Grass Valley Union, is out in a strenuous plea to his subscribers for the proper observance of "Cannery Day." It appears that Nevada City, a town adjacent to the city where Jo works at the desk, has established a cannery. Said cannery hasn't had an easy time of it, so the neighbors propose to boost it by buying and eating its food products if it takes all the institution can provide. To the end that the purchases shall be be as extensive as possible, Snyder urges a sort of universal movement. If the appeal succeeds in increasing the business of the cannery in proportion as Jo led his ticket last November it is fair to assume the plant will declare a dividend right away.

REVIVING OLD-TIME SINGING SCHOOL.

Solano's Republican urges the revival of the old-time singing fest for the purpose of bringing back into general use the melodies of other days to the exclusion of this "rag-time" music, and with manifest success, because the neighbors are going to meet February 12th and sing everything from "Annie Laurie" to the "Corn Is Wavy, Annie, Dear." It is a good idea, too, for those old songs were clean, there was nothing suggestive in them and there was harmony. Music should be the poetry of sound, but this syncopated stuff reminds a fellow of a lot of underdone corned beef hash with a chorus hitched on to it.

AWFUL SHAM AT MONTGOMERY.

San Leandro's Standard takes a rather peevish slam at one of Oakland's savants in the following: "A fellow by the name of Montgomery down in Oakland has issued a folder telling all about the way to reduce taxes. His plan is to divide the county, thereby eliminating leakage, as he terms it, in one of the cartoons the folder shows. If all the energy of the tax-savers, civic-cleaners, municipal emergency organizations and the like, were combined, and a successful and impersonal effort put forth to locate a few manufacturing plants employing about a thousand men each, there would be a lot of handclapping. But this continual ranting about leakage and civic needs seems to be about the only method a lot of want-to-be-in-the-spotlight fellows in Oakland know how to employ."

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The four Superior judges have selected the following among the names to be placed in the grand jury box for the year: Joseph Knowland, Daniel Luce, George Chase, L. G. Cole, Walter Renwick, E. H. Clewitter, F. H. Pardee, A. W. Pulcifer, W. P. Wheeler, Robert McKillican, E. J. Osgood, W. F. Wheeler, Daniel Inman, L. E. Osgood, E. G. Buswell, V. D. Moody, Milo Knox, H. S. Jervis, John Von Borstel and Hugh Craig.

The rebuilding of St. Mary's college is progressing favorably. The contractor expects to complete the work in time for the college to reopen in September. The old walls will be used, but the interior will be entirely new.

The Populists completed their labors in convention last evening by nominating John L. Davis as their candidate for mayor amid great enthusiasm. The remainder of the ticket was selected, and at the conclusion of the session the People's party had a full municipal ticket in the field. The following were selected: For school directors, E. R. Saulpaugh, J. G. Chestnut, Charles F. Bernhard, Edward Everett, E. W. Marston, William Winnie and E. A. Moody. For school directors, Dr. Myra Knox, Mrs. G. W. Bunnell, R. D. Baker and Dr. Theo. Olmstead. For councilmen at large, J. E. Caulpaugh, Edward A. Sherman, Jr., Dr. Arnold and J. M. Bassett. J. K. Piersol was nominated city attorney by acclamation. William P. Wheeler was chosen for city treasurer. Delegate McSwain announced the withdrawal of Rev. S. Goodenough, candidate for mayor. The name of W. P. Wheeler was withdrawn also, leaving the field clear for John L. Davis, who was nominated by acclamation.

The Young Men's Christian Association has organized a "Present Problem Club" which will be devoted to the study of the great present problems. The subjects to be taken up at the first six evenings are: "Labor," "Money," "The Growth of Cities," "The Government of Cities," and "Citizenship."

WHUSKY WON'T KEEP

"Here is a good Scottish story," remarked an actor the other day. "And it is a true one, too.

"While I was having a motor trip in Scotland one summer I stopped at a farmhouse for a cup of milk. The view from the house was a very beautiful one, and as I stood drinking the milk and gazing about me I said: 'This is a superb place to live.'

"'Ou, aye,' replied the farmer, 'it's a' richt; but hoo wad ye like it, mon, to hae to walk fifteen mile like time ye wanted a bit glass o' whuskey?'

"'Oh, well,' said I, 'why don't you get a gallon of whuskey and keep it in the house?'

WAR BRIDES

One day we will stop giving you men. Look at mother. Four sons torn from her in one month, and none of you ever asked her if she wanted war. You keep us here helpless. We didn't want dreadnaughts and armies and fighting, we women. You tear our husbands, our sons, from us—you never ask us to help you find a better way—and haven't we anything to say?

Who gives you these men? We women. We bear and rear and agonize. Well, if we are fit for that, we are fit to have a voice in the fate of the men we bear. If we can bring forth the men for the nation, we can sit with you in your councils and shape the destiny of the nation, and say whether it is to war or peace we give the sons we bear.—From "War Brides" by Marion Craig Wentworth in the Century Magazine.

BELGIANS IN THE SOUTH

In Holland and England tens of thousands of stout, Belgian farms, dispossessed of their farms and their homes by war, thrown upon the beneficence of their hosts for sustenance!

In the Southern United States hundreds of thousands of acres of land literally crying to the heavens for the hand of man to make it blossom and produce sustenance!

But there are difficulties that must be overcome before even one Belgian family can be transported across the water to a new Eden, else the whole thing will be a failure.

The prime consideration lies not in the transportation problem. That is comparatively easy. But the great fact that the South must bear in mind is that these Belgian outcasts are destitute. They possess no means. All they have is their knowledge of farming and their willingness to work.

To bring them to America and set them down on some vacant land and tell them to get busy would be an idle waste of time. They must have houses for their families, barns for their crops, implements for the cultivation of the fields, cows and chickens for their food supply, horses and mules for their power, seeds for their first planting.

Who is going to provide these necessities? Right there is the question that has raised the South to pause and consider. And the answer to it seems universally to be, "The land owners."

With this in view, a movement has been started in Louisiana for a statewide organization of the various property owners. It is planned to their concentration to get all the available land for colonization listed and the owners interested to the extent of inviting a uniform and reasonable mode of settlement directly with the immigrants and make terms that would be attractive to them. It is hoped to get the landlords to capitalize the Belgians for a long enough time to get them thoroughly rooted to the soil and then sell them the land on very easy terms, payments to begin after the settlers have become self-supporting.

One colonization plan already worked out contemplates cutting up a tract of 16,000 acres in fifty-acre farms. A family of Belgians is to be placed on every other farm, their buildings and tools to be supplied by the landlord. It is the theory of this plan that in a few years the intensive cultivation of these farms by the thrifty Europeans will make of each tract a garden spot. Then the land owner will reap an immense increment upon the value of the intermediate vacant tracts. Thus he will get his money back several fold.

OUR NON-PARTISAN MEASURE

The California Legislature has been asked to enact a law that will do away with all partisan designations in state elections. This is the first attempt at state legislation of this kind that we know anything about. It is altogether probable that it will not be successful. Admittedly California is radical. The live contingent of the Bull Moose following is sufficient proof of that. But we believe that partisan tradition and party allegiance are too strong for even California radicalism to overcome.

It may be, however, that in this California bill there is the germ of a movement that will grow. It certainly opens up a field for earnest discussion; and the question may be very seriously asked, and not so readily answered: Why should there be partisan preference in the selection of state officials?

Reviewing the functions of state government there is little, if indeed there is anything about them which calls for their administration of men who profess this or that particular political opinion or allegiance. They are just as business-like in their character, for the most part, as are municipal functions. They are affected by no question of tariff, of finance in the National sense, or by any particular partisan policy that applies to the affairs of government. They have no direct relation with National policies, as the last vestige of anything of the kind was swept away when the Federal Constitution was amended to require the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people.

Such would be mainly the argument of those who would support the non-partisan election of state officials; and it is an argument to excite thought and discussion.

When the fate of the California proposition probably will be the committee pigeon-hole, we venture to say that the country has not heard the last of the question that it raises.

COMMISSIONS AND COMMISSIONS

We do not object to a certain amount of humor being injected into the routine of legislative duties at Jefferson City, but we cannot understand how certain of the members manage to keep up the facetious spirit, says the St. Louis Times.

The latest joke is the introduction of a bill providing for the creation of a State Civil Service Commission of three members, each to receive $10 a day.

The public likes to read about foolish bills once in a long while, but too many bills of this nature cease to constitute a joke. It costs too much to have such bills printed, simply to be thrown away. It must be remembered that they burden the record.

We suggest that the introduction of such bills be stopped immediately and that legislators turn their serious attention to the formation of useful commissions. As a guide to the sober members we suggest the following boards and their purposes:

A State Flower Commissioner and deputies.

A commission to regulate the hours of sleep in hotels and lodging houses.

A commission to draft more regulatory laws regarding public service corporations, and

A commission to oversee the workings of the other commissions.

We also suggest that the salary of commissioners be increased. Ten dollars a day is not sufficient in this age. Only dire necessity could move a man to accept so paltry a sum.

PLEA FOR THE PHAGOCYTE

Dr. Ewing, a St. Louis physician has raised a voice of protest against the surgical propensity to the use of the knife on the tonsils. For a long time it was the vermiform appendix which was only in the way, but lately, owing perhaps to a growing incredulity in the public mind, surgery has turned more to the tonsil as the superfluous thing which is capable of doing a great deal of harm and absolutely incapable of doing any good, says the Richmond Record-Herald.

Dr. Ewing insists that the tonsils make a nesting place for the phagocytes, that class of microbes which get into the blood and fight great battles there with the bad microbes who infest our systems. The tonsils, says Dr. Ewing, are recruiting stations at which the phagocyte armies are enlisted and from which they march away to fight for our lives. If we remove the tonsils out of the rising generation, the rising generation may be left without phagocytes to fight their battles for them and will fall victims to the armies of evil microbes who will then attack them unresisted. Race suicide!

The technical points are not for us to discuss. Dr. Blake and others may be relied upon to attend to that. We can but note a growing prejudice, however, against parting with any part of the human anatomy. There is a growing conviction, also, that if anything in a man, be it tonsil, appendix or what not, is capable of working good, under the great natural law of alternating good and evil, acting and reacting, which is all there is of life—or death.

THE TEST OF REVIVALS

Rev. Billy Sunday is drawing tens of thousands to his revival tabernacle in Philadelphia. There is no vaudeville monologist who uses such an assortment of slang. He appears to believe that a person who will not assent to his own personal creed is headed straight for the pit. And yet he does seem to have some power to reform character.

Some offenses against good taste can be overlooked if character is renewed. But the real test of a revivalist's work is not the line of men who "hit the sawdust trail." The country is full of revivalists who possess a certain magnetism, before which all the difficulties of changing habits seem to vanish. The real test comes when the preacher is gone, the crowd scattered, and a man is up against the old temptation to take the easiest way. The obscure pastor of the home church, the unknown worker in a Sunday school or fraternity, is perhaps more often the real agent in a man's amendment. It is comparatively easy to get men to confess their sins amid the contagion of a friendly crowd. Quite another for some weak willed fellow to walk the straight and narrow path with the "boys" joshing him.—St. Joseph News-Press.

BULL MOOSE IN GRASS VALLEY

A big Bull Moose arrived at Grass Valley yesterday. Oh! no; it was not the Colonel, nor even our own Hiram. It was quite another sort of bull moose, and it came by express, all the way from Ontario, Canada, consigned to the local lodge of Loyal Order of Moose. The whole of the moose was not sent, but his head and horns and neck show what an immense animal he was in life and how he must have caused the northern forests to quake beneath his tread.

It is said that shooting moose in Canada is not a very expensive and uncertain proceeding. First a license costing $100 and permitting but one moose, must be secured from the government. Then guides must be hired and a several days' journey undertaken. In the end the hunter may not even see a moose track.

The moose in question, however, fell victim to some hunter, was duly mounted in part, and sent forth to typify the significance of the order named after him.—Grass Valley Union.

LASSEN BREAKS OUT AGAIN

Mt. Lassen broke loose again this morning in one of the biggest eruptions that have as yet been seen. Very few people in Red Bluff saw the eruption because the clouds and fog enshrouded the old mountain. It was only for a short distance that the clouds parted, and they parted just like a stage curtain.

With the parting of the clouds, the smoke shot up into the heavens and then mushroomed as it had done last summer. Just how high the smoke went is not known because when it reached the zenith it was lost in cloud banks above. The clouds only formed a frame through which the explosion was plainly seen.

After the explosion had reached its height the clouds again closed around the summit and shut out the view.—People's Cause of Redding.

AIDE TO CZAR IS HOPEFUL OF WAR

Russian Arms, He Says, Are Improved; Galicia Added to Empire.

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, via London, Feb. 1.—A Russian general who is an aide de camp to Emperor Nicholas and is necessarily nameless, gave an Associated Press correspondent today the Russian viewpoint of the military situation. The aide de camp had just returned from inspecting the Russian forces at all the fronts except in the Caucasus.

He said:

"Today, exactly a half year since the beginning of the war, our second line of troops is greater and our entire armies are much stronger. The men are more hardened and physically and morally more ready.

"The enemy's territory has been occupied in East Prussia and Galicia to a greater extent than our most optimistic expectations, while the Germans are occupying practically the same lines as at the outset of the war. The distance between the Bzura river and the German frontier, though greater in miles than between Sochaczew and Warsaw, is strategically much less important, for the reason that there are no fortified positions between the Bzura and Germany, while the last three months, during which the Germans have been occupied in vain attempts to advance, have been profitably used by us to fortify the line from Nowo Georgiewsk to Warsaw and Ivangorod, which line is now practically impregnable.

GALICIA CONQUERED.

"The territory occupied by us in East Galicia is now part and parcel of the empire. Lemberg and vicinity are well settled and the population is well satisfied with the new state of things. In the Carpathians the Austrians have been weakened by recent defeats and the German help there will be insufficient to infuse new blood into their army.

"At the outset of the war fears were expressed, in view of the difficulties of importation, as to where we were to get necessary mechanical instruments. Necessity has shown the strength and resourcefulness of the Russian nation.

"Many small wares, formerly manufactured for us in Germany and Austria, have been perfectly replaced in the Moscow manufactories. Village handwork is producing satisfactory cutlery, saddlery and munitions.

"Even machining articles are successfully produced. When our troops were in East Prussia the first time, they secured eight barb wire machines. These were brought to Russia and copied, so that such machines are produced here. It is an example and such occurrences are numerous.

"The relations of the soldiers and the commanders are excellent.

STEALS CALF ANSWERING TO NAME OF "LIZZIE"

J. A. McNaughton, 2229 East Twenty-first street, reported to the police that his premises were entered during the night and a three-weeks-old calf named Lizzie stolen. Lizzie was valued at $10.

F. M. Carter, 432 Newton avenue, reported that burglars broke into his home and looted the place, taking jewelry and silverware.

O. E. Winquest, Schooner Linnea, moored at the foot of Adeline street, reported the theft of a boiler, valued at $40, from the vessel.

RESCUED FROM FLAMES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—James Connors of No. 16 Engine Company escaped death yesterday afternoon when climbing into a burning dry goods store at 1144 Kentucky street, gashing an artery of a wrist. Fortunately for him, the Potrero Emergency hospital is next door, and, still more fortunately, Charles McTernan, driver of the ambulance, was standing hard by. McTernan leaped forward, seized Connors' flowing wrist tightly with both hands and carried him into the hospital just in time for tourniquets to be applied.

DANCE AND LAUGHS AT ORPHEUM 'TILLIE' TICKLES BIG AUDIENCES

New Musical Comedy Is Success at the Columbia

It was all in the antics of the man behind the mirror.

A frame of an old looking-glass, two red wigs and a pretty girl make a sketch—if one of the red wigs is used to surmount a man as clever as the diminutive but exceedingly active one who, in the Schwarz Company yesterday, had a big audience at the Orpheum almost beside itself with mirth. The sketch is called a sketch because there's little else to call it—not because there's anything like a plot attached. One man gets before the mirror frame. The other watches and imitates him. It can't be appreciated unless seen—suffice to say that it would make a stone image of Gloom snicker.

This week's Orpheum bill is replete with good things. First, there's Elsa Ruegger, the famous 'cellist. She renders several classical airs and is also heard in duets with Edmund Lichtenstein, violinist. Her rendition of a 'cello arrangement of the song, "I Hear You Calling Me," is charming.

Dorothy Brenner is a petite blond, who looks even prettier in child's rompers than she does in the gowns of "grown-ups." She plays parts in both, and plays them well. The act is a musical nonsense bit by Edgar Allan Woolf. There's a man in it—Bernard Wheeler—but no one looks at him while Dorothy's on the stage. He's a clever singer and dancer, and really does the heavy work in the sketch—but who cares for that while watching a pretty blonde, who captivates an entire audience and the stage hands and assistant manager as well?

The piece de resistance of the bill is made of vary filmy material, to-wit—soap bubbles! It's the most remarkable stage setting ever seen in vaudeville—a great bank of foam—real foam—made by the same process as that soap foam seen in drug store windows when the machine advertising well known brands whip a window full of lather. Into this, ablaze with colored lights and filling the whole stage, Alice Els, as "The Temptress," dances and lures Bert French. He can't be blamed. The dance is a remarkable alegory, strikingly original and scenically beautiful in the extreme.

Anna Chandler, possessed of what might be termed a mezzo-soprano-robusto voice, for comedy use only, shouts over a telephone and makes laughs. She doesn't ask for the chief operator, though. She sings, instead. All of which makes laughs, and she adds a touch of sentiment and a little music in a final song with peace as its motive. The Danube quartet, casting marvels, who are really what they claim, and perform evolutions that startle, close the bill. One of their tricks, in which a man is hurled over the bars and through the air in gyroscopic twists, is one of the most remarkable feats ever seen on any stage. Excellent motion pictures round out the bill.

MACDONOUGH

Marie Dressler, the famous comedienne; Charles Chaplin, the "who's looney now" comedian, and pretty Mabel Normand are three names hard to beat in the realm of moving picture stars. Every day and night up to and including Saturday, February 6 "Tillie's Punctured Romance," featuring these three favorites, is convulsing capacity audiences with laughter. "Quart audiences are being squeezed into a pint theater" every day from 1:30 to 11 p. m.

Never before has there been such a funny film as "Tillie's Punctured Romance." And the fact that the film is the longest comedy film ever produced, 6000 reels in all, makes it one that has set a standard for some time to come. As one patron of the theater remarked after leaving the Macdonough the other afternoon, "Little Charlie Chaplin and Big Marie Dressler would make peace among the warring European nations if given the chance, by their spirit of injecting good feeling in everyone." Charlie and Marie, if this is true, should be sent to Europe immediately.

The father or mother who doesn't bring his or her child to the Macdonough sometime this week is depriving the little ones of many a hearty laugh.

That Henry Miller in "Daddy Long-Legs" will sell out at every performance is a foregone conclusion. In addition to the three matinees already on sale, a fourth will be necessary if the heavy sale continues. "Daddy Long-Legs" by Jean Webster has been read by thousands.

The only authentic motion pictures of the Belgian war are to be shown at the Macdonough next week. They are actual pictures.

"Peg O' My Heart," with Peggy O'Nell still playing the role of "Peg" comes to the Macdonough soon for a one week. Mail orders are now being received. Mail orders receive first attention, then the seats go on sale in a week.

PANTAGES

A dramatic sketch in which home problems are worked out remarkably well, and in which humor, heart interest and real acting are cleverly blended; a pair of dancers, whose work is far above the ordinary, and several other clever features go to make one of Manager Pantages' best efforts this week. They call it their "Road Show," because it's by far the best bill they've produced in weeks, and, if one remembers some of the recent Pantages features it will be recognized that this means some vaudeville.

A. Burt Wesner offers the sketch, "Father's Way," in which the successful son and the black sheep, with the problems attending them, are placed before the head of the family. O'Neal and Walmsley, billed as the "Lightning Bugs," offer an act as lively as the title indicates—and as bright. Cora Simpson and company offer a comedy skit with a suffrage title and clever lines to make up the rest of it. The American Whirlwind Beauties are real beauties, and their dances all their billing implies. The Baker Troupe, comedians par excellence on wheels, Mme. and Signor Ballengeri, whose rendition of "The Palms," among other numbers, is remarkably pleasing, and Italian earthquake pictures round out the bill.

COLUMBIA

There was nobody home but Dillon and King—and they were very much there last night. "Nobody Home" is the name of the show. Dillon and King are the show, except when "Ginger" Grassell and Paisley Noon dance, or Olive Artell sings. Those are the three high lights in the bill. True, "Ginger" tumbled to herself last night, but she should worry; she made the biggest hit ever made on the Columbia stage. Florence Gustave as a toe dancer is another big success.

The show is plotless. That doesn't hurt it, however. There's a crook in it—Jack Wise—and his sweetheart and accomplice, Olive Artell, who, when she isn't busy playing first aid to a burglar, sings. Miss Artell's voice, which has been stilled by a cold, is back again to charm Columbia audiences, and her acting is, as usual, charming. Vilma Stech sings a song with a setting of chorus girls and a dance that scores a tremendous hit. George Spaulding, Ruby Lang and the other Columbia favorites all have adequate parts. Will King in handcuffs has a scene with Vilma Stech that's a scream.

The musical bill of fare presented by Director Jack Heywood and Ben Dillon is as follows: "You're a Beautiful Brown-Eyed Burglar," Chorus; "Stay Down Here Where You Belong," La Due and chorus; "The A. O. H.'s of the U. S. A.," entire chorus; "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier," Artell and chorus; "When You Play in the Game of Love," Wise and chorus; "I'm Glad I'm Home," Stech and chorus; "The Cherry in the Glass," Noon and chorus.

FRANKLIN

The little family of three, Rhy MacChesney and her two brothers, Clem and "Sonny," who form the nucleus of the story, "The Three of Us," present a picture that is genuinely natural and true to life. Rhy is the head of the household in a small mining town in Colorado and has a faith which cannot be shaken, in the claim which her father worked up to the time he was killed, some five years before. Clem hates the life of the camp and wants to sell for what they can get and go back to New York, where he feels he can have a chance to make something of himself. The way the claim finally turns out to be a rich producer, the manner in which Clem turns traitor to his sister and the assertion of Rhy's noble character in the redemption of her brother in his career, are strong points in the story "The Three of Us" is being presented as a motion picture production with Mabel Taliaferro in the leading role at the Franklin theater today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

The fifth episode of "The Exploits of Elaine," entitled "The Poisoned Room," will be added to the program today and tomorrow.

OAKLAND PHOTO

Crowded houses throughout the entire day yesterday witnessed the celebrated and popular young star, Marie Doro, play the leading role of Wm. J. Locke's interesting novel and play, "The Morals of Marcus," which is playing an engagement at the Oakland Theater for three days more, today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

Marie Doro, as Carlotta, the refugee from a Turkish harem, has a role that calls for the greatest test of artistic ability and personal charm, for although at the inception of the story, the character is a dainty, mischevious, ingenuous slip of a girl, she develops rapidly as the story progresses into a woman with the profoundest depths of feeling and unconquerable love. Miss Doro's immediate success in the role of the original cast stamped her at once as a woman of remarkable attainments. Other features including Alice Brady in "As Ye Sow" and a good Keystone were also shown.

Starting with Thursday, February 4, with Beatriz Michelena in "Mignon," the Oakland Theater will change their program on Mondays and Thursdays instead Sundays and Thursdays.

BALL RALLIES SOCIETY CHARITY WILL BENEFIT

Seizing charity as a delightful pretext, local society has responded so swiftly to the announcement of the Ladies' Relief Society's dinner "dansant" to be given at the Hotel Oakland on Saturday evening, February 13, that the ballroom will be inadequate to accommodate all those who have made reservations. At this early date the drill has had to be added to provide for the overflow.

From all indications the St. Valentine's eve festivity will be the most brilliant and decidedly the largest of the spring season. Not only have the most prominent matrons in town approved this plan of raising funds to continue the good work of the relief organization in conducting its homes and nursery, but they have interested coteries of friends across the bay and down the peninsula. Many smart San Francisco belles and beaux will be among the dancers and diners as guests of Oakland people.

Among those who will have out of town guests are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lacey Brayton. The tables arranged by Mrs. Brayton will seat three gay parties of ten. The first will include Mr. and Mrs. C. O. G. Miller of Burlingame, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stone, Mr. and Mrs. John McNear, Mr. and Mrs. George McNear Jr. Another group will be composed of Mr. and Mrs. Harry East Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Clay, Mr. and Mrs. George Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nichols. The third party will number Mr. and Mrs. Mark Requa, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Henshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ransome, Mrs. George Wheaton, Mrs. Charles Parcells and a guest.

OTHER GAY PARTIES.

Mrs. Wickham Havens and Mrs. Willard Havens gave up their places in the ball room to take four tables together in the grill. Another to give up ball room reservations was Mrs. Fred Sherman.

Communication between the two assemblages will be kept up by the pretty balloon venders chosen from the younger set who will wander from one salon to another selling their bright, many-colored wares.

Valentines have been made taboo because the most airy and charming of paper trifles interfere with the light fantastic toe. So the aspiring balloon is to be unrivaled excepting by the doll auction directed by Mrs. Wickham Havens.

An innovation introduced for the occasion has been the Dutch Treat party. Many groups of friends have arranged to sit together, but to "go on their own" as the English put it. So in spite of war and exposition the Ladies' Relief is to add substantially to its treasury and many hundreds of dance enthusiasts are preparing to crowd the capacity of the dinner dansant quarters.

WHO ARE PATRONESSES.

Miss Matilda Brown, president of the Ladies' Relief Society, is aided in planning the details by Mrs. Willard Williamson. The patronesses include the following women:

Mrs. Victor Metcalf, Miss Matilda Brown, Mrs. Thornton White, Mrs. Walter Street, Mrs. Spencer Browne, Miss Bakewell, Miss Campbell, Mrs. G. D. Abbott, Mrs. Charles Butters, Mrs. A. M. Breed, Mrs. E. L. Brayton, Miss Mona Crellin, Miss Helen Campbell, Miss Louise De Fremery, Mrs. Louis Ghirardelli, Mrs. W. G. Henshaw, Mrs. H. S. Kergan, Mrs. J. B. Mhoon, Miss E. E. Miner, Mrs. E. C. Williams, Mrs. F. F. Weston, Mrs. George Rothanger, Mrs. R. A. Wellman, Mrs. J. Y. Eccleston, Mrs. F. M. Greenwood, Mrs. E. H. Garthwaite, Mrs. D. H. Mathes, Mrs. Frank K. Mott, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Miss Elizabeth Gill, Mrs. W. F. Williamson, Mrs. Frank S. Glass, Mrs. W. V. Dinsmore, Mrs. Harry East Miller, Miss A. Grimes, Mrs. Harry Chickering, Mrs. Nelson Howard, Miss Helen Kinsell

SLOGAN: "GIVE SOME MAN A DAY'S WORK!"

(BY ALBERT W. PALMER)

The article in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE has begun to bring results already. Tomorrow we will publish in this column the returns received today by the Associated Charities. A friend who knows Oakland better than I (he is a policeman) says: "The people of Oakland only need to know the conditions and they will help, all right."

Now, what are the conditions? Possibly you wonder what basis I had for saying in Saturday's TRIBUNE that there were 250 families too destitute to pay their rent, and 500 families without proper food. Well, here is the basis for the figures given.

Quietly and without advertising the Municipal Woodyard has been registering the local married men with families who applied for an opportunity to work. Up to Saturday 118 had been registered. This number has been reached without any announcement that registration was taking place. It was the result of simply taking the names of those who chanced to apply. All of these men are absolutely with their backs to the wall, and all have homes and families dependent on them here in Oakland. (This is entirely aside from the group of single and largely transient men with whom the woodyard chiefly deals.)

CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE.

On the basis of this very partial registration, Superintendent Goodrich of the woodyard says he thinks 250 is a conservative figure for the number of families that are unable to pay rent and 500 for those in need of food.

Friday at an informal meeting of a little group of ministers and social workers, Mr. Goodrich gave these figures and they were agreed to by both Mrs. Lemon of the Associated Charities and the chief of police as entirely reasonable and conservative.

Now what can be done for these unemployed men with families here in Oakland?

In Rochester, New York, Chief of Police Quigley, who was at the head of the Associated Charities before he became chief of police, has requested every factory in the city to relieve the situation by putting on one extra man instead of reducing help, as is customary in many factories at this season. But Oakland is not a great factory city like Rochester, and many of these destitute men are not qualified to work in factories.

In New York City, where there are 10,000 unemployed men with families, a telegram dated January 30th says that the patrolmen are organizing the city into districts, getting each family to donate a regular sum each week for the support of one of these unemployed men, who in return sweeps the sidewalks and does other odd jobs.

GIVE THEM A CHANCE.

Here in Oakland the situation can be greatly relieved if the whole city will adopt as a slogan "Give Some Man a Day's Work."

Will you not this week give some man a day's work splitting kindling, cleaning up the yard, getting a garden ready? (I know one man whose own lot is very small and who borrowed a vacant lot of a neighbor and set a man to work preparing it for a garden for the children.) Just telephone the Associated Charities, Lakeside 3600, and they will send you one of these men with destitute families. You can pay him $2 for eight hours' work and give him his lunch. Be generous enough to add 10 cents for his carfare. Do anything else for him or his family our Christian kindness prompts you to.

Remember, some of these men will not be very efficient workers. Some will be old, maybe crippled, and some will be under nourished. But you will help them to maintain their self-respect by giving them a chance to earn some money.

What about clothing and shoes? Last Saturday the Associated Charities' supply of clothing and shoes was entirely exhausted. A man applying at the clothing bureau for a pair of second-hand (or second foot) shoes would find nothing but a woman's straw hat or a last summer's shirt waist.

CLOTHES CAN BE USED.

And yet there are hundreds of TRIBUNE readers with a whole row of shoes in their closets and a suit of clothes and some socks and underwear which they could just as well put to useful service keeping some one warm as to leave them in idleness for the moths to feed on.

Plan to leave a bundle of clothes for men, women and children—and especially men's shoes—at the Associated Charities depot, at the First Congregational Church, Thirteenth and Clay streets. They will at once be placed where they will be a great comfort to some of your fellow citizens.

If it is not convenient to deliver your contribution, telephone the Associated Charities (Lakeside 3600), and it will be sent for gladly.

Fellow citizens of Oakland, whatever our political or social creeds, whatever plans we have for a better social order in which such an emergency as this shall be prevented before it arises, let us not fail in human brotherhood and co-operation now that the emergency is upon us.

Let us flood the Associated Charities with offers of a day's work. If your work can't be done in the rain, telephone it in now, and tell them to send you a man the first clear day. And take the surplus clothing and shoes out of your closets and put them to work. Let us make Lakeside 3600 the busiest telephone in California because of the offers of help which will be coming in over it every day this week.

Choose 'Sack-Cloth Day' for Their Wedding

There have been weddings on Christmas Day and on New Year's Day. Even Fourth of July and Thanksgiving Day have seen marriages in the smart set. There was one in San Francisco on a Decoration Day, though superstitious guests said, "I told you so" less than a year later when the groom was killed at his mine in Mexico.

But Ash Wednesday seem a stranger day in Christendom than all the rest, for the happiest day in the lives of two light-hearted young people "plighting their troth." Yet Ash Wednesday has been chosen by Miss Clara Fargo of New York for her wedding to Joseph Thomas.

It is supposed to be a day of sack cloth and ashes in the church. For most of Christendom, a day of fasting and prayer, but some of the smart set of New York will doff their sack cloth and dust the ashes from their hair, metaphorically speaking, for the Fargo-Thomas wedding, which will be a small but fashionable affair. The bride is a daughter of the James Fargos, and the groom is a member of the Meadowbrook and Piping Rock Clubs, and both are of conservative sets in society, for all the unconventionality of their wedding day.

It recalls the army wedding of Friday, the 13th, three years ago, at the Fairmont. All the omens disproved since bride and groom are "living happily ever afterward," at the Presidio this season. Possibly it is true that happiness and luck don't depend on days and dates of the calendar, but on quite irrelevant things.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

The engagement of Miss Dorothy McKown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. McKown of Livermore, to J. A. Carew of San Francisco, is announced. The happy news was told at a card party given by the charming bride-elect at her home in Livermore, where a number of her Oakland friends were entertained. The house was decorated with a profusion of pink flowers for the occasion, and the betrothal cards were enclosed in dainty French baskets of flowers which were tea favors for the guests. Miss McKown is an unusually pretty and attractive girl, who is a favorite in the younger set of the bay cities. Her fiance is a popular young business man of San Francisco. The wedding will take place in June and Miss McKown will be entertained at many informal affairs before her marriage.

MISS BENSON ENGAGED.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Benson announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Petrica Carolina Benson to Charles M. Pack of Oakland, a son of the well known San Francisco lawyer, James F. Peck. Miss Benson is a charming and accomplished girl who has many friends in the younger set. Her fiance graduated from Washington Lee University with the class of 1913, and has since been junior member of the law firm of Peck, Bunker and Cole of San Francisco and Oakland. No date is set for the wedding.

MRS. KINSELL A HOSTESS.

Mrs. Dudley Kinsell was hostess on Friday afternoon to members of a French class that enjoyed an informal tea at her home in Claremont. Only French was spoken during the afternoon and among those who enjoyed the afternoon were Madame Maynard Shipley, Mrs. H. C. Brougher, Mrs. J. W. Stetson, Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Miss Sagehorn, Mrs. Thos. Hogan, Mrs. Buteau, Mrs. Francis Musser and Mrs. J. F. McClymont.

MISS DUNNING'S GUEST.

Miss Helen Dunning is entertaining as her guest at the Fairmont, Miss Dorothy Morgan of Los Gatos, who will return to her home this week after a week's visit. Miss Morgan was among the guests at Miss Philena Wetmore's luncheon last week, and has been entertained at a number of affairs on both sides of the bay.

MME. ETIENNE LANEL, WIFE OF THE FRENCH MINISTER TO BRAZIL.

AT SNOW CARNIVAL.

Mrs. J. Walter Scott, Miss Adele Scott, Miss Florence Sloper and Frank Roller are members of a jolly party enjoying the snow carnival at Truckee. They expect to return this evening.

MISS CRELLIN A HOSTESS.

Miss Mona Crellin was hostess this afternoon to members of the Cosmos Club, which met for an afternoon of bridge and tea in her apartments at the Oakland. The members include Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. Horry Meek, Mrs. J. R. Burnham, Mrs. T. C. Coogan, Mrs. Nicholas Acker, Mrs. Harry Adams, Mrs. J. L. Howard, Mrs. W. S. Goodfellow, Mrs. H. C. Thomas, Mrs Quincey Adams Chase and Mrs. E. M. Walsh.

DINNER AT OAKLAND.

Mrs. Edward O. Johnston chaperoned a dinner party of young people at the Oakland Friday evening. Among the guests were Miss Jeanette Gause, Miss Dorothy Love, Miss Kathryn Johnston, Lloyd Fuller, James Heynemann and Charles Egbert. After dinner the party attended the dance of the Winter Assembly.

AT CORONADO.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Durney, Mrs. Harold Durney and Miss Margaret Durney spent last week at Coronado and were frequent visitors at the San Diego Exposition. They were among guests at the Chinese ball at the Hotel Coronado, where 1400 guests were lavishly entertained.

WILL GO TO OREGON.

Miss Margery Cornwall, who is to be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of her brother, Nell Cornwall, to Miss Alys Summerhayes, will leave on Thursday, the day following the wedding, for Oregon where she will enter the Oregon University at Eugene. Miss Cornwall has taken a prominent part in entertainments for the bridal party and will be missed in the younger set of Berkeley in her absence at college.

BRIDE-ELECT FETED.

Miss Ella Tanbling of Saratoga, who has been visiting friends in Berkeley, left today for Southern California, where her wedding to James Bischowsky of Pomona will take place this month. During her stay in Berkeley she was entertained at a number of teas and luncheons. Among affairs in her honor was an informal tea given by Mrs. W. F. Bogy. Mrs. F. L. Stow gave a luncheon last week at her home in Prince street, entertaining 25 guests in honor of Miss Tanbling, and on Friday Mrs. Jack Schaeffer gave a shower tea. Mrs. Daniel Fuller was also a tea hostess for the bride-elect, who has a host of friends in Berkeley.

TO ARRIVE THIS WEEK.

Shirley Houghton, who has been in the east on a several weeks' business trip, is en route to Oakland and will arrive in a day or two. In his absence he visited his aunt, Mrs. Morgan Buckley, wife of former Governor Buckley of Connecticut, at her home in Hartford. Mr. Houghton's engagement to Miss Jean Adair of Riverside was announced shortly before his departure for the East.

DANCE AT FORT McDOWELL.

A jolly hop at Fort McDowell a few evenings ago was attended by several Oakland belles. Among the guests were Miss Dorothy Caswell, Miss Carmen Ghirardelli, Miss Elise Osborn, Miss Marguerite Merbio, Miss Leah Beckett, Miss Bernice D'Evelyn and Miss Phyllis Lovell. Mrs. William Lange of San Francisco was among the chaperons.

IN RIO JANEIRO.

Madame Etienne Lanel, wife of the French minister to Brazil, who was Miss Amy McKee of Oakland, is taking a prominent part in the season's entertainments in the brilliant South American capital where the Lanels have a beautiful home. Rio Janeiro is a very gay city and letters to relatives and friends in Oakland have been filled with interesting details of the life there. Madame Lanel is the sister of Mrs. Spens Black, Mrs. Norman Lang and Sam Bell McKee.

GIVE DINNER DANCE.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seaver Howard in Roosevelt avenue, Berkeley, was the scene of a dinner dance last Thursday evening when a family re-union was held. An Italian dinner was served, and later there was an evening in a cabaret with exhibition dancing by Mrs. Raymond Hartsough, Miss Adeline Glover and Charles Wood.

Others who contributed to the entertainment were Miss Esther Hoerst, Miss Stella Springer, Mrs. George Harrison Wood, Joseph Hoerst and Eugene Wood.

The affair was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Desebach of San Luis Obispo, and among others present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoerst, Miss Lolita Wood and Harold Hartsough.

BREAKFAST AT THE OAKLAND.

The blue room of the Oakland was the scene of an elaborate "Exposition breakfast" today when the Oakland Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, entertained in honor of Mrs. Frederick Sanborn, president of the women's board, P. P. I. E., and other prominent guests.

Covers were laid for 75 at a table attractively decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. Charles J. Waterhouse, regent of Oakland chapter, received the guests, assisted by the officers and past regents of the chapter.

Mrs. A. C. Posey, Alameda county auxiliary chairman, was present, and spoke on the work of the woman's board. Other honored guests included Mrs. John F. Swift, vice-president general D. A. R.; Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer, State regent, and Mrs. John Conant Lynch, State vice-regent D. A. R.; Mrs. E. S. Wilkins, regent of Sequoia chapter; Mrs. Thomas B. Your Child May Lead You

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

(Copyright, 1915, by Lillian Russell)

IN the natural order of things the mother should be better able to instruct the child how to live than vice versa. Just now, however, when school children are receiving special instruction in this vital subject, it is worth while for the mother to listen to a review of the course the child is following.

Children of today are enjoying more advantages by far than their mothers ever imagined when they were little girls, but the mother, through the assistance of the child, can turn back the hands of time and benefit through these same advantages. If she does she will add to her appearance and find a new joy in living.

The necessity for properly ventilated rooms and systematic exercise was not much impressed upon children when the mothers of today were little girls. These things were neglected and comparatively recently became a part of child life. Only a few years ago fresh air in a schoolroom was almost unknown when the weather suggested the closing of windows. At the same time little attention was given to systematizing the children's exercise.

Those days have passed and they will never return. Through training in the schoolroom it has become natural to the child to demand a well ventilated room. Once accustomed to plenty of fresh air the lack of ventilation is unbearable. In the schools the children are learning that systematic exercise is the most beneficial.

Physicians who are watching the health and physical condition of the children in well regulated schools impress upon the boys and girls the necessity for immediate attention to physical defects—the eyes, teeth, etc.

Remember: If exercise and pure air are beneficial to your children they will also add to your health.

LILLIAN RUSSELL.

HELEN G.: Here are the eye exercises for which you asked: Hold a pencil at arm's length, draw it slowly up to the bridge of the nose, looking closely at it all the time. Do this ten times. Raise your eyes as high as you can as if looking at the ceiling, then look down to the nose, looking cross-eyed. Do this five times, but do not strain your eyes. Do this gently and slowly. Each morning the eyes should be washed with a good eye wash made of boric acid, using an eye cup. If you have granulated lids I would by all means advise you to consult an oculist in regard to them. I shall be glad to send you formula for eye wash if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

R. B. C.: Here is the formula for foot balm: Ten grains calomel, one dram carbonate of zinc, five drops oil of eucalyptus, one ounce ointment of rose water. Massage the feet well with this every night and powder freely with talcum in the morning. First bathe your feet in cold salt water, then apply the balm.

BERTHA: Yes, the "kiss curls," as you call them, that are worn on the cheeks, may be purchased. I cannot give you the name of any place where they may be purchased, as we do not give names and addresses through the columns. I would not advise you to cut your hair to make these curls. However, if you wish to make them with the short hair around your face first dampen them with a curling fluid, form them into a ringlet, then tie a cloth over them until the fluid dries. The curls will then stay in place. I shall send you the curling fluid formula if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

MRS. V.: Thousands of women go daily to the Turkish baths to reduce their weight by profuse perspiration. The Turkish bath habit has been much overdone, and there is a question of its being debilitating. However, for ordinary healthy women once a week is not too often to take a Turkish bath, providing one does not stay in the steam and hot room too long.

W. O.: When the eyes have become irritated through excessive use cover them with a piece of fine linen, which has been wet with cold water. Lay it over the eyes and let it remain until it becomes quite warm. Then change several times until the eyes feel quite relieved. After this bathe them with a good eye wash, using an eye cup. Send me a stamped addressed envelope and I shall send you a formula for an excellent eye wash.

EX-WIFE OF FAMED MINSTREL WILL WED

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 1.—Mrs. George H. Primrose, who obtained a divorce from her husband, the famous minstrel, only last month, has left her home here for California, and close friends say that before leaving she announced her engagement to W. Under the Oregon law, any marriage that Mrs. Primrose might contract within six months from the date of her divorce would be illegal, no matter in what state. To her friends, nevertheless, Mrs. Primrose said she expected to be married soon.

Mrs. Primrose is said to have secured $10,000 from her minstrel husband.

SCHOOL DIRECTOR ADDRESSES CLUB

Miss A. F. Brown Urges Cultivation of Human Interest Side to Education.

Cultivation of the human interest side of education was advocated by Miss Annie Florence Brown, Oakland school director in a talk on "Some Tendencies of Education" this afternoon before the Hill and Valley club, at Hayward.

"Boys should be given an idea in schools of what they will have to take up in after life and the girls should receive instruction in those subjects which will fit them for domestic and home life," declared Miss Brown.

Miss Brown explained the advantages of turning the school into a social center where parents, pupils and the teaching staff could meet on common ground for the discussion of educational betterment and community welfare.

"The modern idea of school recreation which pays more attention than formerly to physical training is a good one, and should be taken up by all the schools," said Miss Brown.

She also favored smaller schools and more of them in every community.

"Three grades in education, the elementary, intermediate and high school, makes for more efficiency than the old system of having only two departments."

Mrs. L. M. Turner, parliamentarian of the Hill and Valley club gave a parliamentary talk before the meeting this afternoon.

SAINT-SAENS TO CONDUCT AT FAIR

Aged Composer Will Render Own Composition Written as Compliment to Exposition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1. — Camille Saint-Saens, universally recognized as one of the two greatest composers of orchestral music in the world, will be part and parcel of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

George W. Stewart, director of the department of music at the Exposition on his visit to Paris recently, prevailed upon the aged master, now 80 years old, to accept an engagement to conduct a series of at least four concerts at the Exposition, wherein the greatest of his own compositions will be rendered. In one of these great concerts Saint-Saens will play one of his concertos, with orchestral accompaniment by the official Exposition orchestra of 80 pieces, and in others he will preside at the pipe organ.

Of equal interest to music lovers the world over is the announcement made this week by Saint-Saens in a cablegram to Director Stewart, saying that out of compliment to the United States and to the great Exposition, in which he is vastly interested, he now is hard at work writing an elaborate musical composition, to be dedicated to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. This work also will be rendered at the Exposition under his personal direction.

Just what form this pretentious work will take is still a secret; but that it will be a tremendous composition, with the Exposition as its theme, suggesting, among other things, man's mighty and victorious struggle with nature, as exemplified in the completion of the Isthmian canal, begun by Saint-Saens' compatriot, DeLesseps, is assured. It is probable also that woven through the theme in episodic manner will be the Marseilles and the Star-Spangled Banner, this tentative suggestion having been made to the great composer by Mr. Stewart in response to Saint-Saens' request that some vital and appropriate motif be laid before him.

KILLS WIFE, DAUGHTERS AND THEN HIMSELF

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Armed with a magazine rifle, equipped with an automatic silencer, Herman Auerbach, a wealthy real estate operator, who had become despondent because of financial reverses, yesterday shot and killed his wife and two daughters as they slept, and then, returning to his own bed, killed himself.

His son, Lester, a high school student, was the only member of the family left alive.

So completely did the silencing device muffle the reports of the weapon that the tragedy was not discovered until several hours later, when the son found a note from his father.

The quadruple killing took place in an apartment house on Central Park West.

WALLINGFORD CREATOR PAID TRIBUTE BY CLUB

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—George Randolph Chester, noted author, and his wife were the guests of honor at a banquet and reception given last night at the Sequoia Club by a hundred of San Francisco's men and women, pre-eminent in art, letters, music and business.

In reply to speeches of welcome by Thomas Nunan and others, Chester expressed thanks for the splendid welcome extended to his wife and himself, describing Mrs. Chester as his constant coadjutor in the literary field and as the creator of "Blackie" Daw, the appreciated character in the Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford stories.

"Next to San Francisco," Chester said, "I now feel that I must speak of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which is the greatest, most harmonious ensemble of things beautiful ever seen.

MISS DREXEL-BIDDLE SOON TO BE BRIDE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel-Biddle yesterday announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Cordelia Drexel-Biddle, to Angier Buchanan Duke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Duke of New York. Duke is also a nephew of James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company.

You Can't Brush or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advt.

COUNTESS TELLS OF SCENES THROUGH ZONES OF FIGHTING

Titled French Woman to Join Her Husband in Islands

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Countess V. de Mouillac, whose husband is a naval officer in the service of the French republic at Tahiti, arrived in San Francisco yesterday from Paris, and is on her way to rejoin her husband at Papeete.

The countess was at Paris when the war broke out, and then, she said, General Galliéni, military governor of Paris, proved his prowess. Within forty-eight hours he placed the city in a perfect state of defense.

"When the Germans marched on Paris," Countess de Mouillac said, "we all thought a siege was imminent. Most of the people were sent to the south, in order not to encumber the defense. Then, on a certain never-to-be-forgotten morning at breakfast, we read that for some unaccountable reason the enemy had suddenly fallen back. I believe that the victory of the Marne has never yet been quite understood by us. It was announced so modestly that we scarcely realized its importance.

"The women of France are doing their part bravely. I have seen young nurses of 17 years old, working in crowded hospitals from 6 in the morning till 7 at night. I know a girl, belonging to the best society circles of Paris who is today scrubbing floors in the hospitals, anxious to show her patriotism.

"The spirit of devotion between officers and men in the army is touching," Countess de Mouillac continued. "My brother, for instance, had been shot in the shoulder and the arm during the battle of the Marne, and was so weak from loss of blood that he fell down among the dead. His orderly stuck to him, and, taking my brother on his back, carried him over a distance of eight miles to the field hospital."

Countess de Mouillac, who has friends in this city, is leaving for Tahiti next week. "But first I am to see the great exposition the whole world talks of," she said.

"STENOGS" ONLY GET FAIR DEAL, SAYS WEST.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 1.—Ex-Governor Oswald West is of the opinion that the present Oregon legislature is not giving the women a square deal, except "stenogs," as the ex-governor puts it. Also he feels perfectly free to inform the legislature of his opinion as to its ungallantry. In a signed newspaper article West says in part:

"The legislature does not seem to be very strong for women—except "stenogs." Measures of grave importance and deeply affecting the rights of women have been before both houses, only to be batted over the fence.

DUCHESS MUST PAY BIG INCOME TAX.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 1.—As long as the war lasts the British government will force from the Duchess of Manchester $150,000 a year as income war tax. After the war her tax on income will be about $75,000.

This is based on the valuation of the estate of her father, the late Eugene Zimmerman, at $10,000,000. Her income will be about $600,000 a year. The British law has carefully provided for all contingencies, so even if the duchess' income is from America it will make no difference. Being the wife of an Englishman she must pay.

JANE ADDAMS BOOTED BY BIG I. W. W. MOB.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Anarchists, members o fthe I. W. W. and other radicals took possession of a meeting for the unemployed at the Hull House yesterday afternoon, howled down Jane Addams when she attempted to speak, and incited several hundred of those present to leave the hall and march downtown with the big black "hunger" banner at their head.

With yells and cheers the ill-clad marchers splashed down the middle of Madison street on the slushy pavement and turned south into Michigan boulevard waving banners with such inscriptions as:

"Work—not charity."

After parading through the downtown district the procession marched back to Hull House, where Miss Addams permitted the assembly hall to be used again for speeches.

WOMAN IS INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—As the result of a collision of two automobiles on the State Highway in San Bruno yesterday afternoon Mrs. Joseph Brown, wife of a carpenter living at 3196 San Bruno avenue, suffered slight contusions of the face. She was treated by Dr. F. Holmes Smith and was able to leave for her home.

The two machines were going in opposite directions and collided because of the slippery condition of the street. Mrs. Brown was accompanied by her husband, while the other machine was driven by Albert Levison of 411 Eddy street, who was alone in his car. The automobiles were considerably damaged.

WOMAN JAILS MAN FOR HOTEL DEAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—E. Mutillod was arrested by Detective Fred Kracke yesterday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses on complaint of Mrs. A. M. Premien, 353 Bush street. She said that on January 8 she bought the Bush Hotel, 353 Bush street, from Mutillod for $2000 on his representation that it was a paying investment. Mrs. Premien says that she discovered it incumbered with debts and was not paying.

Kracke also arrested Paul Ferrer on complaint of Ysidore Calderono, 1505 Powell street, who claimed that in December he gave Ferrer $1000 with which to purchase land and that Ferrer diverted the money to his own use.

Samuel Wallace, 672 Howard street, was arrested and charged with grand larceny on complaint of Charles W. Broderick, 1305 Sanchez street, who says Wallace went to his mother, Mrs. Alvina Powell, 72 years old, and through promises of marriage got $100 from her.

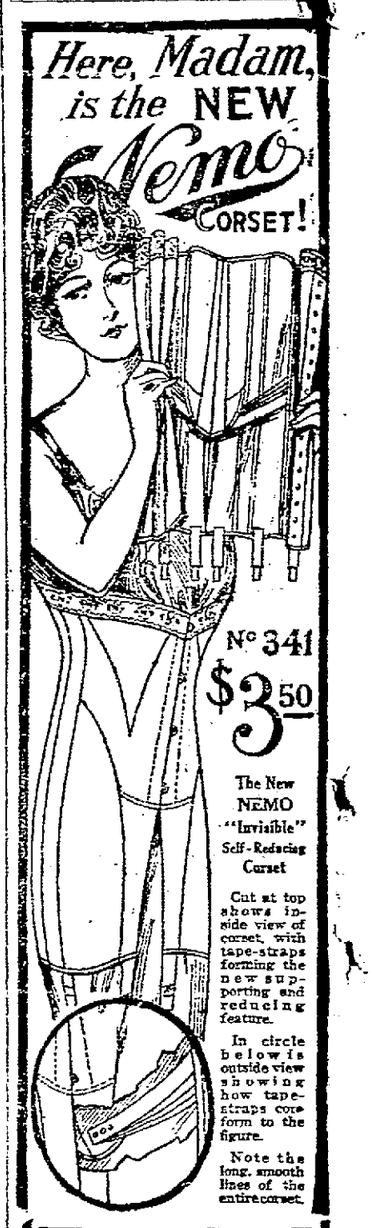

KILLED TALKING ON 'PHONE TO FIANCEE.

NEW TELESCOPE ON WAY WEST

HUGE INSTRUMENT IS UNIQUE

Site Chosen for Tower to Study Sidereal Universe

Oakland's new telescope, to be the astronomical Krupp Howitzer of the new Chabot observatory, is on its way west. A few days will see the great instrument, eighth of its size in the United States, at the Oakland mole. It will be taken across the bay and mounted at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, while the observatory, on the site chosen in the Oakland hills above Mills College, is prepared.

The great telescope, costing about $18,000, is one of the most remarkable in the world. Several new features, designed by Professor Charles Burckhalter, director of the observatory, will be seen on the instrument, which, on the new site, will place Chabot observatory on a par with any observatory in the world.

SOON TO MOVE.

The observatory will be moved as soon as possible. This was decided upon when it was found that the lights of the city made scientific work at the present location impossible. The new observatory site was chosen by R. H. Aitken, Professor Burckhalter and several others, and is declared ideal, even better than that of the Lick institution.

The observatory was founded on a gift fund from the late Antony Chabot, Oakland pioneer, and is operated by the board of education.

The new telescope was designed by John A. Brashear, maker of famous lenses; Ambrose Swasey, mounter of instruments, and Professor Burckhalter, the two noted men visiting the observatory director here to outline plans for the big undertaking. The two Eastern men are famous as the makers of instruments by which almost all the modern astronomical discoveries have been accomplished.

SUPERVISOR FOSS IS GRILLED BY WOMAN

Mrs. R. C. Young Makes Heated Accusations Against Official at Meeting

Declaring that she "wouldn't believe him under oath," that he "didn't act like any kind of a supervisor at all and was no kind of a man to talk behind a woman's back," and accusing him of circulating stories derogatory to her, Mrs. R. C. Young, prominent club woman, this morning at the session of the board of supervisors administered to Supervisor Fred Foss of Berkeley a tongue-lashing that finally ended when the irate woman, shaking her fist in the official's face, rushed from the railing about the supervisors' desks, vowing punishment.

Foss declares that she heard a story told by him to Mrs. Foss.

"I told my wife that Mrs. Young was for Heyer—or rather 'Hire'—I made a pun on the word, you see," said Foss after the scoring.

"I am not afraid to stand by it. She came to me and wanted an automobile to go out and do politics for me. I wouldn't give it to her. She went over to Heyer's side. I am informed that she wanted $500 to do politics for Dr. Derrick, too, and I don't think he'd lie about it."

"You are no kind of a supervisor and no kind of a man to talk behind a woman's back!" declared Mrs. Young to the supervisor during their tilt this morning in the supervisors' rooms. "You told falsehoods and I wouldn't believe you under oath. Any man who would talk behind people's backs has no consideration coming and the women know your record. You said I was paid to do politics, and I heard it direct. I believe it, because I won't believe you."

RETIRES FROM ROOM.

Mrs. Young then shook her fist in Foss' face and he, turning on his heel with a laugh, retired into the private office of the board.

"I know what I said and will stand by it," declared Foss. "I have heard of Mrs. Young's activities for thirty years or so back. What she heard was what I said to my wife and I am willing to stand by it. I got my information from Dr. Derrick's people and I think it was straight. As for my part, I didn't give her that automobile."

Mrs. Young was accompanied by several women during the clash, which occurred during a recess in the board meeting. She also took Foss to task on the ground that he had not acted in accordance with the wishes of the women of Oakland in the matter of the proposed probation home.

A lively tilt, in which the lie was passed between Supervisors J. M. Kelley and F. W. Foss and high words followed, occurred this morning at the meeting of the board of supervisors, when, after considerable argument, the plan for the appointment of a superintendent of construction for the county infirmary was laid over for a conference next Thursday. The plan was urged by Supervisors Foss and John F. Mullins. Supervisors Charles Heyer and Joseph Kelley opposed it on the ground that the architect, C. P. Weeks, should perform this work at no added cost to the county. Chairman D. J. Murphy declared that he opposed the plan on the same ground, but that he would favor Arthur Arlett, the man suggested by Foss, if the work was found necessary.

"Our experience has been," said Foss, "that a practical man is needed for this work. No matter how good the architect is in theory, we need a practical man. All big buildings have this plan. The Oakland city hall, with only an architect to supervise it, cost two millions instead of the one million provided. The city auditorium cost one million instead of half a million. Our county jail went the same way. A practical man would protect us. We should have the infirmary partly built now, instead of being in this state of argument and shilly-shallying!"

"When Foss says that," shouted Kelley, "he says something that he knows is not true. Foss, as usual, nine times out of ten, is in error on the county jail. The district attorney neglected in making the contract to provide for removing the old building, hence the extra cost. Foss says we dilly-dally and do politics. The man who does that is F. W. Foss! The city hall and auditorium, it is a matter of common knowledge, could not be built for the sums provided, and the city administration knew it. The architects were practically promised that other bond issues would be called to provide the funds. An architect who is disinterested informed me that the architect's fee of 6 per cent covers the cost of supervision. If Weeks can't do it let's fire him!"

"That's the way I feel," said Heyer.

"I feel that way too," said Murphy, "but if the work proves necessary I am for Mr. Arlett."

The matter was laid over until Thursday, when Weeks and the board will confer on the matter and a final decision reached.

TO SHARE LECTURE ROOM.

Recommendation that the county share the Santa Barbara lecture room at the San Diego Exposition was made by the Alameda County Exposition Commission. The cost will not exceed $1000 for the year. The two county concessions adjoin. On recommendation of Supervisor John F. Mullins the plan was adopted.

AWARDED PART PAYMENTS.

M. E. Fennander was awarded a part payment of $1847.41 on the Farwell bridge contract. He was also awarded part payment of $68.54 on the Niles canyon road.

URGES APPOINTMENT.

Urging the appointment of a sealer of weights and measures, State Superintendent of Weights and Measures Johnson filed blanks with the board on the matter. The letter was filed.

ROOMS FOR INDIGENT COUPLES.

Urging that rooms be provided in the new county infirmary for aged indigent couples living together, the State Board of Charities and Corrections filed a letter with the board. Architect C. P. Weeks reported that the matter had already been cared for.

TO AID SCHOOL EXHIBIT.

Superintendent of Schools A. C. Barker of Oakland applied for county aid for a school exhibit at the Exposition. This was referred to the Exposition Commission.

BOND ELECTION PROTEST.

TO ENTERTAIN RCTARIANS.

Application from the Rotary Club for county aid in entertaining visiting Rotarians during 1915 was referred to the Publicity Commission.

FIRST IN HORTICULTURE.

That Alameda county will stand highest in the state in exhibits at the Exposition was declared by W. D. Egelbert, state commissioner general of the Exposition, who reported on the matter of county horticultural exhibits.

"In regard to the state exhibit," he declared, "Alameda county will be represented in nine palaces, or five more than any other county in the state. Then there is the outside horticultural display. There will be manufacturing and mining exhibits, including the only stamp mill in the state, from the county, and in the horticultural exhibit this county will be high in the list."

URGED BOND ELECTION.

Urging the million dollar Exposition bond election, the General Contractors' Association of Alameda county filed its recently passed resolution with the board.

TO ENTERTAIN CONVENTION.

INFIRMARY HELP APPOINTED.

J. Adams, cook; A. J. Santos, watchman, and W. C. Yates, cook, at the county infirmary, resigned, were replaced by Wm. Newdick, butcher; Nick Lemmer, cook, and Wm. Crane, watchman.

AUTO INSURANCE RATES.

Fixing rates of insurance for county automobiles, F. Neal Harris, insurance expert, filed a report with the board. This was accepted.

ASSOCIATION FILES INQUIRIES.

Names of a large number of inquiries regarding Alameda county's attractions were filed with the board by the Tourist Association.

LICENSE APPLICATIONS.

WOULD SPEND INSURANCE.

That an insurance payment for treatment given a patient at the County Infirmary be spent for a motion-picture machine there, was urged by Dr. C. A. Wills, the superintendent. "This money, some $920," he declared, "was gained by the county solely through my diligence in filing the claims, and I feel it should be spent for the good of the infirmary occupants." He also suggested that a small automobile be purchased for use in carrying aged patients. The matter was referred to the hospital committee.

BRIDGE DAMAGE REPAIRS.

"Cannot we charge this to the steamer company responsible for the damage?" asked Heyer.

The matter was referred to the District Attorney's office. Minor damages to canal bridges were also so referred.

LEASE CHAMBER SPACE.

A lease of space in the Chamber of Commerce building for county displays, at a cost of $200 per month, was entered into. This space is now being used. Edwin Stearns was named custodian of the exhibit, and will also serve as lecturer there.

Oakland Arrests for January Total 1064

There were 1064 arrests by the Oakland police in the month of January. For the same month a year ago the total was only 876. The larger number this year is explained by the numerous arrests for violation of the ordinance providing that automobiles shall stop ten feet behind stopped street cars and trains, and by the arrests of a host of foreigners and poor Americans for the illicit possession of lottery tickets and for visiting Chinese lottery houses.

Immigration Bill to Meet Its Fate Today

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The fate of the immigration bill, vetoed by President Wilson because of the literacy test provision, took on renewed interest in Congress today because of the announced intention of Senator Reed of Missouri to speak in the Senate in support of the President's veto, provided the opportunity is presented. Senator Reed, who has opposed many of the administration measures, fought the immigration bill and was one of the seven voting against it. Chairman Burnett of the House Immigration Committee will call up the veto message by offering a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill originally was passed, and to pass it, despite Presidential disapproval.

Terre Haute Mayor Has Demurrer Denied

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 1.—Holding that the federal government has jurisdiction over election machinery, Judge A. B. Anderson, in the United States District Court here today overruled the demurrer filed by Donn M. Roberts, mayor of Terre Haute, and twenty-six others, to the indictment charging them with conspiring to corrupt the election of November 3, 1914, in Terre Haute.

March 8 was the date fixed for the trial after twenty-seven had been arraigned and all pleaded not guilty. The defense asked for March 8 at the request of Representative A. O. Stanley of Henderson, Ky., chief counsel who did not want to begin the trial until after the adjournment of Congress on March 4.

ONLY JOURNAL, HAND-PRINTED, TO BE AT FAIR

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 1.—A thirty-page weekly newspaper, printed by hand with a lead pencil, will be one of Indiana's exhibits at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, according to Lieutenant Governor William P. O'Neill, who is chairman of the Indiana exposition commission. Governor O'Neill today was showing his friends a copy of the paper, the "Weekly 101," which is gotten out by "Mooney Mingles," at Lawrenceburg, Ind.

The "Weekly 101" is seven columns wide and conforms in size to a regular city newspaper. Each edition is in five sections and contains the news of Lawrenceburg, the state and nation, together with editorial comment, sketches, illustrations and advertisements, all prepared by "Mooney," who is proprietor, editor, business manager, reporter, artist and office boy. The paper has its own comic section, which is also the work of "Mooney."

Usually there is only one copy of each number of the paper printed, but this appears regularly each Saturday night in one of the Lawrenceburg stores, where it is eagerly scanned by the Saturday night crowd. "Mooney" once said that he was never bothered with printers' strike or breakdown of machinery and that he always went "to press" on time.

President Wilson, according to "Mooney," was sent a copy of the paper recently and replied with a commendatory letter.

In the factory where the boy—he is only 19 years old—works eight or ten hours a day to provide sustenance for his widowed mother and five younger brothers and sisters, "Mooney" Mingles is known by his name, Robert Fitzgerald. He prints his copy with a lead pencil, draws his caricatures and illustrations and solicits advertising in the evenings. He contends the "Weekly 101" is the only newspaper printed by hand with a pencil and the claim has not yet been disputed.

Price of Bread In Chicago Not To Be Raised

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—There will be no immediate advance in bread from 5 to 6 cents a loaf, it was announced today, as a result of the stand taken by large baking concerns which declined to support the proposal of the Master Bakers' Association.

Since the larger bakeries have not raised prices the smaller bakeries, it was pointed out, must meet the competition and the price maintained. Representatives of several of the largest baking establishments said there would be no advance in prices for several days yet, if at all. The high price of flour brought about the threatened advance in bread prices.

GILMORE ADDS TO FARMING 'RULES'

Professor of Agronomy Gives the Fundamentals of Agriculture.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 1.—John W. Gilmore, professor of agronomy at the University of California, furnishes the seventh of the answers to Dean Hunt's question, "What are the fundamental principles of successful agriculture?" Under the heading, "Factors of Good Farming," he presents the following requisites of success:

Soil preparation, tillage, drainage, a good supply of organic matter in the soil, and applications of mineral fertilizers, including lime, enhance the yield and the quality of the crops.

Good crops and animals generally make for better men; they increase man's appreciation and broaden his sympathies.

Rotation of crops tends to promote the crop-producing power of the soil to equalize labor distribution, to destroy pests and to balance animal and crop production.

The judicious use of mineral fertilizers, combined with manures (both green and yard) will, under the proper culture and tillage methods, maintain the crop-producing power of the soil.

With crop-producing power maintained, a proper balance between crops produced for sale and for feed, and animals fed, brings the largest returns per labor unit. Man and horse labor should be employed constantly throughout the year. A proper balance should be maintained in each type of farming, between building, implement and working livestock equipment and land area.

Location and receptivity of the market are factors to be considered in planning and executing a cropping system.

Maintenance of crop-producing power and maximum yields and quality per unit of labor expended should be the aim rather than these maxima per unit of area.

TOO LATE FOR $100,000 REWARD

Rutherback Arrives From the Islands After Right to Oil Lands Lapse.

FRUITVALE, Feb. 1.—Unconscious of his being the human key to a $2,500,000 fortune in oil lands in Panama, Emil Rutherbeck, aged eccentric German, who is now secreted with friends in Fruitvale, arrived from the Hawaiian Islands yesterday thirty days too late to aid Fred Robinson, landowner, in the recovery of the fortune. It was Robinson who offered $100,000 reward for information as to the whereabouts of Rutherbeck. On January 1 the oil lands in Panama in which Robinson is interested were by law forfeited to the Panama government.

Rutherbeck and Robinson are both soldiers of fortune and have been going up and down in the world since they were boys. When Robinson told Rutherbeck of the fortune both had missed through his coming a month too late the aged man broke down and wept like a child. "I am not sorry for the fortune I missed but I am sorry for you." Rutherbeck told Robinson. Rutherbeck has promised his assistance in recovering the land and has placed a diary with dates and particulars pertaining to the claim in Robinson's hands.

DISCOVERED OIL.

Four years ago Fred Robinson went to Panama and took up land there. In a few weeks oil was discovered on it. Robinson interested certain people and they came forward with money with which to build oil wells. Then fortune beamed on Robinson. The United States government offered him a huge price for the land.

The Standard Oil Company came along and bid even higher. It offered Robinson $2,500,000 for his land.

Robinson was about to close the deal when the Panama government stepped in. It was found that the land which Robinson claimed and was about to sell had been located and claimed in 1865 by Emil Rutherbeck, then twenty-five years old.

According to the law, Rutherbeck's claim to the land was the only one that was valid. But there was a string attached even to Rutherbeck's claim. Unless Rutherbeck turned up by December 31, 1914—fifty years after he first discovered and claimed the land—his title to it would be forfeited, and the entire property would revert to the Panama government.

DISPLAYS BIG WILDCAT SHOT NEAR FRUITVALE

FRUITVALE, Feb. 1. — Hanging alongside rabbits, hares and other wild game in an Oakland meat market show window is a fine specimen of the feline ferox, shot in Redwood canyon by Robert Fisher, an employe of the market. Under the impression that wildcat steak is a new delicacy, several intending customers have inquired whether the cat is for sale. The specimen is only on show, however, and Fisher will later have the pelt preserved. Customers, impressed by the wildcat's length and heavy looking paws, guessed his weight as high as 40 pounds, although that particular hill denizen weighs only slightly over 20 pounds. Fisher shot the cat while out hunting the Redwood canyon. He says there are quite a number of wildcats in the canyon at present.

ITCHING NEARLY DROVE A WHOLE FAMILY CRAZY

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24, 1914—"My husband had a rash all over his body, and soon the WHOLE FAMILY was in the same condition. It looked scaly and raised up on the arms and body in big lumps. This trouble burned and itched so that it would nearly drive one crazy. It was always worse at night, so we could not sleep. We all had this trouble for about two or three years, and during that time tried many remedies and prescriptions with no results. We tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it RELIEVED AT ONCE, and before the third jar of ointment had been used we were all completely cured. It has been four months since we were cured, and there are no traces of the trouble."—(Signed) Mrs. S. A. Clarkson, 1520 Lawn Ave.

LAST HONOR PAID LATE FINANCIER

Deceased was an esteemed local resident and one of the best known men in financial circles in the State of California. Services were held under the auspices of the Elks in the auditorium, which was crowded to overflowing with the throng that gathered about the bier.

The Elks' rites were conducted by the officers, under the direction of Exalted Ruler L. R. Weinmann. The services were most impressive. The casket was a mound of flowers, the tokens of respect from the hundreds of friends of deceased.

Rev. Charles L. Mears of the First Congregational church delivered the funeral oration, praising the many sterling traits of Neal, who was of a kind, generous nature, ever looking to aid his fellow man. Music was rendered by the Golden Gate quartet.

MARRY EARLY AND OFT, LATEST FAD

So Asserts Alameda Pastor in Sermon to Young Women of Church.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 1. — Dr. Frank K. Baker, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, last night gave the fourth of a series of practical sermons to young people. He took for his scripture Titus 2:4, and his theme, "Young Women in Danger of Their Own Love."

He said in part:

"Perhaps no mistake is more common than the ill-assorted marriage. No man or woman is ever so irretrievably lost as when improperly married. Every man and woman is a worse man or woman in proportion as they are unfit for the marriage state. He or she who is an enemy of the marriage state is an enemy of the human race. There is a dangerous tendency today to depreciate and degrade marriage, as may be seen in the present divorce evil. Marriage is made the topic of flippant remark, ridicule, coarse and vulgar jest, caricature and mere amusement. Much of the popular fiction and modern theatrical, help in this debasement. Marrying in a lion's cage, in a balloon, on the stage, as a means of drawing a crowd, borders on the spirit of the days when they sold human beings as slaves to the highest bidders. Marriage suggests unity of life and feeling and the frivolous and unthinking should be excluded from this sacred partnership.

TALK IS OF DEVIL.

"All this cheap talk about marriage being a 'lottery' or a 'desperate thing' is of the devil. God intended marriage to be the right and happy condition of mankind, and not a terrible affliction to be endured. The scriptural idea is a union of one man with one woman on the basis of affection. The modern idea is to marry early and often.

"Are girls in danger of their own love? Every girl who stops to think or talks it over with her parents will soon be convinced. Thousands of girls have become castaways by marrying unsuitable men. They should, with a clear head and cool judgment, consider this most weighty step in life. If young women deliberately blind their destiny to an unfit young man they are guilty before God and must abide their foolishness. Greater prudence at the marriage threshold will lessen the number of unhappy marriages and check the evil of divorce. Marriage should not be simply a question of chance association, though I confess wonder at times how some folk ever got together. If I thought young women were open to suggestion, I would offer three counsels.

DON'T HURRY, HE SAYS.

"First, don't be in too big a hurry. In this day of speedism many who marry have but the most superficial acquaintance. Such a course is generally ruinous.

"Second, beware of mercenary or other unholy motives. In the marriage relation there can be no substitute for affection, which is the only bond of inward unity of lives. 'Beggerly is the love that can be reckoned.' At the root of the starting tragedies in the married life is the lack of unity of life and feeling. Women are more like chattels than wives. Too often it is not a question of intelligence, of family, of looks or character, but of cold hard cash.

"Third, don't run a reform bureau. All this talk about women marrying men to reform them is folly. We frequently hear remarks about certain young men marrying certain excellent young women and the hope that these young women will straighten them out or reform them. A man who snores in his sleep is an angel by the side of the man who drinks. Marriage is not a reform institution but a union of two lives based on true friendship and purest affection. It is motherhood and fatherhood in partnership with God in fashioning immortal souls."

MANY TREES WILL BE PLANTED

Women's Clubs to Adorn Parkings and Vacant Lots for Fair Visitors.

RICHMOND, Feb. 1. — Thousands of trees and plants will be planted just as soon as the rainy season is over in the parkings and in the vacant lots about both sides of the city under the direction of the Women's West Side Improvement Club and the Richmond Club. The club managers have practically arranged for the seeds and for most of the trees which will be put in so that the barren aspect of the city will be changed when Exposition visitors begin to pour into the section in early summer.

There is probably not a city in California as large as Richmond which has so few trees and so little green stuff about the residential districts. This has oftentimes been commended upon unfavorably to the city and the clubwomen plan to set a new mark which will redound to the beauty of the town even after the Exposition year has passed into history.

U. C. WIRELESS SILENCED WAR CENSORSHIP PUT ON

BERKELEY, Feb. 1.—In the interests of neutrality and to prevent the possible sending of information to representatives of the warring nations, the United States government has ordered closed the wireless station at the University of California. No seal has been placed on the apparatus, but its conductors were given to understand that the apparatus would be confiscated if used.

The local plant has been used for experiments by students in the college of electrical engineering, who were responsible for its installation. The aerial, running from the Mechanics' building to the top of the Jane K. Sather Campanile, is one of the highest in the West. It has three strands each 700 feet in length.

The receiving ability of the local station had been established beyond dispute by the catching of messages from the Washington station, which passed the time of day to Berkeley from Paris by the single relay.

DR. JORDAN IS TO TALK BEFORE CLUB

ALAMEDA, Feb. 1.—The month of February holds much of interest to club women in the events of the local clubs, as well as in the district federation meetings, which will be held in Berkeley, February 25, 26 and 27. The opening of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will concern all club women who have become members of the auxiliary, especially as they will have the opportunity of enjoying the privileges of the California Auxiliary building and the special beauties of the tea room in addition to the other buildings, which are open to the general public. The San Francisco district board is planning for the entertainment of the delegates to the state convention and will have an "exposition day" May 21.

A reception to Mrs. Percy Pennypacker, president of the general federation will be held in the California building and other entertainment will be arranged in her honor during her visit to the exposition.

DR. JORDAN TO TALK.

Locally the union meeting of the Adelphian Club Thursday next takes precedence owing to the fact that Dr. David Starr Jordan will give a lecture under the head of "Lessons of the War." This is a vital subject at this time when the whole world is stirred over the conflict of nations and it will be an opportunity which should be grasped with eagerness, by every member of the club, who should give as many friends as possible the same opportunity as their guests Thursday afternoon. Dr. Jordan's name is identified with that of progress, but especially with a "world peace" and what he has to say, the message he has to bring, will be one of value to the community.

The speaker has been assured by Mrs. P. S. Teller, who is in charge of the afternoon, and has also secured Henry L. Perry, basso, one of the leading musicians in the bay city colony and a favorite with the local public. As hostess of the day Mrs. Teller will be assisted by the members of the civic section, of which she is curator. It is expected that the Adelphian club house will be filled to overflowing Thursday next.

The Wednesday club will be entertained by Mrs. O. W. Barton Wednesday next, when Mrs. Fred Ray will have the program and will give a talk on the great naturalist, John Muir, with whom she came in personal touch in a life-long friendship existing between her father, who was principal of the San Jose State Normal School for many years, and the late John Muir. This will be particularly interesting afternoon.

ALBANY, Feb. 1.—Captives of Deputy Marshal Thomas McCourtney, A. I. Walker and S. J. Carter were arraigned on a charge of burglary this morning before Judge John H. Paul. Their capture has put a large and bright feather into the cap of the deputy.

There have been several burglaries along the Albany-Berkeley lines recently and McCourtney has redoubled his caution. Yesterday morning he declares he saw them effecting an entrance to the real estate office of S. B. Rose at Solano and Tulare avenues. One man had climbed through a window broken to give admittance. The other was reaching up for the sill.

CORPSES IN BOTTLES CAUSE NEAR MYSTERY

Survival of the instinct which led the ancient Egyptians to embalm their dead that they might outlast the ages led the late A. Rasmussen to ask that the bodies of triplets, born to his wife, be preserved. The three infants were placed in a preservative in three glass jars. That was several years ago.

The preserved triplets occasioned a "murder mystery" yesterday, when R. C. Soov, 610 Alcatraz avenue, ound the three jars in his basement. He notified the police and an investigation was made. The explanation of the mystery was given by Mrs. Rasmussen, who lives in a cottage at the rear of the rented house.

She said that she had not known what to do with the glass jars and had stored them in the basement.

PASTOR-AUTHOR IN ALAMEDA PULPIT

ALAMEDA, Feb. 1. — Rev. Peter Clark Macfarlane, the noted divine, who has taken up the profession of literature, though still performing his duties as a minister of the gospel of the First Christian church upon occasion, filled the pulpit of the local church yesterday morning at the 11 o'clock service. Rev. McFarlane was former pastor of the local church and was given a cordial greeting by the members, old and new, who gathered to hear his discourse.

The sermon was a revelation of the great changes that have come in the later years in the establishment of a better understanding between capital and labor, in the changed attitude of many employers, men of wealth, who have come to recognize the demands of and the rights of the employe for some of the finer things of life, as well as fair wages. Instances were given of this change which, while universal, is fast being established.

TELLS OF BUSINESS MEN.

In the final equation, that it will not be asked whether you have partaken alone of the bread of life, but what you have done, how you have fed the hungry, comforted the sorrowing and helped the needy.

Rev. M. Macfarlane told something of his experiences in the contact with the men of the industrial and business world and of their attitude toward those whom they employed and the application of the idea of brotherhood to the human family. It was a hopeful and optimistic sermon, which had a direct uplift and an inspiration for the members of the congregation and all present.

BUNCO FARMER IN DAZZLING SCHEME

Was to Handle $300,000,000 Fund as Secretary; Gives $400 Security.

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 1.—Manuel Markes, a truck gardener of this city, was swindled out of $400 by two tricksters in San Francisco, and the only satisfaction he has is that one of the alleged swindlers is in the city prison for investigation.

Two of Markes' countrymen accosted him on Market street, San Francisco, the other day. The strangers confided to him they were agents of the Italian government, and were engaged in looking for a secretary to handle a big philanthropic enterprise.

This was no less than the distribution of $300,000,000 to indigent Portuguese and Italians by means of a system to be thought out and carried into execution by the holder of the secretaryship.

Markes, they said, looked a likely man for the job. Could he furnish security to show he was a responsible party. The money was forthcoming. Markes drew $400 from the bank and placed it in the hands of the agents.

Then one of the agents became suddenly ill. Markes went off to get a restorative only to find, on his return, that his erstwhile friends had disappeared with the $400.

That was the last Markes saw of the confidence men until Saturday evening in Oakland, when he saw a man who, he declares, is one of the pair, on Broadway near Seventh street. The man, who gave the name of James Fiori, was arrested and turned over to the San Francisco police. The victimized gardener is now wondering how he'll get his money back.

Regain the Mastery Over Blood Trouble

No Matter How Disheartening You Can Overcome It.

Blood disorders are quickly checked by S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. It rushes into the blood and in three minutes has traversed the entire circulation. It penetrates to where the blood is made, it washes out those spots and places where stagnation has settled. It cleanses the membranes, drives irritation from the joints, fills the blood stream with antidotal influence and from head to foot creates conditions that make for blood health. There are people in every community who know this to be true. They have used S. S. S. for severe forms of rheumatism, for indolent, ulcerated spots, for eruptive skin diseases, for any and all those bodily conditions caused by blood loaded with impurities. Being a pure product of Nature it can not hurt the stomach and has therefore been the refuge of a host of people misguided in their dilemma by first flying to those dangerous mercurial drugs which have claimed so many unfortunates. If the skin breaks out in a rash, if boils or other eruptions appear, if there are blood risings or any other indications of impure blood get a bottle of S. S. S. at once of any druggist. But beware of substitutes. If in doubt as to your trouble or you wish competent medical advice free, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 58 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. This department is known far and wide as one of the greatest of helps to blood sufferers. But don't delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. today.

GAME HURT BY DECREASE OF SALARIES IN THE MINOR B.B. LEAGUES OF COUNTRY

Put Limit on Majors, Yes, but Let Minors Pay What They Can

Salaries of players were reduced at the meeting of minor leagues in Omaha, writes J. E. Sheridan in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. This may not be the part of wisdom. Minor league salaries on the whole are not too high. The average class C and D salary is $125 a month for the duration of the season of four and one-half months. That makes the average salary of the primary league player a bit $700 a season, or $12 a week for 52 weeks of the year. In so much as the player gives all his time to baseball, what he may earn in the off season between October 1 and March 15 being next to nothing, this $700 a year represents his sole annual income.

He can not very well live on less. If he is [illegible] and no other is worth his salt as a [illegible] player, he will not accept less than it, unless the youngster has prospects of [illegible] higher up," he will not accept from $700 to $900 as his income during a year.

He can do much better driving a grocery wagon. A clever young man can get at least $18 a week fifty-two weeks in the year. That is $936, more than the average class C or B league pays its baseball players. Unless there is a "future in baseball," the youngster here is a "future in baseball," the youngster who chooses that profession at an almost sacrifice of from $700 to $900 a season is making a mistake.

To the collegian baseball offers summer recreation. But the collegian can not play professional baseball until the end of the college year in June. The best the boy who does next year to June. The best the boy who went through his college year would get would be two months' work, July and August, in the smaller minor leagues.

SUCCESSFUL EXCEPTIONS.

Of course, there is a peculiar breed of players, men who spend their lives playing the meager minor leagues. I have seen many of them, men who were almost 50 years old, who looked 30. They drew such salaries, married and had families, owned their own little cottages and worked about town in various small capacities in the off season. They were small ball players, small spirits, small men, good enough citizens, fathers and husbands, but their careers will not make a strong appeal to the high-spirited young American who plays the national game of "getting the money" for all it's worth.

Indeed, the profession of baseball outside of the major leagues, is not worth while. Even in the class AA leagues a good player may be found working for $1500 to $1800 a year. The young man who is content to set a limit of $2400 a year on his life's work is foolish. I know that the average income in the United States is something about $600. Few of the young men who adopt baseball as a profession may ever attain to an income of $2000 a year outside of the diamond. Just the same, the young man who sells his future for $2400 a year is making a bad bargain. He should at least aim higher, even if he falls lower.

So I cannot see how the class C and D leagues can very well cut salaries. They are paying little enough to attract bright boys now. The result of lowering salaries will be to drive the bright young men out of the game and to bring the "lot loafers" who are willing to accept anything that may be offered. These "lot loafers" in the end, like all cheap labor, will prove more costly than the demanding bright young fellow. They won't win as many games and the transfers of their contracts will not sell for as much. So the class C or D club may reduce its payroll $2000 a season and drive out two or three young men whom it could have sold for from $3000 to $4000. There is no economy in that.

If a collegian joins his team in March he will have to forego three months of college work. To make up this deficiency he must return to college for six years instead of the regular four years. There must be a financial profit in baseball sufficient to justify him in protracting his college years by one-half.

The fact that the years of baseball are brief indeed make it unprofitable to remain in the profession unless its rewards are very much greater than commercial or other professional life offers. The average player must support two homes—his own and that of his family—during the playing season. This reduces the purchasing or saving power of his salary. Then, if he is to make but the $1500 to $1800 of the best minor leagues he is keenly aware that at the most he can not hope to enjoy even this modest emolument beyond the age of 30. So if he is any sort of man at all he sets about securing other means of livelihood. It is not at all difficult for the best sort of players, and they are the only ones worth having, to secure permanent positions which will pay them as much a year as baseball and which offer permanency, promotion and substantial future.

TOO AMBITIOUS.

A very great trouble with many of the small leagues is that they are too ambitious. Few towns with populations under 100,000 can make baseball playprofitable. Yet there are hundreds of such towns in the smaller minor leagues. Sunday remains almost the sole remunerative date of their schedules. It would pay these small cities to play but three days a week. They would save traveling expenses by so doing. The total receipts at the season's end would be quite as large as if they played every day. Expenses would be cut almost in half. Some money could be made by playing exhibition games at smaller towns about the larger cities on the league circuit.

Then many leagues take a classification entirely too high for their ability to pay salaries. Take the Illinois, Indiana and Iowa League, Three-I's, for instance. It was a Class-B League, with a salary limit last season of $2200, and next season of $2500.

The population of the cities in this league varies between 25,000 and 50,000. Its salary limit is as high as that of the National League, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, etc., was between 1892 and 1900. The National League individual salary limit in those days was $2500. It is safe to say that the salary lists of St. Louis, Baltimore, Louisville in those years did not exceed $3000 a month each. That is no more than the average salary list of the Three-I clubs will be next year.

In 1892 Mr. Von der Ahe, owner of the St. Louis National League baseball club, enjoyed the services of Breitenstein and Peitz, the crack young battery of the league, for a total of $2100, $1050 each.

Breitenstein and Peitz were at that time equal to the great Boston battery of Leonard and Cady, in 1914. The pitcher was the best left-hander in the National League. Peitz was really a much better catcher than Cady now is. It is safe to say that many Class-B batteries got twice as much salary in 1914 as Breitenstein and Peitz got in 1892. This was more than these leagues could endure. But the trouble was not with the players. It lay in the club owners classing their leagues too high.

CLASS TOO HIGH.

Leagues like the Three I cannot pay Class B salaries. They can pay Class D salaries. In everything but classification and salaries the Three-I was a Class-D league. Its troubles have been due to the bad judgment of its club owners in classing themselves too high. Many other leagues are in the same boat.

From $700 to $1000 a season is salary enough for leagues under Class-B class. They can not pay any more and succeed. The Class-A leagues have not been paying players too much. Cities like Providence, Louisville, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Buffalo, Baltimore and Minneapolis paid players from $1500 to $5000 a season twenty-five years ago. They may not have made much money doing it. They did not lose a great deal. Population and interest in baseball have grown greatly in twenty-five years. If it was possible for these cities to pay players from $1500 to $5000 a year twenty-five years ago it should be possible to pay them that much today.

Classifications, not salaries, should be lowered. It may be said that a lowering of classification would automatically lower salaries. Not all. Players whose salaries exceed the revised classification could be asked to accept reductions, and, if they refused, could be sold, or if it was not possible to sell them, released with the proviso that they could not engage themselves with another club in that particular league. It would be hard on the clubs to lose these players perhaps. Yes, but not so hard as in keeping them and failing to pay them.

SUGGESTED LIMITS.

Speaking broadly, it might be said that leagues and players should be classed thus:

Classes	Salary Under
Class D	$1000
Class C	$1500
Class B	$2500
Class A	$3000
Class AA	$4000

Salaries are unreasonable only in the major leagues. The average good "regular" who has had four or five years' finishing in the majors, who hits from .250 to .280, is worth about $3500 a season. An average first-class pitcher is worth from $3500 to $4500. An exceptional man like Speaker is worth $5000. A very exceptional man like Cobb is worth $7500, as is a great pitcher like Walter Johnson or Alexander. A really wonderful man like Mathewson may, through accumulated fame of long and extraordinary service, be given $10,000 a season.

There were many $3500 men drawing $6500 last season. Baseball cannot afford to pay salaries like $15,000 (spiekerl to any man. Even $12,500, to the great Cobb, is too much. It is "out in the game." Even if it is, it is not the player as is commonly supposed, that draws it. Cobb did not draw it for Detroit last year. The complicated fabric and structure of baseball, its managers, the national game, general public interest in the sport, which is dee the game, not to any player or players, newspaper publicity, convenience and comfort of parks, above all the positions of the team in the race, not the exceptional merit of the individual player, is what fetches the money to the box office.

JUNK DEALER ATTEMPTS TO THRASH COW PUNCHER

Oklahoma Johnson May Be Tamed by Boxing 'Billy Sunday'

Business among the amateur boxers is looking up. The ambitious and youthful proteges of the Marquis of Queensberry find their services in demand right now, and the opportunities for breaking into the hall of fame, more accessible than they had imagined would be possible under the new California statute.

Wednesday evening, Piedmont pavilion will echo to the clamors of the gallery gods and the thud-thud of glove against human hide. Secretary Merritt of the Wheelmen's club appears to have collected a particularly attractive card. He has had the advantage of watching three cards recently and having secured the winners in each case to battle against one another Wednesday.

"Battling" Johnson, the queer little pony puncher from the Oklahoma bad lands, has become quite a card among local fans. He has four straight contests now and is all puffed up like a pouter pigeon. Louis Rosenthal has undertaken to tame the Oklahoma cowboy. Louis is a regular Billy Sunday when it comes to taming people. He sells junk as a profession and makes a very fancy living at it.

Every junk dealer in Oakland and vicinity will probably be on hand to yell encouragement to Louis, who vows that he will reduce his opponent to a state that can only be described as "junk—third class."

The Wheelmen have applied to the Pacific Athletic association for a sanction for the bouts, and in the case of George James, chairman of the P. A. A. passing on the club, the local fans will benefit by a pure amateur card made up of promising material of the local section.

Basil Digby, a "bloomin' bad weather" person who has lately arrived from Australia, where he was refused the right to battle for the English army on account of failing to come up to the English physical standard, will get his first real scene of warfare on the evening of the contests when Matchmaker Merritt stacks him up against a hard hitting and clever local lad.

The story goes that Didgy applied to Merritt for a chance to fight, stating that he wanted to gain fame in this section, and on his return to his native land, exhibit his medals which he figures will tempt the enlisting officers to allow him to participate in the war.

Heiny Gold, the 110 pound Ad Wolgast of the amateurs, who has won on his last three starts will start against Kid Papino, while eight other well-matched affairs will complete the evening's entertainment.

Local horsemen are on the "qui vive." There is a mysterious current in the air which seems to convey the general impression that racing is to enjoy some sort of a revival. No one knows just how the thing is to be accomplished, but all the pony lovers are confident that the game is due to return. The Rialto is buzzing like a beehive and men who a few years ago occupied the sporting limelight are coming out of their seclusion and showing up at their old-time haunts. News that Ascot Park in Los Angeles will open February 15 has started a report that Emeryville will follow on March 15 as an adjunct to the P. P. I. E.

If no successor to Ernie Johnson develops, the Angels will have to shove Terry in at short and use Speed McDonnell at second, which hardly seems Coast League mechanics.

Sam Agnew, former Venice catcher, has the best record in the major leagues for nabbing ambitious base runners. Agnew, St. Louis Brownie, embalmed 129 base runners in 113 games last season, an average of 1.14 per game.

Rod Felts, the young outfielder who was with the San Francisco and Oakland clubs last year, states that he has received an offer from Joe Tinker to flop to the Federal League. Felts was recently drafted by the New York Giants and does not even consider the Tinker proposition, but states that he may flop to the Feds, provided he does not make good with Muggsy's Giants. Felts is wintering in Redlands, and is playing winter ball there. He is to depart for Marlin Springs in a few days, so as to be on hand early when the other Giants arrive for spring training.

The tip is out that McCredie will lose Elmer Reiger, pitcher. Elmer admits dickering with the Brooklyn Feds, and is very anxious that Boss McCredie should be made aware of the fact.

The Salt Lake ball club has decided the question of grounds, by agreeing to lease for a period of seven years a steel and concrete plant to be erected by the Salt Palace Amusement company eight blocks from the principal business corner of the city. The playing field will be 400 feet square and the park will have a seating capacity of 10,000. The new grounds are to be ready by March 30. The baseball company has likewise re-leased Lucas Park, the old grounds, to forestall competition and to have an ace in the hole.

There is an old saying in the boxing game that it is not the manager who makes the fighter but vice versa.

With some managers this may be true, but in this particular case even the originator of the saying would be forced to back water, for Jimmy Dime, New Castle, Pa., who has more fighters than he can safely keep tab on, picks them up in the making, and if they have any fighting ability at all he brings it out. For instance, there is Tom McMahon, George Chip, Joe Chip, Tony Ross, Dan Dailey, Patsy Brannigan, Geo Stewart, Dave Picato, Paddy McGuire, Tom—ones—but what's the use? You could go on for hours naming boxers, good, bad and indifferent, under his wing and then miss some of them, for Jim himself cannot sit down and call them off.

Dime is what you might call one of the real veterans of the managerial end of the boxing game. He has been looking after fighters for years and years, has yet to get into a mix-up over one of his millers and counts every promoter in the game as his friend, which is something else again for a manager.

Born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1865, James worked his way over to this country, and the next thing of any importance in his career is that he boxed an unknown in New York Christmas eve, 1889. Dime fought with some success until 1900 and then quit fighting and got into the other side of the game—managing. His first boxer was Jimmy Dunne, and after he piloted him for a couple of years this Jimmy picked up enough valuable bits of information to branch out himself. Now he is guiding Champion Kilbane.

BASKETBALL

The Oakland Y. M. C. A. 125-pound team will meet the San Mateo Union High school basketball five on Thursday evening on the Oakland Y. M. C. A. court in a semi-final game for the P. A. A. championship.

Coach Street of the "Y" has been putting the lads over the jumps regularly, and the "Y" boys promise to put up a wonderful brand of ball.

The Berkeley "Y" 136-pound team will meet the Holy Cross five of Santa Cruz on Saturday night in a semi-final P. A. A. game.

The San Jose and Santa Cruz 145-pound teams will lineup against each other either Tuesday or Wednesday evening, the winner to meet the cream University of California aggregation.

The Olympic Club team of the same weight will meet the Fresno quintet on Saturday evening and in the event of their winning, they will be pitted against the winner of the U. C.-Santa Cruz or San Jose game.

It looks as though the Olympic clubmen and the University team will decide the championship, as both teams stand head and heels over the majority of the 145-pound teams in the state.

The 125-pound Cardinals, judged the fastest 125-pound aggregation in the state, will meet the winner of the Fresno-[illegible] High school match. The winner of this game will meet the winner of the Oakland "Y"-San Mateo game for the P. A. A. championship.

Sacramento and Fresno will oppose each other in the near future, the winner to try conclusions with the Oakland "Y" Golds.

During this session the Olympic Club five will be shooting against the winner of the Watsonville-University of Santa Clara game. The winner of these two semi-finals tests will meet for the P. A. A. championship.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that the Olympic Club quintet and the Oakland "Y" Golds will face the music for the title. Both institutions have entered the strongest teams in years, and the fans will flock for miles to see these crack organizations in action.

The defeat of St. Mary's College to Nevada at Reno Saturday night, 27 to 24, and the defeat of the College of the Pacific by Stanford at San Jose has placed Stanford in the lead of the Intercollegiate league. Stanford won Saturday night only after a hard struggle. The standing of the Intercollegiate league now is as follows:

Stanford	2	0	1.000
Nevada	1	0	1.000
California	1	0	1.000

WALKER AND ROOT LEADING 'CYCLISTS

CHICAGO, Feb. 1. — At 12:30 a. m., at the end of the 73½ hour, the six leaders in the six day bicycle race had a total of 1465 miles and two laps, with Mitton-Wiley, Linart-Dupuy, Anderson-Hansen and Kopsky-Colombatto one lap behind and Provost and Rudi-Busse trailing with 1464 and ten laps. Walker and Root were leading the field.

Illness of Martin Ryan of the team of Ryan and Wohlrab caused the withdrawal of these riders last night. The leading teams were: Moran-McNamara, Egg-Virl Gerry-Carman, Walker-Root, Walthour-Redell, Drobach-Piercey.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Bernsteins have organized for the coming season and expect to wind up without a defeat. They have signed up Eddie Davis to play third. Davis is a very fast lad and can hit hard from either side of the plate. He was with Welsh's Tribunes last season.

ED WALTER'S BUSINESS ACUMEN IS VINDICATED

(By BILLY FITZ.)

Well, the business acumen of Ed Walter of Oakland appears to have been fully demonstrated. Evidently the ex-baseball magnate isn't a banker for nothing. When Walter retired from the Coast League three years ago following the quarrel with J. Cal Ewing, it was predicted that the Oaklander would get the worst of it. It appears that Walter, with an eye to business, has quietly obtained a lease on Recreation park for twenty years following 1915, the year in which the lease held by Ewing was due to expire. When Ewing thought about renewing the lease on his ball grounds he discovered that he would have to talk business with Walter, and that the new leaseholder had quite a definite idea as to the value of the property.

Of course the fiery Ewing went right up in the air. He vowed that no man yet had ever got the best of him in a business deal, that Walter was guilty of unprofessional conduct, etc., etc. Cal practically forced the Oaklander out of baseball, and the split exposed the syndicate tall story and did the league no good at all. Ewing swore that he wouldn't lease Recreation Park from Walter no matter what the terms were, and he carried out this threat by building Ewing Field. Everyone knows what happened to that white elephant. Well, when Ewing made such a rank blunder as that, not only did he drop his own pile, but he cost his uncle, Frank Ish, a swell little sum, and he got the whole league in Dutch. To cover his own embarrassment, Ewing quit baseball, selling out to the Los Angeles magnate, Hen Berry.

Meanwhile, Harry Wolverton had been deprived of his Sacramento franchise, and was threatening to cause trouble by starting an independent league. Wolverton, always a friend of Ed Walter, had secured an option on the latter's lease of Recreation Park. Berry wouldn't stand for Ewing Field, and though he talked about building a wonderful new park, that was all bluff and most of us knew it. He had to have Recreation Park and he knew it. Therefore, Berry did the sensible thing and appointed Wolverton manager of his club, thus mollifying the chap who threatened to cause trouble and who held the lease that Berry needed.

Now Berry has signed Walter's lease for 20 years at the Oaklander's terms. The thing worked out just as Walter figured it would. Ewing lost over $50,000 and Walter will have made about that much as a result of their little business dispute.

Rowdy Elliott was over at the Celebrities' Ball Saturday night "queening." Someone asked the rotund little catcher whether he was going to bullfrog to the Feds and Rowdy replied: "You never can tell," which was clever stuff for him.

Elliott had better come down off his high horse or he'll wake up in a mud puddle wondering what hit him. The Oaks have two good catchers in Arbogast and Price. In all probability they can have young Alexander back again if they desire. Also, Tyler Christian has been offered an A1 maskman from the majors who is said to excel usual Coast League talent in that department. What license, then, has Rowdy to be a holdout?

"Chubby Chawles" Prulett writes from Osgood, Indiana, to say that he has cured himself forever from the habit of flicking B. B. shot at the underpinning of the giddy chorus. You remember, they pinched Charlie once in Portland for breaking up a vaudeville show, and Charley always insisted that Roxy Middleton was the one most to blame, and Roxy was always reproaching Ted Kaylor. However, Prulett says that Osgood has been blessed with a fine crop of snow this winter and the town looks like a Christmas post card.

Prulett confesses to a natural hatred for spring training, and writes that he is therefore getting down to weight now so he won't have such a tussle when the time comes. "My knee feels O. K. once again, and I don't expect to have any trouble with it this season." This is joyful news again, as Prulett, in condition, is a guaranteed pure-food winner.

Watson, the outfielder secured from the St. Joseph Club of the Western League, accepted Christian's terms by wire yesterday. The Oaks bought Watson with the condition that he sign his contract. Christian was considerably relieved when he agreed to play for what was offered him.

Pitcher Roy Grimes has been turned over by the Oaks to the Victoria club of the Northwestern League, and thither also will probably go Willie Mangus, Dowling and either Daniels or Kaylor. Tyler Christian appears to have an arrangement with the Victoria club for farming out talent on which it is desired to keep a string.

Jack Ness, this year's field captain for the Oaks, and Pitcher "Dutch" Klawitter sent in their signed contracts today. The former is in Chicago and the latter in Milwaukee.

BLANKENSHIP NABS STAR TWIRLERS

By Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 1.—Business Manager O'Connor of the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast League has received a telegram from Manager Cliff Blankenship to the effect that he had signed Pitcher Earl Yingling, formerly with Brooklyn and last year with Cincinnati, and Lou Laroy, pitcher for the Indianapolis American Association club last year. Yingling led the National League in batting in 1913.

The thirteenth annual indoor bicycle roller race held Saturday night was won by the New Century Wheelmen from the Acme Club. The race was held on the moving track. Hans Ohrt, the Pacific coast champion, covered two miles in the remarkable time of 2:27, which is the best mark made in the last six years.

The summary:

First heat—Carl Lutgens (Acme) defeated Ralph Welch (N. C.). Time 2:53 2-5.

Second heat—Marcel Burger (N. C.), defeated Doc. Prior (Acme). Time, 2:45 2-5.

Third heat—Pop Rhodes (N. C.) defeated Fred Hoffman (Acme). Time 2:47 3-5.

FIVE HOLDOUTS ON GIANT ROSTER

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. — The signing of a contract by Ray Fisher reduces the number of holdouts on the New York American league club to five. The only men belonging to the club who have not signed, so far as can be learned, are Marty McHale, pitcher; Leonard (King) Cole, pitcher; Peter Daley and Angelo Aragon, outfielders, and Jack Kingman, infielder.

McHale has virtually been conceded to the Federal league, as his salary demands have been declared out of proportion to the pitcher's value to the team.

DUNDEE TO MEET MANDOT.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1. — Johnny Dundee and Joseph Mandot were matched yesterday to box 20 rounds in New Orleans, February 14. The match was made to fill a date set for a meeting between Mandot and Ad Wolgast, which was broken last week.

TONEY GOES TO FEDS.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 1. — Fred Toney, pitcher of the Louisville American association club, who was drafted by the Brooklyn Nationals, announced yesterday that he had signed a contract with the Pittsburg Federal league club.

MARKET ACTIVE IN SPITE OF RAIN

Weather Causes Steady Advance in Truck Produce.

More animation than usual offered this morning's market in spite of the wet weather, and a steady improvement in business is now looked for. Celery was stronger today as a result of better demand and large crates of stock brought from $2 to $2.25, the smaller stock having cleaned up. The lettuce on hand remained weak at last Saturday's price of 75c to $1 per crate, but the new stock due this afternoon is expected to bring a better range. The total expected is 92 crates.

The apple market is strong and fully improving. A car of Newtown Pippins due today is to be offered at $1.10 for 3½ tier boxes, with 4-tier at $1 and 4½-tier at 75 cents. Due to the appearance of 200 boxes mushrooms weakened today to 20 to 30 cents for small boxes, and sales at that were slow. There were no artichokes on hand on account of train delays. GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Buyers came after wheat today with a rush and quickly brought about new high record war prices. The market after opening ¾c to 2¾c higher, scored a material further gain.

Notices that Italy and Sweden had suspended the import duties on all grain resulted in big additional increases of prices here. Nervousness prevailed at the close, which was 2¾c to 4¾c above Saturday night.

Corn was drawn upward with wheat, as being relatively cheap—hardly more than half cent. The opening which varied from ¾c to ¾c higher was followed by a general further advance.

Subsequently enlargement of stocks and the principal terminals led to a reaction. The close was unsettled, ¾c above Saturday night.

KITCHENER PLANS TO INVADE, IS REPORT

Lord Kitchener is arming the British empire for the greatest campaign in the world's history, according to Richard Jones of 3140 Ellis street, Berkeley, who has just returned from Europe.

Kitchener's plans, according to Jones, as is well known in England, are for nothing less than an invasion of Germany, to end, if possible, the great war at one stroke on German soil.

"England," said Jones, "will send 2,000,000 men as reinforcements to the continent when spring opens. Men have been going to the front at the rate of 125,000 in the last four months. They die in the trenches by thousands."

BEST MAN FAINTS AT FASHIONABLE WEDDING

BERKELEY, Feb. 1.—The elaborate marriage of Miss Amy Ochs to Harold Osborn at St. John's Presbyterian church was rudely interrupted last Saturday night when the best man, Thomas Low, fell in a faint at the side of the groom. Some said it was excitement of the occasion, others said it was illness, but in either case the wedding was halted for a few minutes.

Mrs. James Davis was the matron or honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Edna and Miss Norma Osborn.

OLD PEOPLE'S HOME BURNS; FOUR ARE DEAD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 1.—Four aged women burned to death when the Cambridge City home, a three story structure in the North Cambridge district, was swept by fire late at night. Another woman was probably fatally burned and scores of the 233 inmates suffered from burns or shock, and were taken to hospitals. The property loss is estimated at about $75,000.

The fire is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in a paint room on the first floor. The flames rushed up through a dumb waiter shaft to the sleeping quarters on the third floor. Firemen, policemen and spectators assisted in carrying the inmates, most of whom were aged men and women, down fire escapes and ladders.

ESCAPES BY TRAIN LEAP.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 1.—Robert V. Helt, 34 years old, escaped from federal officers taking him from Chicago to New York today, by jumping from a train as it neared the Pennsylvania station here. Helt was en route to face hearing on a charge of postal violations, it being alleged that he attempted to extort money from H. A. Guess of New York, connected with the Guggenheim interests.

STOCKS HOVER AT MINIMUM POINTS

Slight Recovery During Day Follows Setback of Opening Hour.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Stock rallied one to two points today, but lost from last Saturday's close. Advances in finished steel products and copper were helpful factors.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The entire list sold lower during the first hour, but recovered later. Steel common continued to hover a fraction over its minimum and the preferred selling "ex-dividend" of 1¾ percent showed a loss of ¾ of a point. Canadian Pacific lost 2 points. There were one-point declines in Northwestern, Atchison, New York, Central and Missouri Pacific. Reading was the most active railway issue, rising and falling within a two-point range.

Coppers were uniformly heavy and Bethlehem Steel also fell back.

Bonds were steady.

Announcement of a general price advance by one of its leading subsidiaries caused a further rise in Steel, and coppers also rose on new high quotations for the metal. The entire list made favorable response, the average level being the best of the day.

The market closed strong. Active issues like Reading and Amalgamated which was in steady demand, sent prices higher in the final hour. United States Steel sold at 40.

MUTES READ "AD" AND WED BY SIGN LANGUAGE

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Feb. 1.—The marriage of two deaf mutes took place in a hotel in Hudson, S. D., as a result of an advertisement inserted in a matrimonial exchange. The principals in the romance were W. F. Eselstine of Terry, S. D., and Mrs. Mary Norby of Shelbyville, Ind. Eselstine answered the advertisement which the Indiana widow had inserted in the paper and a correspondence was opened.

Eselstine met his future bride at Sioux City, and together they proceeded to Hudson, where followed a rapid fire courtship. Satisfied with each other, they called the Rev. Mr. Treat, pastor of the Congregational church, and were pronounced man and wife. The unique ceremony was performed with the aid of a person familiar with the sign language, by which the words of the clergyman were conveyed to the bride and groom. Eselstine and his bride will make their home on a ranch near Terry.

MENTAL STRAIN EASED FOR JUROR BY JUDGE

FORT WAYNE, Feb. 1.—After the jury had been selected at the opening of the December term of the United States District Court here a compromise was reached in the damage suit of Abram N. Durling against H. H. and Frank Owen of Waterloo for personal injuries. Durling sued for $15,000. He will receive $2000.

One of the prospective jurors told the court he did not believe he could sit as a juror for the reason that he could not stand either excitement or mental strain.

"There isn't going to be any excitement here," Judge Anderson answered, "and as for the mental strain, I'll have all of that."

WOLVES THICK AND BOLD IN MINNESOTA WOODS

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 1.—Ten wolf hides from animals trapped or shot in the northern part of the county were left at the office of County Auditor Halden recently. On each the state will pay a bounty of $7.50. Until a few months ago the county offered an additional bounty of $7.50 for each wolf killed, but the bounty was discontinued when it was suspected that hides were being shipped into the county from other parts of the state where only the state bounty was effective.

At a session of the county commissioners two petitions were presented asking that the county bounty be reinstated. No action was taken. The petitions declare the animals are getting bolder as the season advances and that it is not safe for persons to go into the woods unarmed. Numerous depredations have been made by the animals on live stock and on moose and deer, it is asserted.

KANSAS PRISON SWAPS ONE CONVICT FOR TWO

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Feb. 1.—Kansas will get two prisoners for one in an exchange of convicts which Parole Officer Snyder will negotiate. Snyder will take to Colorado C. E. Wilmer who is wanted in Canon City for breaking a parole from that institution. Wilmer was sent to Lansing from Atchison county two years ago to serve a term for burglary in the second degree. His minimum sentence was up last June.

Mr. Snyder will bring back with him George Taylor and Hugh Smith, parole violators from the Kansas prison. Taylor was sent to Lansing from Lyon county to serve a sentence for forgery. Smith, a colored man, was sent to prison from Topeka, where he was convicted of burglary.

MARRIAGE MART HOLDS UP TRADE

The War in Europe Does Not Diminish New York Weddings.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Neither war nor so-called hard times affected the activities of Dan Cupid & Co. in the neighborhood of New York, judging from the statement made by City Clerk Scully, who is Cupid's deputy and issues marriage licenses.

During 1914, in all five boroughs of the city, according to Mr. Scully, there were [illegible] marriage licenses issued. This was an increase over the figures for the year previous, 1913, of [illegible].

Aside from marriage licenses, the city clerk's office did a good business. There were 17,[illegible] commissioners of deeds appointed, an increase of 263 over 1913 (at $5 each); $22,[illegible] was collected for electric sign permits, an increase of $5225, and auctioneers' licenses brought $25,019, an increase of $1500.

MASCULINE TEACHER IS GIVING WAY TO WOMEN

CHICAGO, Feb. 1. — The schoolmaster of legend is fast disappearing and women are taking his place as instructors of the young, according to David Felmley, president of the State Normal university, Normal, Ill., who spoke at the monthly meeting of the Cook County Teachers' association in Fullerton hall yesterday.

Dr. Fenley urged that attention be given to the physical needs of the child, such as proper ventilation and lighting of the schoolroom and opportunity for healthful exercise at recess time.

Superintendent A. M. Elood of the Park Ridge schools told the teachers of the system of industrial training used in the Park Ridge schools. He told of the poultry association organized in the sixth grade.

ARRESTED 360 TIMES.

ST. PPUL, Minn., Feb. 1.—Della Collins, arraigned in police court 360 times in the past fifteen years, according to the figures of the police, was convicted recently of disorderly conduct and sentenced to the workhouse for fifteen days. Mrs. Collins was arrested for the third time this week because she "showed a fresh guy where to get off at," she said. She admitted having a couple of glasses of beer with the cook in a restaurant at Broadway and Seventh street and said she had had a few drinks before she left home.

LAWYER ISSUES PAPER; ASSAILS STATE, COURT

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. — Holmes Jerome, the resourceful lawyer of Tuckahoe, who got seventy stays to halt sheriffs in his parlors for six weeks from dispossessing him, got out a newspaper to air his grievances.

Jerome hied himself back into the house from which Mrs. Caroline Dow had him evicted, by a court order putting him in possession again, after a year's legal fight. His paper, called the Spy, is a resurrection of a weekly that died seventy years ago.

He poured a broadside into Francis A. Winslow, former district attorney, in his first issue. He assailed Supreme Court Justice Mills also and announced that he is going to have something to say about Justices Keogh, Morschauser, and Tompkins.

COSTLY COUNTY GUEST.

CARRINGTON, N. D., Feb. 1.—Breaking into a court house to secure a place where he could sleep on the floor, a stranger established a new record here. He was found snoring on the tile floor by the janitor. The latter, thinking the man had accidentally been locked inside the building in the evening, aroused him and the stranger departed. Later it was found he had broken a $12 window to gain admission and had left two large knives which he had used in an effort to pry open the window before breaking it.

WHEAT PRICES RECORD ADVANCE

Quotations Rise by Leaps and Bounds at Top Notch Figures.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Smashing of high record war prices continued today in the wheat market here. On top of an advance last week, ranging from 7½ to 8 3-4, quotations today jumped as much as 2 1-8c at the very outset, May delivery selling at $1.54 a bushel, as against $1.51 7-8, when the market closed Saturday.

Before midday another cent a bushel and more had been added to the value of wheat, May delivery rising to $1.55 3-8. Removal of import duties on all grain by Italy and Sweden had much to do with causing the new advance in quotations. Dispaches printed on the tickers here said bread riots were taking place daily in Italy.

Upwards of 5 cents a bushel had been added to wheat by noon, May selling then at $1.57. Traders were keeping a sharp eye meanwhile on returns as to the United States visible supply total, which promised a big falling off.

JUMPS THREE CENTS.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 1.—In answer to strong upturns in the Chicago and Liverpool markets, wheat prices jumped three cents at the opening of the local market today. May wheat selling for $1.46½. The resumption of foreign buying on a large scale was said to have caused the climb in prices.

Corn was drawn up with wheat, gaining 1 1-8 cents a bushel in the first few minutes and continuing upward steadily.

The decrease in the visible supply for the week turned out to be about four times as large as at the corresponding time a year ago. Profit-taking, however, led to something of a setback in prices near the close. It was a nervous finish, with May at $1.56 1-4, and the market as a whole 2 5-8c to 4 3-8c above Saturday night. Wheat for spot cash delivery outdid the speculative future options. The chief contract grades, No. 2 red and No. 2 hard, commanded as high respectively as $1.59 and $1.58½ a bushel.

ADVANCES IN PORTLAND.
By Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 1.—March club leaped 5½c per bushel over its previous record price and sold on the Portland market today for $1.50 per bushel. There was no trading in May bluestem, but $1.57 was bid, while $1.58½ was asked. Red Russian advanced 2½c, selling at $1.43. March barley sold at $36 per ton, an advance of $1.

CLAIMS PAID ON TWO CONSTRUCTION FUNDS

On the City Hall construction fund—R. W. Littlefield, $1958.48, $19,480.29.

PARK BOARD IS GIVEN GRILLING

Writer Criticises Dismissal of Alameda Park Superintendent.

Tranquil Alameda was treated to an excellent exhibition of peanut politics Thursday evening last, when three members of the so-called recreation committee, Alfred Morgenstern, Ernest Probst and Mrs. Eileen Allen, assembled in a clandestine meeting, executed a neat decapitation on the incumbent superintendent of playgrounds, Bayard Sharp, and strange to relate, without substantial ground or reason. It was a premeditated proposition, which was crudely and foolishly manipulated.

Mrs. Eileen Allen who proudly took the initiative in the guillotine maneuver, and incidentally a remarkable "stickler for psychology" (which Professor Lucien Larkin defines as "modern bunk and not science"), evidentally believes that a job of this character is a good demonstration of some of the principles of psychology.

During Sharp's incumbency not one complaint was filed with the recreation committee relative to his work. On the contrary, nothing but praise was heard on all sides. A visit to the parks of Alameda today will sustain this contention. Of course, we realize that in a preconcerted political decapitation, efficiency and merit have no weight, as the deal must go through regardless of the qualifications of the "marked individual.

HIS SUCCESSOR.

Of his successor, Vail, a graduate of the University of California, nothing can be said, except that no doubt he will be a great hit before the mothers' clubs where he can ruminate extensively on psychology, theology, phrenology, philanthropy, philosophy, phonology and physiology, this all being so necessary to the beautification of the parks.

Sharp's experience has been obtained from personal contact with his subjects, it is not a matter of theorizing or experimenting, it is a matter of inaugurating practical ideas. Presumably, Sharp's waterloo largely resulted from his inability to orate on the principles of psychology. He should immediately pick some baffling subjects, probably "trickology," would answer the bill.

At any rate select something that has nothing to do with the position as occupied and I sincerely feel that his position would be perpetuated.

It is regrettable that this committee should have spent so much energy in devising ways and means to depose him, energy actuated by pettiness and petulance. They diplomatically appointed him as an assistant to Vail, but unfortunately, the budget provides no compensation for this position. Apparently, Sharp's compensation will be derived from his great admiration of the flowers and his love for the children.

Congratulations, diplomatic recreation committee. But who knows but this seemingly clever act may yet be your death knell, politically. Time will suppy the answer.

NELSON G. WELBURN.

She was taken to her home in an automobile by Corporal of Police John Fahy.

The decedent was born in Joliet, Ill., seventy-one years ago. For the past forty-five years, he has lived in California, settling in the Golden State shortly after the close of the Rebellion. Until recently he was engaged in ranching near Auburn.

Francis Alphone Tyler was the father of Franklin A. Tyler and the brother-in-law of Rodney W. Bentley of Lodi.

DEATH CALLS AGED INDIAN.
SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Feb. 1.—The funeral was held yesterday in the Shinnecock church of Wickham Cuffee, one of the last of the true-blooded Indians of the once numerous Shinnecock tribe on Long Island. Burial was in the Shinnecock cemetery. Cuffee was 87 years old. Many of the Shinnecock Indians have intermarried with negroes, but Cuffee's parents are said to have been of true Indian blood, and he was proud of his descent.

REV. T. A. BOYER BIDS FAREWELL

The Pastor of First Christian Church Delivers Final Sermon.

Rev. Thomas A. Boyer, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, delivered his farewell sermon yesterday morning before a congregation which filled the auditorium of that church, from which he resigned a number of months ago. He selected for his text verses from the Philippians and he gave a resume of his work in the local church, where he served as pastor for the past twelve years.

"My pastorate of more than twelve years in this city has been more than ordinarily a strenuous one. Beginning, as I did with a meager congregation of 5- souls and no church home, I have felt through all these strenuous years the unequal match we were with the strong churches round about us. My support has been meager, and like the eagle in Golden Gate Park that is held down by the chain that is fastened to its leg, I have felt, sorely through all these years the handicap of our environment. I have always looked forward to the time when there would be an efficient working congregation of this faith in this city, and now, that I come to the close of this long period of service here, I cannot help feeling that in some measure, our labors together have laid the foundation for such an accomplishment.

YEARS OF HARD WORK.

"I recognize that I have not been as able at all times and under all the circumstances of my work to maintain the spirit of intrepid hopefulness that it would seem the apostolic example we are studying this morning would require. In the main, however, I feel that as pastor and people we have been moving in the right direction, and now that our ways are to move in different directions, I desire to leave with you as a personal word of testimony to the power of the living truth to keep men's minds and hearts through all the vicissitudes that the years bring them as they trundle along, a declaration of the joy and gladness that these strenuous years have brought me. I have worked hard and have gone to bed weary, and have arisen the next day rested and ready for the grey, and now at the close of the years, I look back and am glad that it hath pleased the giver of all good to grant me the patience and faith that enabled me to hold on without being a quitter.

A PLEASANT PILGRIMAGE.

"And so I come to the close of this term of years in both the spirit and sadness and gladness. The pilgrimage with you has been a pleasant pilgrimage. A few giants—mostly windmills, to be sure, there have been in the way; millions of blustering midgets and loquacious mosquitoes—troublesome to a man with a thin skin, but not dangerous at all; occasionally, a man or woman of such belated mental processes that the whole cause of truth has been conceived of as going to the demnition bow-wows because the terms in which it was set forth were slightly at variance with those that Noah of old brought over in the ark; now and then a poor bedizened soul who was always down in the mouth because he had to live with himself and keep company with his own thoughts sought to embarrass us in the matter of sufficient bread and water since burning at the stake was no longer in vogue. But in the main, good people, kind-hearted and hospitable, neighborly people, whose names it will be a pleasure for memory to revere, and innumerable houses built close 'by the side of the road.' And so I am taking my departure still in possession of the same spirit of buoyancy, the spirit and joy and gladness with which I came to you a dozen years ago. I shall always think of Oakland as my home and you as my friends. And sometime in the years that are to come it may be given me to again be a citizen in your midst. God bless you, and give you ever an increasing fellowship with all those everywhere throughout the world who are the messengers of hope and helpfulness."

ACCEPTS RICHMOND CALL.

RICHMOND, Feb. 1. — Rev. Thomas A. Boyer, who recently resigned the pulpit of the First Christian church in Oakland, will accept the call to the First Christian church of Richmond, according to an announcement made by Chairman J. E. Zumwalt of the local board of church directors.

Dr. Boyer has engaged apartments at the Raymond Apartment and will preach his first sermon here on next Sunday morning. The local church is planning to erect a new place of worship upon its valuable lots at Sixth street and Bissell avenue and he has promised to lead the movement for financing the project.

ITALY SUSPENDS DUTY ON WHEAT ENTIRELY

By Associated Press.
ROME, Feb. 1.—A royal decree issued today suspends entirely the duty on wheat and other cereals and flour. Previously the duty on wheat had been reduced from $1.50 to sixty cents per quintal (220.4), with large reduction on corn, rye, oats, flour and corn meal.

In addition, the decree declares that if it is necessary, wheat will be transported on the railways and steamships at half rates.

The government is authorized by the decree to ascertain the quantity of wheat and other cereals in private store-houses.

Notwithstanding the decree and the measures adopted by the government, a large meeting wa sheld at the Labor Exchange yesterday, at wihch inflammatory speeches weer made in protest against the high price of bread. It was charged that the high price was due to the government being unable to prevent contraband wheat from going to the belligerents.

A resolution was passed at the meeting which declared that the agitation would continue until the people were able to "impose on the speculators what the government is unable to impose under the law." The resolution was considered to mean the forcible confiscation of wheat and its distribution among the people.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR LATE G. A. R. VETERAN

Under the auspices of Lyon Post, No. 8, Grand Army of the Republic, the funeral of William Larter, a veteran of the civil war, was held this afternoon from the James Taylor undertaking parlors on Fifteenth street. His comrades and members of the Ladies' Relief Corps paid their farewell tribute to the aged veteran, who had made his home here for many years. He was 77 years of age.

William Larter is survived by a widow, Ada Larter, and three children, Harry, Estelle and Daisy Larter, of this city. The body was buried in Mountain View cemetery.

GREECE STOPS BUILDING OF WARSHIP IN GERMANY

By Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb 1.—According to the Exchange Telegraph Company's Athens correspondent the construction of the Greek dreadnaught Salamis at the Vulcan company's shipyards at Stettin, Germany, has been stopped because the Greek government, for special reasons, has not made the first payment on the contract. The Greek naval mission supervising the construction of the vessel, the correspondent adds, has been recalled.

The Salamis, according to the specifications, was to be a 19,500-ton ship. She was laid down in 1913 and was to have been completed in 1915.

OLDEST IRON IMPLEMENT IN WORLD DISCOVERED

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—In the discovery of what proved to be the oldest iron implement in the world by the Eckley B. Coxe expedition of the University Museum, scientists are reconstructing their theories that iron was not used until 1200 B. C.

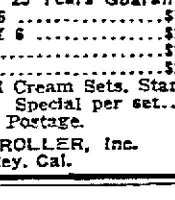

The iron implement which now is lodged in the museum was found in a tomb belonging to the twelfth Egyptian dynasty, which is generally believed by archaeologists to have been about 3400 B. C. or about 5300 years ago.

The finding of this iron implement is regarded as particularly important in that it indicates that the smelting of iron was first practiced by the colored race. The implement is spear-shaped, and was the only iron found in the tomb.

ROBBERS, IN HURRY, FORGET AUTOMOBILE

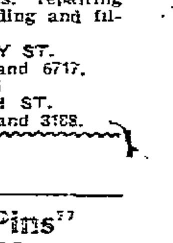

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Two robbers were in such a hurry last night to get away from a saloon, where they had attempted a hold up, that they left behind them a five-passenger automobile, which the police are holding as a clew.

About 9:30 o'clock Charles McGovern was on duty behind the bar in the saloon of Julius Gullleson, Mariposa and Bryant streets, when the holdup men, masked and armed, entered.

McGovern dropped behind the bar and attempted to run out a back door. He received three raps over the skull. McGovern yelled for help and the robbers fled.
